SINGULAR MATRIMONIAL FORTUNE.—The Boston Gazette tells the story of a citizen of Boston who went to California, leaving a wife behind him. After a year, he went to the mines and his wife received no letter from him for a year, bearing, during the time, that he was dead. She had an offer to marry again and accepted, but her second husband died in a few months after marriage. A few days since she was surprised by the return of her first husband, and upon the proper explanations being made, they went to living together again, much to the scandal of their immediate friends, who, as the Gazette charges upon rumor, are about to "enter a complaint of bigamy (?) against the lady." The question is, is the man the husband of his own wife without marrying her over again?—Portland Adv.

Answer, Yes: the husband had not vitiated the marriage contract; and therefore his rights remained perfect. Her second marriage was in a civil sense a mere nullity; and if the second husband had been living instead of dead, he could have no legal right to her on the return of the first. Technically, her second marriage was a crime, viz. bigamy: but really it was innocent, for she had reason to suppose her first husband dead. The death of the second and the return of the first, form a singular coincidence; and the separated pair live lawfully together. If any friends prosecute her for bigamy, as doubtless they can, and prove it too—could the case be sent down this way, we could find a jury who would find her Not Guilty, without leaving their seats.

RAILROAD MEETING.

The adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine R. was held in Boston on Wednesday; when the Investigating Committee's Report was accepted and placed on file. Several reformatory resolutions were adopted.

In the afternoon the vote for Directors was declared. The whole number was 19,574; necessary for a choice, 8,788.

There were four tickets, each having but seven names upon it, and yet ten Directors were chosen, viz: James Hayward, Samuel Batchelder, James H. Duncan, George W. Kittredge, Peter T. Homer, Francis Cogswell, Wm. J. Walker, Francis B. Hayes, Andrew Pierce, jr., Henry C. Williams.

The Boston Courier says:

The first six names were upon the regular ticket, and Messrs Hayward, Batchelder, Duncan and Kittredge are on the present Board of Directors. It is not uncommon upon a close vote, when there are many split tickets, for more persons to have the necessary number of votes declared for a majority than the number which was voted for. In primary political meetings, those members with the lowest numbers are usually stricken off; still these ten persons were declared to be directors of the Maine Railroad Corporation for the year ensuing, but a question arising in regard to the legality of the election, the meeting adjourned for one fortnight, to hear the report of a committee of five respecting the legality of the above declared result.

EXECUTION.—Wilson, an Englishman, who killed Adams, a black man, in the State prison at Charlestown, Mass., is to be hung in the Boston jail yard to day, from the same gallows that suspended Goode and Webster. He is reported to be very penitent for his crime, which he says was committed in a period of unconsciousness, and is extremely desirous to live.

The Newburyport Herald says of him—

He had a bad training in youth, and has led a bad life since; but the man whose unconsciousness would allow him to commit murder in the State Prison has been properly adjudged unsafe to live, and there is no chance of pardon. Capital offences have so much increased of late, that there seems to be less disposition than formerly to abolish the gallows, and it is doubtful if this execution will produce any extraordinary excitement.

As a standing answer to the latter remarks, let us say that capital punishment has always been in use in Massachusetts; and that in Maine where it is virtually abolished, capital crimes have not increased.

The whole number of inhabitants in Lawrence, by the new census, is 16,114.

THE RUSSIAN WAR.

Since the capture of the Malakoff Tower and the Southern part of Sebastopol, various speculations have been put forth as to the effect to be produced by this event. The Boston Transcript gives the following brief and reasonable view of the matter.

The news, which has reached us so far, announces only the fall of the southern city; but, unless Prince Gortschakoff wants to lose his entire army, he will, by this time, have made good the better part of his retreat towards Perekop. To reach the Isthmus before his victors, is, indeed, the only chance of escape now left to him. But even that chance, if the allied generals avail themselves of their recent success, is but a very poor one. That the position of the Russian army is well understood at London and Paris, appears from the reported instructions to General Pelissier, in which we recognise the firm and relentless hand of the man, with whom to clutch empires is threatening to grow into a habit—"That the Russians must surrender at discretion, lay down their arms, and give up all the fortified places in the Crimea, including Odessa, with all the munitions of war, and without doing any previous damage thereto."

As it is not likely that Gortschakoff will surrender on such terms, for the mere benefit of so many human lives, we may expect soon to hear of either the complete rout of his army or a more or less successful or disastrous retreat—at all events, an entire evacuation of the Crimea by Russia, after having held possession of it seventy one years.

It would be a great mistake to believe that Russia could resume her defence of the northern works under anything like the same advantages, which enabled her to hold the southern ones for nearly a twelvemonth; not to mention that there is no longer any object in holding those fortifications after the loss of the fleet and arsenals, for the protection of which they were erected. The relative situations of the contending parties are now widely different from what they were before. Sebastopol, previous to the fall of its southern portion, was not a fortress, but an entrenched camp, where by far the more valuable portion of the whole military and naval force of the Russian Empire, both in material and men, had been concentrated. Sebastopol, as it is now, is only a common fortress, which cannot hold but a common garrison, having at its command but common means of defence. If it were desirable for the allies to lay siege to that fortress, they would have it in their power completely to invest it, and cut it off from all communication, a process which must result in its speedy surrender. But there is as little object now for them to beleaguer, as there is for their adversaries to hold the place. It is not the fortress which is to be cut off from communication with the Russian army, but the whole army, which is to be cut off from communication with the Russian Empire.

That such is the plan, appears from the report that 25,000 men have embarked from Balaclava for the north of Sebastopol, confirmed by the authority of General Simpson himself, who, in his dispatch of the 12th inst., says: "The allies are hastening preparations in case of Gortschakoff's attempting to reach Perekop." If the above mentioned 25,000 men are in time to bar the way to the retreating Russians and detain them until the remainder comes up in pursuit, they will be cut to pieces. If they escape, they will probably make their stand behind the Dnieper, to cover Nicolaev and Odessa.

The fall of Sebastopol is an event, the importance of which will make itself only gradually felt, as that of a turning point not only in this campaign, but in the history of Europe. As observed, it is not a fortress which has fallen, but the more valuable portion of the military strength of the Russian Empire. And well is it for the latter, that the siege did not last another year, for it would have swallowed the entire balance of her available resources. As far as the immediate objects of the campaign, on the part of the Western Powers are concerned, they are more than accomplished. The stronghold which was a standing menace to the existence of Turkey is nothing now, but in the words of Gortschakoff, a heap of "bloodstained ruins." The supremacy of Russia in the East, is supplanted by that of England and France, who will divide the guardianship and the strong positions of the peninsula between them.

But what is much more important, is that the prestige of the Russian name, on which all the Governments of Europe—those of England and France not less than of the rest—leaned as on the rock, on which their own "order" rested, is gone. There is a fissure in that structure of "order" now. The cordial understanding between the Western and Central Great Powers, (Austria and Prussia,) on that point, which was intermediated and cemented by the Czar's authority over both, cannot be restored. The corner stone being taken away, we think we can see the building of European despotism beginning to sink—gradually, slowly, but irretrievably—towards its final great crash.

FIRE AT MILTON MILLS.—On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, the old Swasey house, near the factory, was found to be on fire. It was entirely consumed. The Dover Enquirer says the occupants escaped with the loss of a part of their clothing and household goods. The flames spread into the shed adjoining the house, and which also connected with the stable, but ere it had reached the stable, the building had been cleared of more than two tons of wool, there stored—the posts and studding cut away and by the aid of ropes was precipitated over the basement and demolished, thus saving the Factory, two rods distant, from the devouring element.—The stand was the property of J Townsend, Esq., and was insured.

Great credit is due to the citizens—to the ladies in particular, who turned out en masse and rendered their aid in saving the property in peril.

Salem has a population of 20,263; a gain of 681 since 1850.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

George Small, of South Berwick, formerly of Northwood, was instantly killed on Thursday afternoon, near the Spring Market in this city, under the following circumstances:

Mr. Small and others, were trying their strength in lifting heavy bars of iron, in the rear of Messrs Spalding & Parrott's store, and after they got through, a companion, named Charles Henderson, shouldered a large bar marked 400 lbs. Finding the bar rather heavy, Henderson told Small and another man who had assisted in poising the bar, to stand aside, while he threw it from his shoulder. Small did not move quick enough, and the bar struck him under the ear, pressing him to the ground. In his fall his head struck on a pile of iron, by which his scull was fractured, while on the other side his jugular vein was severed by the bar which remained upon his neck. He died instantly.

A hearing was held on the case by the Mayor and Aldermen, who decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr Small leaves a wife in South Berwick. His age was about 25; and he was employed in a gondola, as we call the freight boat on this river, or a scow or lighter, as it is termed elsewhere.

☞ Signor Blitz and his birds are on hand at the Temple this afternoon and evening in their well known and popular performances.

AMERICAN PARTY IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The Convention of this party was holden with open doors [no more secresy] on Wednesday, at the Tremont Temple in Boston.

Governor Gardner was nominated for re-election, having 808 votes out of 820. Henry W Benchley of Worcester, was nominated for Lieut. Governor.

The Boston Courier says of the meeting:—

It was quite a large gathering, and harmonious enough. Elihu C Baker of Medford presided, aided by thirteen Vice-Presidents and five Secretaries. A great number of speeches were made, and one purpose avowed, and that was to stand by the "American" organization. The fusionists were characterized as traitors and political hucksters, and those individuals who have left the Know Nothing party and joined that of the Republicans were denounced in vehement tones.—Mr Wilson and Mr Foster were the particular objects of vituperation.

Messrs Gardner and Benchley made speeches, thanking the Convention, and accepting the nominations tendered to them. The Governor said—

"I shall unhesitatingly, joyously and promptly, accept the nomination;" and then proceeded to deliver a speech, the like of which never before fell from the lips of a Chief Magistrate of Massachusetts. In the face of the fact that one hundred or more of the gentlemen who were present at the American Convention yesterday were present and participated in the deliberations of the Fusion Convention—in the face of the fact that the Governor's friends claimed that His Excellency originated the fusion movement, at the United States Hotel in June last—in the face of evidence everywhere to the contrary, the Governor disclaimed any sympathy with that movement, and went so far as to pronounce its leaders traitors. He spoke of Messrs Griffin of Charlestown, Judge Russell, and S P Hanscomb,—his associates in the lodges, hitherto,—in language which would do injury to the dignity of Mike Walsh. For the sake of the character of the state, it is to be hoped that His Excellency's speech will be withheld from the light of the sun.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Kendall's Thermometers.

J. F. SHORES, Jr., No. 1 Congress Block, has just received a full supply of KENDALL'S CELEBRATED THERMOMETERS, 8, 10 and 12 inches.

It is known to many scientific men in this country, that the late Thomas Kendall discovered a process, by which the graduation of the Thermometer scale may be made accurately to correspond with variations which unavoidably exist in the calibre of the tube; thus overcoming what has been considered the insurmountable obstacle to the construction of the perfect Thermometer.

Professors Silliman and Fisher, Yale College; Prof. Caswell of Brown University; Prof. Avery of Hamilton College, and other scientific men having examined this process, concur in saying that it is correct on mathematical and philosophical principles, and the only known way by which the difficulty referred to can be obviated.

These Thermometers are now made on this principle by John Kendall, and are offered to the public as the only ones to be relied upon for accuracy. o4

MEN DROWNED.—The Portland State of Maine of Thursday says:

Capt. Alexander Robbins, of Brewster, and his mate, Leonard Chase, of South Dennis, Mass., belonging to schooner Oasis, of Hingham, started from Peak's Island Tuesday night, during the storm, for the purpose of gaining their vessel, which was at anchor in the Roads. They were in a small wherry with but one oar; they missed the schooner, and the night being pitchy dark, lost their way. The boat was placed before the wind, and driven towards the city; when near the Atlantic Railroad bridge, she filled and upset. The two men clung to the boat until she was stove to pieces against the piles of the bridge. Capt. Robbins swam for the Boston boat, lying at her wharf, and was rescued by the watchman of the steamer. He then proceeded to the bridge to help his mate, but could see nor hear nothing of him, until after two hours' search, when he (Chase) was found clinging to one of the piles of the bridge, dead. So powerful was the grasp of the drowned man, that it required the united strength of two men to disengage his hold. Mr. Chase leaves a wife and five children.

There was a report on our wharves yesterday that a boat, containing four men, was seen to leave the city Tuesday night, about 12 o'clock, to go down the Roads. Yesterday the boat was picked up, with one man fastened to the painter, drowned. The other three are supposed to have been drowned.

RETURNED TO BONDAGE.—A few days ago three runaway slaves were arrested near Morgantown, Va. Two of them belonged to John P Porter, and the other to George McDaniel, of Barb county, Va. They say they have been to Indiana, found they could get no work, found the colored population in the vicinity in a state of nudity and starvation, and they were straggling back in search of something to maintain themselves—got back to Pennsylvania—wandering about almost in despair—and finally returned to Virginia after an absence of about two months.

Poor fellows; could not take care of themselves! But did the black rascals really go to Indiana? or have they made up the story to gull somebody? It sounds a little tough, and does not hang well together.

BUFFALO, Oct 1.—Judge Houghton, of our Superior Court, has decided that the Prohibitory Liquor Law is unconstitutional, and says the Legislature has no right to pass such an act. In the case of the people vs Stevens, the defendant admitted the offence charged against him, and was discharged.

It would be worth a ninepence or so, to know the personal habits and phrenology of the learned judge.

EIGHTY YEARS A PRISONER.—Kendall, of the New Orleans Picayune, in a letter from Paris to that paper, says:

A tough and hardy old fellow recently passed through Lyons, on his way to Savoy, his native country. No less than eighty years ago, when he was forty-one, he was sentenced to the French galliss for life for some crime. At the commencement of our revolution, then being a middle aged man, he was shut out from the world, barring the chances of an escape, at Bagne. The other day he was released, at the age of 121. No cause is assigned, but the probability is that the government thought he had worked out more than a natural life in the galliss, and that he was past doing any harm. It is said that he has a little property in Savoy, the interest on which has been accumulating exactly one hundred years, or since he arrived at the age of 21.—The old fellow enjoys perfect health, although he stoops so much that his face nearly touches his knees.

THE VOTE IN VERMONT.—We had a short item last week touching the vote of Vermont in the late election, in which we alluded to an article in the Manchester Democrat. In the article of the Democrat there was an intimation that a full vote in Vermont had not been called out for twenty five years, and also a comparison with the vote of New Hampshire. This comparison leads us to the fact that no State in the Union so uniformly throws so heavy a vote according to its population as New Hampshire. A comparison of the votes cast with the population, will usually show one vote to every five inhabitants, while in Vermont not more than one vote to 6 or 7 inhabitants can ordinarily be counted upon.—The average vote of the several States is about 1 to 5 1-2, though in Massachusetts and Mississippi it seldom exceeds 1 to 6, and in Delaware 1 to 7.—Lawrence Courier.

We have frequently alluded to this fact in connection with our elections. Even in Maine, at the late exciting election, where 15,000 more votes were polled than at any previous election, the proportion to the population was not so large as it was in this State at the last spring election.—Dover Enquirer.

A miser named Andrew Grunderson died in Chicago, recently, for want of proper food and comforts. After his death it was discovered that he was worth $4000.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 54 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Numerous recommendations can be produced from those who have used it and satisfied themselves, frankly stating the superior advantages of this machine over all others in the market. But it is deemed sufficient to publish but a small portion of them—the machine is a sufficient recommendation in itself.

This certifies that we have used White's Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter, and we do not hesitate to say that it is decidedly the best machine for that purpose we have ever seen. Its superiority over all others consists in the ease with which it is propelled, the great amount of feed it will cut in a given time, and the less liability of getting out of repair. (Signed)

G. W. STONE'S
ELIXIR.

THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all Affections of the Throat and Lungs and begs of those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXIR a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal.—It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received of the most daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion that no family should be without this Medicine; let Mothers give it to their Children who have the Whooping Cough or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones. Price 50 cts.

Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name, and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass., are blown upon the Bottle, without one which none will be genuine.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup
will cure you just as they have my son use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual, they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

Lawrence, Mass., June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as a rare article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, J. WITHERNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, Ulcers and all old Mercurial Sores, Old Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face, leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

CHARLES H. KENT General Agent for the United States and Canada, Lawrence, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed.

Sold in Portsmouth, by Jos. H. Thacher, at the Good Samaritan Store, and W. H. Preston; and by Agents everywhere.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallett, Davis & Co. are unrivalled by any manufactured in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we cannot conceive that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments; powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and scale are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

AN ACCOMPLISHED BLIND MAN.—The Journal de Chartres gives an account of a water mill, in the hamlet of Olsieme, near Chartres, built entirely by a blind, man without assistance or advice from any one. The masonry, carpenter's work, roofing, stairs, paddle wheel, cogs, in a word all the machinery pertaining to the mill, has been made, put up, and set in motion by him alone. He has also, the above journal asserts, made his own furniture. When the water is low and the mill does not run, our blind miller becomes a joiner, and also a turner, on a lathe of his own invention, and so he makes all manner of utensils, and pretty toy windmills for the juveniles. He lives quite alone, sweeps his own room, and cooks his own dinner: his mother who has fifteen children to care for, lives a mile off and does not trouble her head about "her blinn boy," for "he earns his bread now," she says, "and does not want her." In 1852 this blind miller was awarded with a medal by the agricultural society of the arrondisment, for a machine for the double purpose of winnowing corn and separating the best grains from the common sort.

A GOOD SERVICE.—A few days since one of the drivers of a team used for hauling cars on the Market street railroad caught the son of a tavern keeper on one of the cars while it was in motion. He took the boy off and gave him several cuts with the whip. Some of the tavern keeper's neighbors saw the act, and made quite a noise about it, and informed the father of the boy. He (the father) let on to be very indignant, and told them if they would show him the driver he would settle with him. The driver was watched for, and when seen the father was informed of it. The team was stopped, and the driver was invited into the tavern and asked if he was the man that struck the boy. "Yes," replied the driver, "and I shall do it again if I catch him on the cars." The indignant father put his hand violently into his pocket and drew out a dollar, which he gave to the driver for the good service he had performed.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE NECESSITY OF DROUGHT, AND ITS BENEFIT.—The State Agricultural Chemist, of Maryland, Mr Higgins, publishes a paper, showing the necessity of drought to replenish the soil with mineral substances, carried off by the rains, and also taken up by the crops, and not retained by manure. These two causes, always in operation, would in time render the earth a barren waste, in which no verdure would quicken, and no solitary plant take root if there was not a natural counteraction by drought, which operates to supply this waste in the following manner:—

In dry weather, a continual evaporation of water takes place from the earth, which is not supplied by any from the clouds. The evaporation from the surface creates a vacuum, so far as water is concerned which is at once filled by the water rising up from the subsoil of the land; the water from the subsoil is replaced from the next strata below, and in this manner the circulation of water in the earth is the reverse to that which takes place in wet weather. With this water also ascends, the mineral held in solution, the phosphates and sulphates of lime, carbonate and silicate of potash and soda, which are deposited in the surface soil as the water evaporates, and thus restores the losses sustained as above stated.

The author of this theory appears to have taken considerable pains to verify the fact by a number of interesting experiments. The subject is worthy the attention of men of leisure and education, who pursue the rational system of blending chemistry with agricultural science.

The Wareham Transcript mentions as one of the positive advantages of the opening of the Fairhaven Railroad, a very considerable change in the course of trade from Boston to New Bedford, with advantage to the purchaser.

THE WHEAT CROP.—This crop, up Saco river, is greater than for many previous seasons. The miller at Hiram Bridge, whose grist-mill is near the outlet of Hancock Brook, a tributary of the Saco on the Eastern side, near that village, says that he has more wheat come to his mill than he can grind. At an early hour in the morning, ere daylight, wagon loads, from five to twenty bushels each, are at the mill door awaiting its opening.

He judges that the towns above in that section, have raised wheat enough to bread every inhabitant, in which case there will be no call for barrels of the Genesees or Hiram Smith brand, next winter.

If these places are a sample only of a goodly portion of the State, Flour Speculators may give up all hope of riding rough shod over Maine.

If wheat fails, corn and potatoes are abundant and will more than supply the lack.

Preparations are making for an enlarged sowing of wheat next year, and we trust the capacity of Maine, too long neglected and undervalued, for this crop, will be fairly and fully tested, and we have faith to believe there will be bread enough and to spare.—Saco Democrat.

The Census of Newbury gives a total population of 1484, which is a slight decrease from the estimated number at the division of the town, in 1851. The number of families is 370, which gives but four persons to a family, which is not a growing condition. The American population is 1411; foreign 73.

Newbury is almost exclusively a farming town, but has in Byfield a goodly number of shoemakers who work for manufacturers out of the town entirely, and the amount of whose labor the census-takers did not therefore see fit to estimate. Of the produce of their farms a return is made of—

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1855.

PREACHING ON SUNDAY.—Uncle Toby is happy to find the New Hampshire Patriot sustaining him so distinctly and emphatically as it does in the following item..

A correspondent writes us a long letter claiming for ministers a right to preach temperance on Sundays. We never denied them this right, and consider it to be one of their duties.

Uncle T. has exercised this right, and performed this duty, nearly every Sunday during the past Summer, and is still in the field, ready to do his best.

The Patriot adds :

But to preach temperance, is not to preach the Maine Law.

Exactly so: Uncle T. never confounds the two things together; and while he holds no controversy in his Sunday discourses, either with supporters or opponents of the law,—he uses all his powers of moral suasion in favor of the teetotal or Washingtonian system.

To him, the above extracts, brief as they are, afford evidence of gratifying progress.—About thirty years ago, the churches and religious societies in New Hampshire were shaken, and several ministers lost their places, because the latter did exactly what the Patriot now pronounces to be both their right and their duty. Behold how great the change: and this change will still go on. Elections, parties, statutes, will vary and change, sometimes for the better, and sometimes for the worse. But truth is greater than falsehood—evil can be overcome with good.

FIRES IN THE UNITED STATES.—The Journal of Commerce reports that during the month of September there were fifteen fires in the United States where the loss of property in each instance was equal to $10,000; and the aggregate loss resulting, amounts to $475,000. More than half of these fires were occasioned by the burning of manufacturing establishments, and of twenty-five fires in the previous month thirteen originated from property of the same character. The total losses by fire since January 1st, where the amount of property destroyed was reported to exceed $10,000, reaches the enormous sum of $6,563,000.

The whole of our building in this country is too much on the Fire Trap Order. Especially do our Manufactories compare to great disadvantages in respect to safety with those of England or other European countries. We may save some money in the building; but we lose more in the insurance. And too often, in buildings of all sorts, we spend more money to make them pretty, than to render them fire proof and durable.

OFFICERS' WARRANTS.—One day last week, the Boston Municipal Court was engaged during most of the day in the trial of Henry Stone for assaulting and resisting officer Currier. Some legal questions of public concern, were made by the counsel for the defendant, as to the legality of the arrest of the person rescued, upon which Chief Justice Mellen ruled that a watchman has no right to arrest without warrant for assault or breach of the peace, unless the assault or disturbance was continuing in his presence or he had fair ground to think it was the intention of the guilty party immediately to renew it. The defendant was acquitted.

MASSACHUSETTS.

To us, at the present time, parties and politics in Massachusetts are about as orderly as a Chinese puzzle. The Newburyport Herald, which may be supposed to know more about the matter, says,—

The friends of Gov. Gardner have been thoroughly aroused by the late Convention renominating him for the Chief Magistracy, and feel very confident of his election. They are determined and enthusiastic, and will roll up a larger vote than his opponents have expected. His chances are very much increased by the nomination of Mr. Walley who will draw largely upon the Liberal Beach force. The Whig liquor men can now have no inducements to vote for Beach before Walley, when they both hold the same relation to the Maine law, and the Whig party is twice as strong as the Democratic, and can therefore be more easily brought to a plurality.

The Boston Bee says :

The desertion of several Whig journals from the Fusion movement is causing a very pretty family quarrel. For instance the Telegraph discourses upon "the weakness of human natur," and uses the Boston Journal to illustrate the subject; the New Bedford Standard is pitching into the Mercury for "sneaking out of the Fusion movement;" the Courier and Advertiser are giving it to the Boston Atlas, for deserting the Whig party;—the Lowell Courier, a strong Fusion paper, straddles two horses, and now hoists the regular Whig flag above the Republican. So they go. The only papers now favorable to the movement in Boston, are the Transcript, Telegraph and Atlas.

NEW RELIGIOUS SOCIETY.—The Portland State of Maine, of Monday, says :

Rev. Mr. Moore preached his introductory discourse to a new society, in Union Hall, yesterday forenoon. The Hall was crowded. His text was: "Ye shall suffer tribulation." His sermon was an eloquent and impressive review of the progress and triumph of christian truth, over all the seductive temptations of the world—concluding with an earnest appeal to all to run the christian race, and carry on the christian warfare.

FLOUR.—In addition to the high price of flour, the New York Journal of Commerce states that neither the brand nor the weight of flour from that State can be relied on, and that the buyer must be very shrewd who does not get cheated between the false brands and the false tares representing the weight of the barrels.

There is a difference of several cents in a bushel, at New York, between yellow corn and white,—the white being always the dearest. The reason for this is, probably, that white meal can be and is mixed, to some extent, with flour, by millers and dealers, and perhaps by bakers.

Families also can make the mixture of meal and flour to advantage;—and if, in our Eastern States we used more meal and less flour—it would be better, both for health and purse.

EASTERN RAILROAD.—The managers of this road are understood to be taking every proper step for the increase of the business on the line. Their attention has been directed to the establishment of passenger and freight depots wherever there is an immediate or prospective advantage to the Company; this is becoming an important matter to the Corporation; for unless they have such depots wherever there is a prospect of a growth in population and business, particularly in the vicinity of Boston, that business and population will be diverted, and the daily income from it will consequently be absolutely lost to the stockholders. If every railroad company should refuse to stop at a station, or locate a depot, in any place on their lines, till there was a large number of inhabitants on the spot, they would never aid in building up a village, the people of which they could always count upon as constant passengers back and forth upon the railway. It is the way traffic, that, in the long run, is destined to be a certain and continual gain to such a railway as the Eastern; because the traffic at the termini, though it pays, when obtained, is the most liable to be diverted, and the most unexpectedly and easily lost.—Boston Transcript.

DISTRESSING AND FATAL OCCURRENCE.—Coroner Redding was called yesterday to hold an inquest upon the body of the wife of Mr John Lewis, at her late residence, in Portland avenue, near Park avenue, who came to her death under the following circumstances: Mr Lewis, her husband, had for some time past been ill with the fever, and occasionally become delirious. On Monday, during one of these spells, he became unmanageable, and persisted in jumping out of the window of his room, which was on the third floor. No one but his wife happened to be present at the time—his mother, who resided with them, being down stairs. His wife, who was a small, delicate woman, tried every means in her power to keep him quiet; but he becoming perfectly frantic, made for the rear window. She seized hold of him and endeavored to draw him back, when he suddenly leaped through the sash, and both man and woman were dashed upon the pavement below—a distance of about twenty-five feet. The woman struck her head against the door step and was instantly killed. He was seriously injured, and now lies at the City Hospital in a precarious condition. Mr. Lewis is a daguerreotypist, doing business in Chatham street, New York.—New York Tribune of Wednesday.

HOUSEKEEPER'S SOLILOQUY.

BY FRANCIS B. GAGE.

I wish I had a dozen pair
Of hands, this very minute;
I'd soon put all these things to rights—
The very deuce is in it.

Here's a big washing to be done—
One pair of hands to do it—
Sheets, shirts and stockings, coats and pants,
How will I e'er get through it!

Dinner to get for six or more—
No loaf left o er from Sunday;
And baby cross as he can live—
He's always so on Monday.

And there's the cream, 'tis getting sour,
And must forthwith be churning;
And here's Bob, wants a button on—
Which way shall I be turning?

'Tis time the meat was in the pot,
The bread was worked for baking,
The clothes were taken from the boil—
O dear! the baby's waking!

Hush, baby, dear! there, hush—ah—ah!
I wish he'd sleep a little,
Till I could run and get some wood,
To hurry up that kettle.

Oh dear! oh dear! if P—— comes home,
And finds things in this pother,
He'll just begin, and tell me all
About his tidy mother!—

How nice her kitchen used to be—
Her dinner always ready
Exactly when the noon-bell rang—
Hush, hush! dear little Freddy!

And then will come some hasty word,
Right out before I'm thinking—
They say that hasty words from wives
Set sober men to drinking.

Now isn't that a great idea,
That men should take to sinning,
Because a weary, half-sick wife,
Can't always smile so winning?

When I was young, I used to earn
My living, without trouble—
Had clothes and pocket money, too,
And hours of leisure, double.

I never dreamed of such a fate,
When I a lass was courted—
Wife, mother, nurse, seamstress, cook, housekeeper, chamber maid, laundress, dairy woman, and scrub generally, doing the work of six,
For the sake of being supported!

TEN DIRECTORS.—The Committee of the Boston & Maine Railroad report that the whole ten directors are legally chosen.

The widow of the late Robert B. Thomas, of "Farmer's Almanac" fame, has just died at Balston, a small town near Clinton, Mass., at the advanced age of 75 years.

LOCAL.

AFFABLE CLERGYMEN.

A clergyman in New York a few Sundays since, seeing a poor woman tottering up one of the aisles of his church, waiting in vain for some one of the congregation to offer her a seat, paused in his sermon, descended from the pulpit, showed her into his own pew, and quietly returned to his desk again.

This puts us in mind of an occurrence somewhat similar, which took place many years ago, in Portsmouth. Rev. Joseph Buckminster, DD., then and long the pastor of the North Parish, was reading, in his fine clear voice and beautiful manner, the second chapter of James, on a fine Sunday morning in Summer. Just as he had read the second verse, "and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment,"—an old man, imbecile and feeble, in mean and patched attire, tottered in at the front door and crept up the broad aisle through the most numerous and dressy congregation in the place. No pew doors were opened; perhaps no one observed him in season, so he made no noise; at all events he ascended part of the pulpit stairs, and took a seat about half way up, just as the Doctor had finished the 3d and 4th verses, which speak of respect paid to the man in gay clothing, while men say to the poor "stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool."

The congregation saw him, and so did the Doctor; but nobody disturbed the service by moving. The Doctor read on and finished the chapter, which closes thus: "For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also." As he stepped down from the high desk, he opened the pulpit door, bowed the poor old man in with one of his best bows, and gave him the seat at his right hand, which the old man took as silently if not as gracefully as it had been offered.—The Doctor went on with the services as usual, and at the Association told the story to his clerical associates, from the only survivor of whom we have its substance.

Most of our readers are too young to remember the Doctor. But if they will read the chapter carefully; then imagine a man of noble presence and clear voice, making the old three decker ring with his sonorous tones; and lastly see one of the most graceful bows and blandest smiles to usher the pauper into the pulpit;—they can see a picture of what the congregation then saw—viz. an illustration of scripture, extempore and on the spot.

The Newburyport Herald has the following remarks by a correspondent on a similar concert there, by the same company.

I do not claim that the singing of these young artists is faultless, nor do they pretend to be finished performers. They are students in the art—Americans too, so that brother Jonathan cannot cavil in this case at owing an evening's entertainment to foreigners. But they nevertheless hold a high rank already, as solo singers in one of the chief music societies in Boston; and as I am not writing to criticise, I do not care to dwell now upon their errors of style. The voices are fresh, youthful and well managed, showing signs of cultivation and considerable study.

Of Mr. Lang's playing we cannot of course judge fairly—a poor piano would ruin the finest performance. What a pity that a place large enough to have become a City does not contain a grand piano for concerts. Mr. Lang showed fine taste in his accompaniments—subdued and gentle, they attracted no attention from the voices, but when one chose to listen to them they were always found tasteful and gracefully executed.

SHIP BUILDING IN PORTSMOUTH.—We understand that contracts have been recently made for the building of nine ships at different yards in this city, viz: Raynes & Co., Tobey & Littlefield, Master Badger, Jones & Salter, two each, and the Union Co. one.

Hon. E H Rollins, late speaker pro. tem. of the House of Representatives of New Hampshire, and druggist in this city—says that Delight's Lustral, for the hair, and Thacher's Charcoal and Orris Soap, for the teeth, are the best out. Great authority! — Concord Patriot.

We don't know anything of the merits of Delight's Lustral, but we can vouch for the truth of the Hon. Speaker's eulogium of Thacher's Tooth Soap. It is the best article out, and Mr Rollins is great authority upon this subject.—N. H. Gazette.

AN IMPROVED READING. — A waggish friend, who used to say of a certain gentleman in Boston, who has an eye single to his own advantage, that he followed the Scripture injunction, "Let no man owe you anything," with remarkable faithfulness. The reading struck us as quite an improvement.—We have tried all our life long, to live up to the other reading, "Owe no man anything," and have found it, under the pressure of our own peculiar circumstances, quite impracticable. We have a mind to try the new reading—possibly it might enable us to live up to the old.—Nashua Telegraph.

A few days since a lady of Boston inquired at a fashionable hat and cap store in Washington street for a cap of subdued mouse color. The clerk replied with all the composure he could command after so violent a shock, that they had none of that kind, but could supply her with an article of an enraged cat color.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.— they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Kendall's Thermometers.

J. F. SHORES, JR., No. 1 Congress Block, has just received a full supply of KENDALL'S CELEBRATED THERMOMETERS, 8, 10 and 12 inches.

It is known to many scientific men in this country, that the late Thomas Kendall discovered a process, by which the graduation of the Thermometer scale may be made accurately to correspond with variations which unavoidably exist in the calibre of the tube; thus overcoming what has been considered the insurmountable obstacle in the construction of the perfect Thermometer.

Professors Silliman and Fisher, Yale College; Prof. Caswell of Brown University; Prof. Avery of Hamilton College, and other scientific men having examined this process, concur in saying that it is correct on mathematical and philosophical principles, and the only known way by which the difficulty referred to can be obviated.

These Thermometers are now made on this principle by John Kendall, and are offered to the public as the only ones to be relied upon for accuracy. o12

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through heavy corn stalks, the thickness of 64 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Numerous recommendations can be produced from those who have used it and satisfied themselves, frankly stating the superior advantages of this machine over all others in the market. But it is deemed sufficient to publish but a small portion of them—the machine is a sufficient recommendation in itself.

This certifies that we have used White's Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter, and we do not hesitate to say that it is decidedly the best machine for that purpose we have ever seen. Its superiority over all others consists in the ease with which it is propelled, the great amount of feed it will cut in a given time, and the less liability of getting out of repair. (Signed)

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be the Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

GOOD ANECDOTE.—We are told that the following conversation was overheard among the Volunteers of the Rio Grande.

Scene, night.—Two volunteers wrapped in blankets, and half buried in the mud.

Volunteer 1.—Jim, how came you to volunteer?

Vol. 2.—Why Bob, you see, I have no wife to care a red cent for me, and so I volunteered—and besides, I like war! Now tell me how you came out here?

Vol. 1.—Why the fact is, you know I—I—I have got a wife, and so I came out here because I like peace!

Hereupon both the volunteers turned over in their blankets, got a new plastering of mud, and went to sleep.

On the morning of the 18th inst, two rich young sprigs of Cincinnati fought a duel, about a young lady of course. They fired three times without effect, when one of the seconds stepped forward, and declared that he himself was engaged to be married to the young lady about whom the principals were fighting. This announcement put a new face upon affairs, and all parties professed themselves satisfied, and the belligerents retired from a bloodless field.

Try it! Try it! Try it!

G. W. STONE'S

—AND—

Family Physic.

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It not only produces all the effects where physic is required, but completely removes habitual Costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels; Dysentery, Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—It needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with Scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from habitual Costiveness?—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the bloodby the use of from one to six bottles. In short, it does require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

PRICE $1.00.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor in Patents. ☞ Particular attention is solicited to our PATENT SUSPENSION BRIDGE—also our PATENT GRAND ACTION, as applied to both Grand and Square Pianos.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

In an immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Piano.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

Dear Sir:—We have used "Ward & Bootts" Depilatory Salts on about one thousand salted hides, that had been heated so much that they would not bear the usual amount of soaking without damage. By the use of the salts we found the tendency to decay immediately arrested; consequently we have no hesitation in recommending its use, principally in such cases.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,
DYSPEPSIA,
Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Incipient Diseases of the Lungs and Bronchial Passages, General Debility, &c. &c.
Sold in Boston, for the Proprietors, by
Boston, June 7th 1855.
As you have requested some account of the benefit experienced in my case, from the Peruvian Syrup, I will state that for several years I have suffered from a catarrhal affection consequent upon Bronchitis. I tried various remedies, including tonics and stimulants, general and topical, but obtained no relief. The system seemed to be failing under repeated congestive attacks, induced generally by sudden changes in the weather and by over exertion, the attacks recurring upon an average every three weeks, the effects not passing off for several days. From testimonials received in favor of the Syrup, I made trial of it and soon experienced a decided improvement in strength and ability to resist atmospheric changes. It is now six months since I had a recurrence of the congestive attacks, and I have no doubt, adding my experience to that of others, that the Syrup produced the favorable change. Every physician is well aware that there are self-limited diseases, and where a disease is not so, that it is doubtful, which remedy (where several have been tried) effected the cure; therefore I will answer in advance a question which may be very properly made. Why speak so confidently in this case? Because, having tried various remedies, and all failing, this effected a favorable change in a few days, when the system was becoming daily more debilitated. Having the reliable assurance that no ingredient prejudical to the system enters into the composition of the article, I should recommend it where a tonic and alterative effect is desired, and I trust you will be able to make some arrangements by which physicians can recommend its trial in their practice, without seeming to countenance quackery.
FRAS. DANA, M. D.

Dear Sir.—I have been so much benefitted by the use of the "Peruvian Syrup" that I wish to make it known to similar sufferers. For some years I have been feeble and delicate—suffering at times with depression of spirits, with loss of sleep, languor and weariness. My food did not nourish or invigorate me. A slight cold would give me a cough, and for two years I had more or less bronchitis. I have used three bottles of the Syrup, and these symptoms have given place to a state of health I never thought of obtaining. My digestion is much improved, debility gone, spirits restored, and throat quite well. As I have made no change in my diet, regimen, or any other external condition, I can attribute this benefit to no other cause than the use of this excellent medicine.

Worcester, Mass., May 16th, 1855.
Dear Sir,—I hereby certify, for the benefit of those who are afflicted with the like complaints, that I was troubled for three or four years with neuralgia. I was first attacked in my head, face and teeth, and afterwards in my shoulders, back and legs, and could obtain no permanent relief from any medicine which I tried. When the Peruvian Syrup came into this town, I procured a bottle of it of the agent here, and commenced taking it in February, 1855, and found myself entirely cured by taking one bottle, and have had no farther trouble from these complaints since, which is now about three months.
JOHN C. GEORGE.
LIMA, May 5th, 1855.
Dear Sir.—Having for the last five years made extensive use of the "Peruvian Syrup" in many cases of obstinate disorders of the digestive organs, generally debility (especially such as is produced by juvenile indiscretions) and dropsy, I most cordially recommend its use to all such as are suffering under any of the numerous afflictions arising from functional derangement of the alimentary canal.
Such of the component parts of this remedy which are familiar to me, as exhibited by chemical analysis, I know to be propitious to health, and such as are developed by analytic scrutiny, I am also persuaded cannot be deleterious, never having known a single case in which its operation has proved otherwise than beneficial to the patient.
As a physician, I unite with my professional brethren in discountenancing charlatanic pretensions, but in the present case long years of experience have so satisfied me of its efficacy that I cannot permit the clamor of professional etiquette or obstinate prejudice to drown the voice of conscientious conviction. I believe this remedy is destined to have an unexampled popularity and do not believe that its claims to such distinction have ever been surpassed or even equalled. (Signed,) H. E. KINNEY, M. D.
CARD.
The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the PERUVIAN SYRUP, do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.
From our own experience, as well as from the testimony of others whose intelligence and integrity are altogether unquestionable, we have no doubt of its efficacy in all cases of Incipient Diseases of the Lungs, and Bronchial Passages, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Neuralgia, General Debility, &c. Indeed, its effects would be incredible, but from the high character of those who have witnessed them, and have volunteered their testimony, as we do ours, to its restorative powers.

PIANO FORTE.
From the illustrious Pianist, L. M. Gottschalk, to Mr. Hews' Agent at New York.
New York, Dec. 5, 1853.
Mr. N. P. B. Curtiss—Dear Sir:—Having had the pleasure of performing upon Geo. I am very glad of the improvement in the action.—These instruments likewise are of excellent tone, owing, no doubt, to the perfection of the scales.

DR. R. GREEN,
Scientific Indian Physician,
38 BROMFIELD ST., BOSTON.
DR. GREEN, in his travels and researches for medical knowledge among the Indians, obtained a perfect remedy for Cancers, Scrofula, and all Humors of the blood. STAMMERING CURED!
DR. BRONSON & C. C. BEERS,
Are happy in announcing that STAMMERING can be permanently CURED by Medicine and Vocal Gymnastics. It is free of pain, and a Nervous Disease, (like St. Vitus' Dance, Epileptic Fits, etc.) and then the habit, incident, to the disease, is corrected by exercises in Elocution. Mr. Beers has been an inveterate stammerer for thirty-five years; has attended many institutions for the cure of stammering, and expended hundreds of dollars without any permanent benefit, but cured himself 18 months ago, and has ever since remained so. With the same means, we have cured others, to whom we would gladly refer any applicants—not having failed in a single instance. Being satisfied from reason, experience and observation, that stammering is the effect of a NERVOUS DISORDER, and can be perfectly cured by the above means in the course of two or three weeks, we assure all interested of these gratifying results, and guarantee a permanent cure, or refund the small fee paid in advance. Those desiring further information on these subjects, (including terms, guaranty, etc.,) can obtain it from our New Work, just issued, on Stammering, its Effects, Causes, and Remedies; illustrated by One Hundred Engravings: Price ONE DOLLAR; on the receipt of which, the Book will be sent without expense, and the money thus paid, will be credited in the bill for Treatment. Board, &c., furnished on reasonable terms. Address BRONSON & BEERS, No. 188 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

NOTES OF A PLEASURE TRIP—No. 6.

MIDDLEBORO' TO PLYMOUTH, MASS.
Sept. 28, 1855.

Where is Middleboro', we dare say will be the involuntary inquiry of many a reader. Well, Middleboro' is the largest town in Massachusetts, being thirteen and a half miles in length and twelve and a half in width. It lies about thirty-four miles south of Boston, and is the junction of the Old Colony & Fall River with several other railroads. This town was the dwelling place of Squanto, the well-remembered friend of the early Pilgrim settlers.

This region abounds in ponds or lakes, and Middleboro' embraces within its limits two of great extent, Assawampsit and Long ponds—the former said to be the largest sheet of fresh water in New England, except Lake Winnipisseogee. Iron ore was formerly found about here in great abundance. After the bog-ore had been wrought for a long time, it was discovered that a rich treasure of iron ore lay in the bottom of Assawampsit pond, from which it was taken with instruments similar to those used in taking oysters. Five hundred tons, it is said, have been taken from the ponds in this town in one year.

There are ten or twelve religious societies, and about forty school-districts and school-houses, in the town. The manufactures are various and large, including a nail-factory. "On the rocks in this town are prints of naked hands and feet, supposed by some to be the work of Indians, but more probably the impressions of real hands and feet when the rocks were in a state of formation." The first planters of Middleboro' came mainly from Plymouth, which is only a dozen miles from the chief village.

Rev. Israel W. Putnam, D. D., who was formerly for twenty years settled over the North Church in Portsmouth, has recently completed the twentieth year of his ministerial labors in Middleboro'. His parish bounds cover about forty square miles of territory; and he has sometimes ridden ten miles to attend a funeral or wedding within their limits. Until recently, about three hundred families were connected with his society—from which a new one has been formed. His church is very large, and has recently been handsomely frescoed and otherwise much improved. We were pleased to find the venerable Dr. in good health and spirits, and apparently not unfitted for a deal more of useful activity.

From Middleboro', the Old Colony railroad soon took us to Abington, where we waited an hour or so for the train to Plymouth. But this time was agreeably spent in the tack and brad factory of Messrs. Hobart, where we received courteous attention from our old school-mate, Mr Hosea F. Whidden, formerly of Portsmouth. Tacks are made from thin strips of iron, of the width desired for the tacks' length, by a single little machine, in appearance very much after the coffee-mill order. One hundred thousand tacks, we were told, is a fair days' work for a machine, though we have seen a statement that two hundred and fifty thousand have been turned out. Brads, pew nails, &c., are made in different machines, and are cut red hot, while tacks are cut cold—that is, the tack-iron goes in cold, but we found that the shower of tacks which fall from the bottom of the machine, was not so cooling as might be imagined, when caught in the hand.

Our sudden discovery that the working of the metal into tacks heated it to a degree insufferable for a hand not inured to the business, reminded us laughably of an experiment in philosophy which we witnessed when a boy,—though in that case we were not the experimenter. An enquiring sort of a boy was told that if a tin or other sheet metal teakettle was removed from the fire, his hand could be safely pressed upon the bottom, and he would not be in the least burned, so long as the water inside continued to boil! After two or three rather severe trials, and not a little smutting and singeing of hands, our young friend concluded that either he couldn't keep the water boiling when off the fire, or else that his informant's philosophy was at fault.

The manufacture of cut tacks and brads was originated at Abington, at an early date in its history; and about three hundred tons of iron are now annually wrought into these articles. The first church bells made in this country, were cast here in 1769. Cannon and shot were also made here first of any place in the country, during the revolution. A machine to make horse-shoe nails by a single operation, (they being all made by hand now) has been on trial here for sometime; but as yet does not work to satisfaction and profit. The total value of the manufactures of Abington, is upwards of a million and a half dollars annually. The inhabitants are almost exclusively of Pilgrim descent.

In the depot at South Abington were a couple of notices which attracted our attention. "Council 143," (doubtless the Wigwam of the mysterious and dreaded Know Nothings of last year,) called upon its members to meet in a given place, by posting an intelligible notice, instead of a three-cornered bit of paper, as was their wont. And James G. Clark, Esq., the poet and musical composer, announced by a poster, that "Ossian's Bards" are again on an eastern concert tour—in which they cannot fail of success, with him for leader.

We have not seen a drop of liquor sold or drank, during our trip; though we have occasionally witnessed the effects of intoxicating drinks. A good-natured fellow who carried us a couple of miles from the depot to-day, in his covered wagon, was so strongly scented with R. G., that we should rather walk than be shut up long with him; and while riding in the cars afterward, with a score or so of gents of a higher "quality," we needed to have the roof of the car lifted off, the sides torn out, and the ends knocked off, for ventilation—so strong was the smell of the article they had imbibed. But the greatest nuisance we met, was a fire company returning from the celebration at Springfield—who gave evidence from their appearance that they were not obedient to the Maine law; and made the ride in the cars with them disagreeable, by conduct which is lamentably common in engine and military companies under similar circumstances.

We spent a day at old Plymouth, of which we shall have something to say anon. F.

HIGH PRICES.—In Chicago flour is selling for about $5 per barrel and can be delivered here at our doors for $7 50. We are paying now from $12 to $13, and much more if we purchase baker's bread.

So says the Boston Mail, which recommends a flour league.

It is quite true that those people who buy baker's bread must pay the baker for baking and delivering. And also quite true that if we buy our flour from third or fourth hands, must pay three or four profits.

Yet we suppose the profits on flour and grain trade by most of the traders through whose hands they pass, are not equal to the profits made on groceries generally, and nothing like those on fancy groceries, wines and spirits.

No one is to blame for wishing to buy his bread at a living rate,—nor for sending abroad if he cannot do so at home.—But the prices of all eatables are high in the cities —As evidence of this, read the following from New York.

It is stated that several combinations have been formed in New York, for the purpose of importing flour directly from the West. It seems that by sending to Chicago, and buying it there, the cost in New York would be only $7 50, instead of $12 or $13. The prices of provisions of almost every kind are still enormously high, while within a few days butter has been selling at 37 1-2 cts per pound. All this, too, in the face of abundant crops. Is it not possible to devise a remedy? A gentleman informs us that he bought an elegant steak in a neighbouring town for 14 cents a pound which he could not obtain in Philadelphia at the same time under 18 or 20 cents. Should this condition of affairs continue, combinations of consumers, with the object of avoiding the purchase of beef, for a period at least, would seem to be inevitable. The fact simply is, that we are paying famine prices in the midst of plenty. The effect is serious indeed, especially with the industrious classes and persons of limited income. It now costs twice as much to live as it did a few years ago.

Why so? Partly because the people will live in great cities—partly because of the influence of Californian and Australian gold—but chiefly because men choose to get gain by their wits, rather than to get bread by their labor on the ground.

PARTISAN MURDER. — A Baltimore dispatch of the 5th inst. says,—Whilst the democrats were marching in procession from the mass meeting last evening, several pistol shots were fired upon them, and a young man named Thomas Burke was shot dead.—The parties who made the attack are all said to be know nothings. A man named Thomas Davis has been arrested, charged with the murder.

FALL IN THE PRICE OF GRAIN—W. H. Gill, Esq., of Manchester, has contracted with a gentleman in the north part of the State for 1000 bushels of oats to be delivered in that city at 38 cents per bushel. Only last week, says the American, they were retailed there at sixty-five cents.

PRETTY GOOD.—It is well known that Dr Moriarty, who has charge at Deer Island, and the oversight of those sent there, is a very large man, weighing over three hundred pounds.

A while since, an Irishman, who had served some time on the Island, was arrested in Boston for being drunk, and taken before the Police Court. As the Judge was about passing sentence, Pat exclaimed, yer honor, will you plaize send me over to Capt. Robbins, instead of Deer Island, for I'd rather have the hand of providence on me, than the Doctor's big hand.—Salem Gaz.

☞ We understand the workmen who have been suspended from the Navy Yard, are resuming work this present week. The timber is received; and the cisterns are well supplied with water.

The Light Boat will be finished this month.

☞ Signor Blitz and his birds, are to perform this evening at the Temple, for the benefit of the Howard Benevolent Society. Fun and Charity may be expected to fill the house and make many hearts glad.

☞ The notices of the two Courses of Lyceum Lectures, viz. the Mechanic and the Mercantile are in our paper to-day. They have agreed, wisely as we think, to have their lectures so arranged, that we may hear one each week, for a long season. Their lists of lecturers include some of the best in the country.

☞ The great sale of House Lots at the Freeman Farm, in this city, which was to have taken place on Saturday, was, on account of unavoidable circumstances, postponed to Oct. 21st.

A FRENCH BANK IN LONDON.—We find the following paragraph in the New York Tribune of Saturday morning:—"A letter received by the last steamer from high monetary authority in London, mentions some curious facts, showing a change in the tendency of capital, which proves either that London is losing her great monetary supremacy, heretofore unquestioned, or that France is becoming very rich. The letter states that a French company with a large capital has undertaken to consolidate all the omnibus lines of London, as has already been done in Paris, and that a French bank of discount and deposite is to be established in London, with an immense capital, to compete with the Bank of England. The capital of both these companies had been subscribed, and twice as much could have been had if wanted. Formerly French enterprises were carried on to a considerable extent with English capital, but the current appears now to have changed."

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The following resolution was passed last evening at the whig antifusion meeting:

Resolved, That the sacrifice of the interests of 25,000,000 of white men, and silence upon all the principles that concern them, to the supposed interests of 3,500,000 negroes, is an abandonment of our own race and color, to aggrandize into greater importance the race and color of the African. The Whig party was made for the American, and not for the African.

A MILITARY BUFFOON.— There is often attached to each Russian company a buffoon, who amuses his comrades with jests and antics, and is generally a great favorite. On one occasion in the Caucasus, when the troops were driven back by the Circassians, the buffoon was wounded and left behind. A favorite jest of his, was to crow like a cock, and as he lay on the ground he thought of the only way to save himself, and crowed. This had such an effect on his comrades that they rallied, charged again and saved him.

DROWNED.—Patrick Coney, a man fifty years of age, and Ellen Green, a woman of 40, were drowned in the raceway of No 1 Mill, on the Massachusetts Corporation, Lowell, on Wednesday evening. They were both intoxicated, and fell from the narrow plank walk along the river. They were seen to fall about quarter to nine, and the police having been called, their bodies were found about half past twelve, in seven feet of water. The woman, Green, has worked on the Appleton Corporation for some time, and belonged in Maine. Coney has been engaged in peddling fish. Both of them have long been addicted to intemperance.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do not expect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

THE REPRIEVE.

We have already announced briefly, the reprieve of Wilson the murderer, in Boston. The Mail recounts some particulars of his case, from which we give the following extracts.

About two years ago it was announced to Wilson one morning, that his time had expired (for which he was imprisoned for robbing with an accomplice the Charlestown City Treasury) and all that remained for him to do was to perform the usual morning duties, and then proceed to the office and be set at liberty. It is one of the rules for the prisoners to form themselves into a line, single file, with their buckets, and at the word of command, march out and deposit them. On this occasion nothing unusual had been displayed by the parties, nor could they have come in contact that morning, and no quarrel was visible to the keepers and the prisoners.

When the procession had moved out from the main building occupied as sleeping rooms or cells, and had passed into the open air, the prisoners were marched along the yard towards the place of deposit. In ten or fifteen minutes James Wilson would have been a free man. There was between him and Adams, (who was a colored man) one prisoner in front, and no conversation took place between the parties. When the procession had reached a certain point in the yard, Wilson suddenly dropped his bucket, and pushing the intercepting prisoner quickly on one side, inflicted a deadly blow in the breast of Adams with a shoe knife, which he had managed to conceal about his clothes; making an exclamation something like, "there, —— —— you, take that!" He then cast the knife in the air and it was afterwards found outside the prison walls. The wound was a deep one. The murdered man uttered a cry, staggered into the arms of some of the prisoners, and in a short time expired. * * *

Many of the witnesses at his trial testified substantially to the fact of the killing, and others stated that Wilson had been in a distrustful, moody and gloomy state of mind.—During the first part of his confinement he was at work in the cabinet shop, and frequently annoyed the overseers with complaints that a certain number of the prisoners were talking about him with a view of getting him into trouble, and when the prisoners were remonstrated with for such conduct, they earnestly denied having any ill will against Wilson, as well as his statement that they had slandered him.

These real or imaginary wrongs became so irksome to Wilson that he finally made application to be changed into some other shop. This desire was listened to, and he was removed to the stone-shop, where he pursued his more laborious work with apparently increased good spirits and satisfaction. In a short time, however, he began to make similar complaints as before, about prisoners in this shop, and appeared to nourish extreme animosity towards Adams. As in the other shop the prisoners denied the suspicions of Wilson as being totally unfounded, and some of the witnesses testified that they had thought him "loony." The two men had quarrelled a few times, but it appeared to have been brought about by Wilson, and Adams only retaliated with light words. It was proved that Wilson had said that he would be revenged upon Adams before he left the prison. Many acts, from time to time of Wilson, had been noticed, and were considered peculiar—while some of the witnesses testified to Wilson's uniform suspicions, jealous and ugly disposition; and that quarrels and hot words passed between the two men.

All the ingenious attempts of Wilson's counsel to prove him insane were fruitless, and on the night of Friday, May 26, 1854, during the hubbub and noise of the Burns riot without the Court house, where James Bachelder was killed, James Wilson listened to the verdict of the Jury of Guilty.

He was to have been hung on Friday, Oct. 5, 1855. The prisoner partook of the sacrament on Thursday afternoon, and expressed himself perfectly contented except as to the manner of his death—this feeling was terrible to him. He passed a quiet night, and slept without disturbance from 9 o'clock until 2 o'clock, A. M., at which time he arose and dressed himself. After that he was extremely nervous and uneasy.

The scaffold was erected on the Cambridge street side in an angle formed by the southern and eastern wing, in full view of many outsiders, from the windows and the tops of the surrounding houses and was the same as used for the last three or four executions in the State.

At half past 11 o'clock Sheriff Clark addressed the attendants, and read a reprieve for 60 days, to the gratification of hundreds who believe Wilson an insane man, and the disappointment of a great many, particularly to those who had paid from a quarter to a dollar for window and woodshed chances.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 5.—The American meeting this evening, in Independence Square is believed to have been the largest ever held there. There were three stands from which speeches were made. An address was read, adopted by acclamation. Much enthusiasm prevailed, and the meeting was closed amid a splendid display of fire-works. T. J. Perkins presided.

Kendall's Thermometers.

J. F. SHORES, Jr, No. 1 Congress Block, has just received a full supply of KENDALL'S CELEBRATED THERMOMETERS, 8, 10 and 12 inches.

It is known to many scientific men in this country, that the late Thomas Kendall discovered a process, by which the graduation of the Thermometer scale may be made accurately to correspond with variations which unavoidably exist in the calibre of the tube; thus overcoming what has been considered the insurmountable obstacle to the construction of the perfect Thermometer.

Professors Silliman and Fisher, Yale College; Prof. Caswell of Brown University; Prof. Avery of Hamilton College, and other scientific men having examined this process, concur in saying that it is correct on mathematical and philosophical principles, and the only known way by which the difficulty referred to can be obviated.

These Thermometers are now made on this principle by John Kendall, and are offered to the public as the only ones to be relied upon for accuracy. o4

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 54 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Numerous recommendations can be produced from those who have used it and satisfied themselves, frankly stating the superior advantages of this machine over all others in the market. But it is deemed sufficient to publish but a small portion of them—the machine is a sufficient recommendation in itself.

The certificate that we have used White's Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter, and we do not hesitate to say that it is decidedly the best machine for that purpose we have ever seen. Its superiority over all others consists in the ease with which it is propelled, the great amount of feed it will cut in a given time, and the less liability of getting out of repair. (Signed)

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be THE Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

Try it! Try it! Try it!

G. W. STONE'S

OR

Family Physic,

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It not only produces all the effects where physic is required, but completely removes habitual costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels: Dysenteryy, Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—It needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with Scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from habitual Costiveness—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the blood by the use of from one to six bottles. In short, if you require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, in Scrofula or other form?

Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup

will cure you just as sure as you see it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred. In a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs it office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as the article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Barber and Grocers' Itch, Chilblains, Piles, in preparation expressly; Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliance, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Forte, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

CLOSE SAILING.—The Paris correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune gives the following item in regard to the sailing qualities of two Scotch barques. He says:

"The English papers give the particulars of a neck-and-neck sailing match which has recently taken place between a couple of Scotch barques, built at Glasgow, and named the Allan Kerr and Earl of Harwood. It is stated that there was no wager made, and no bantering for a race, but it so happened that on the 22d of February last, they both left the port of Callao, in Peru, at the same hour, and both bound for Queenstown Harbor, the port of Dublin. For nineteen successive days they kept in sight of each other; on the twentieth, probably in rough weather, they parted company, and from that time until the morning of the 1st of July, a period of more than three months, neither sighted the other. But on the morning in question, as the day broke, when within twenty miles of Cape Clear, the Captains of the two barques suddenly found they were in speaking distance of each other, and finally they anchored in company in Queenstown Harbor! Pretty close work that; in a race of some 13,000 miles it is not often that a dead heat is declared."

A SLIP 'TWIXT CUP AND LIP.—A stalwart smith was recently married in Bishopwearmouth to a blooming bride. The day passed joyously away, and evening found them making merry with their friends. About seven o'clock the bridegroom went out with some of his companions for a walk, promising his fair young wife to be soon back—a promise which might have seemed to be superfluous. But the wanderers called at a public house—one glass of whiskey toddy followed another—the cup went round so often that the bridegroom got drunk. In this condition he rose to go home.

"There's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip." Midway between the intoxicating cup and the lips of his wedded wife, he slipped to the earth and fell asleep in an archway. The poor girl so early deserted, sat alone in her bridal chamber and burst into tears when the midnight hour rang out, and she still desolate.

At this critical moment, as Dame Fortune would have it, a good looking sailor, an old sweetheart of hers, stole softly into the house, and renewed his vows. Six years before, he had "gone foreign," and in his long absence a report arose that he had been lost at sea; the bride therefore regarded him as one risen from the dead. He told her he had circumnavigated the globe, and, among other countries, had visited Australia. He had brought home for her a gold watch and a hundred sovereigns—(irresistible fellow!)—and entreated her to accept him and his wealth. On went her bonnet and cloak—off went the bride while her husband was snoozing under the arch.

He rose at early morn, covered with mud, and sneaked home to his lodgings—where he found an empty nest; nor has he been able to hear a single syllable of the forsaken fugitive. —Gateshead (Eng.) Observer.

KENDALL ON ROYAL BEAUTY.—Kendall, of the New Orleans Picayune, writes home that the ladies in waiting upon Victoria at Paris, were "a distressingly homely set," nor does the profane republican treat royalty any better. Listen to his description of the Princess Royal of England: "She is a fat, chubby, and coarse specimen of a girl, a homely likeness of her mother, who never set up any pretensions to beauty that I am aware of!"

FILIBUSTERING.—The New York Mirror says: We have received information that an extensive filibustering expedition is now on foot from the United States, to subvert the existing government of a Republic south of us. It is stated that an ex-Secretary of the Republic, now or recently in this country, is at the head of the Expedition.

WARS.—A "curious correspondent" of the New York Mirror reports that out of 287 wars—the present excepted—which have been waged in Christendom, since the Christian era, 15 mainly resulted from the desire of territory, 22 from the desire of plunder, 24 from revenge, 8 to settle questions of honor, 6 from disputed claims, 41 from disputed titles, 30 from the pretence of assisting allies, 23 from jealousy of rival greatness, 5 from commercial difficulties, 53 from civil animosity, and 28 from religious bigotry. England and France, who are now so friendly, have had their "tug at war." From 1110 to 1814, a period of 704 years, there were 270 years of war between England and France.—There were 23 distinct wars.

A SPORTING LADY.—It is said that the first printed list of persons who have taken out game certificates in the county of Leicester for the present year, will exhibit the name of a lady who has done so, and has taken to sporting in right earnest style. She has the honor to live as housekeeper in the service of a venerable clergyman, and by her skill materially assists in filling the larder, which has always been celebrated for its profusion. The exact number of the head of game which fell to her gun on the first two days, are the same as the number of summers which have rolled over her head—namely, seven and a half brace of birds, a quartet of hares, and the same number of rabbits.—English paper.

Queen Victoria's visit to Paris, it is said, brought 741,345 strangers into the city. If we place the expenditure of each individual during the stay of ten days at the low average of fifty dollars, we arrive at a profit for Paris over thirty seven millions. It is stated that for the jewelers the week was more profitable than any whole year during the reign of Louis Phillippe. Every branch of trade was immensely benefitted.

The indicted Aldermen in New York are to begin to have their trial on Friday, when the Grand Jury is to be assailed, because of gross irregularities in the Jury Room. The oldest case on the calender of Over and Terminer, is that of Baker, who, with his associates in the Pool affair, are likely to occupy the attention of the Court for some time.—Their trials are not likely to come off before November—if then.

Mrs. Elizabeth Randolph, believed to be the oldest inhabitant of western Carolina, died at Yancey county on the 21st ult. She was born in 1747, and was in her one hundred and ninth year.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1855.

LEGAL LORE.

IN THE HIGH COURT OF PUBLIC OPINION.
Before Uncle Toby.

The New Hempshire Gazette appears, and calls for a review of sundry cases in the Supreme Judicial Court.

The Chronicle takes occasion to "remark" that but "one full verdict of guilty" was found at this session of the Court, and also "that the same jury which acquitted a rowdy for assaulting an officer, condemned officer Willey for assaulting Leary." Well, we should like to have the Chronicle deduce its inference from these "worthy remarks." Does it mean to say that justice was not done to Willey, or that he is better than any rowdy that walks our streets?

We mean to say that justice was not done to the rowdy who assaulted officer Adams, and who was suffered to escape on a technical quibble based on the difference between a constable and a police officer, when Mr. Adams held both offices.

Willey's case has been tried in the Supreme Judicial Court. Whether justice has been done to him, may better appear when this High Court shall have tried him.

If it would defend Willey's brutal conduct, will it inform us upon what grounds it is worthy of defence? It cannot be upon partizan grounds, for the Chronicle is not a partizan paper, its editors have always asserted.

Certainly not; for the Court has no knowledge of the politics either of Willey, or Leary, or the jury, or the acquitted rowdy.

His conduct must be approved upon some evidence or facts which have not yet been made public. Will the Chronicle please develope upon this point, and also inform us if it is not the province of a jury to try and decide every case before them, and that a charge of crime is not under our laws considered equivalent to a conviction?

This is the province of the jury. Accusation is not conviction; and in the fallibility of courts and juries, they sometimes acquit the guilty and punish the praiseworthy.

As to evidence or facts to be developed, on which Willey may be justified or his condemnation increased, we shall call but one witness, and that shall be the New Hampshire Gazette, of Oct. 6.

This witness testifies—to an aggravated assault on Jere. Leary, on the 7th of June last, and says,—a most disgraceful and aggravated assault was proved to have been committed by Willey, without provocation, authority or excuse, save that of ignorance and a rash temper. This Willey, who is a police officer made last April, took upon himself the responsibility, upon the representation that there had been a fight between two Irish women, of entering a dwelling house without a warrant; broke open a door, and entering a room where two men and a little child were seated peaceably, and proceeded to arrest one of the men. A scuffle ensued between the officer and Leary, whose room had been broken into, and who had a perfect right by law to kick the intruder down stairs and out of the house, as Judge Fowler substantially stated in his charge to the jury. Before Willey and Leary get into the street, the former managed to inflict six or seven blows upon the head of the latter, several of which penetrated to the skull, rendering him for a time insensible and confining him to his bed two or more weeks. To cap the climax, Willey dragged Leary to the watch-house, where he remained some hours. Willey's brutality in the case was fully proved and the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. His defence was that he was assaulted by Leary in the discharge of his duty, but no evidence was introduced to prove that he was thus acting, or tending to palliate his brutal conduct in the least.

That no evidence for the defence was offered, was doubtless true; and we have already said that Willey "very imprudently entered alone and without a warrant" into a house of quarrelling drunkards. He was, as the Gazette states, a new policeman, and ignorant of some important legal points in his duty. "Ignorance of the law excuseth no man;" certainly not a law officer.

For this ignorance of the value of a warrant, Willey has been sufficiently and severely punished, by a fine and costs which the Gazette says amounts to $75. This error, of entering a dwelling house or room without a warrant, and without leave of the inmates, was fatal to his case, as it violates a well settled and valuable principle of law.

For his further imprudence in going alone into such a den of drunken and half drunken skrimmagers, male and female, he is further punished by having all the inmates, of all parties, for witnesses against him,—while his own story, as a prisoner, of course goes for nothing.

Now it is proposed, in the Gazette, to punish him still farther, by casting him out of his office in disgrace,—and in the words of the complaint now before us, it is asked, "Does it mean to say that he (Willey) is better than any rowdy that walks our streets?"

The Court does not feel called upon to decide between the relative goodness of one man who is known, and another who is unknown or imaginary: but it can see considerable difference between a policeman who is trying to put down a riot—and a rowdy who is trying to get up one.

Now let the witness be cross examined.

How do you know all about the skrimmage?

Leary and all the rest swore to it.

Do you believe, on your oath, that Willey, or any body else, would, without provocation, (with or without a warrant,) use so much force as you state?

Yes.

And do you really believe that the whole cloud of witnesses, or any of them, would tell any thing but the truth in their own case?

No: they would certainly tell the truth, as such people always do.

Do you believe the two Irishmen, Leary and Donovan, made any noise or struck any blows at all?

No indeed; they and the little child were as peaceable as lambs, and so were the women, the moment the policeman was said to be coming.

Do you think that a man is disqualified, so that he ought not to be a police officer, because he has been convicted of one offence, and fined?

Yes indeed: it would be dishonorable to the city and serve to weaken respect for the law and authorities.

Do you think that a man is disqualified, so that he ought not to be a police justice, because he has been convicted of many offences, and sent to the House of Correction?

No indeed.

Don't you believe that sauce for the goose ought to be sauce for the gander?

No, No; I don't believe any such thing.

The Court is satisfied on these points; and the witness may take his seat. Now we turn to the Great Jury of readers and the public, and in our charge instruct them, that a den of quarrelling drunkards, is a place where no policeman should ever enter alone. If help cannot be had, let them fight it out, even if they kill each other, or if the drunkard kills his wife. The presiding judge has had large experience in handling drunkards, having taken them out of the highways on cold and stormy nights; taken deadly weapons from their hands; and been compelled once or twice to knock them down in self-defence without a warrant—but he did all this as a citizen and not as a policeman, which makes a difference.

Now, Policemen, we charge you when a disturbance arises in the night, be sure you wait for your warrant till next day—get three or four to help you arrest all hands, and then you can get your pay. Never run any risk, or take any responsibility, nor strike any blow to quell a riot: nobody will thank you. If you break the skin the court will fine you, and the press and the people will blame you without stint. But if a rowdy breaks your skin, and it is proved and admitted, he will go clear because it is not certain whether he hit you as a policeman or a constable! Therefore you had better not meddle with him. Mr Justice Dogberry has often ruled in the case of officers and others struck by a drunkard, "You ought to have got out of his way."

And now, gentlemen of the Great Jury—the Court submits this case to your decision—you will decide as to the law and the fact.

If you think the respondent has already been sufficiently punished, you will please to say so. But if you think the Judge of the Supreme Judicial Court, at the suggestion of the Solicitor, fined him too lightly, you have it in your power to bring in a verdict which will call for a severer punishment: but in doing this take care—lest the shot which you aim at the police officer should bounce backward and his justice Dogberry.

The jury have the case before them.

ELOQUENT APPEAL.—Brother Lovejoy, of Cambridge, has written a letter addressed "to my Brethren in Maine," and he has very wisely published it in the State of Maine newspaper. He says, "I have trodden the wine press alone." Very true, so he has;—and now he pleads in words of moving eloquence, that his brethren above referred to, will not murder the prophets, especially our old friend Cummings of the Mirror. We were not before aware that our brethren of the State of Maine were so bloody minded as to need such entreaty.

He tells them also that their idol is prostrate, their strange god has fallen! Indeed! we heard something last Winter about Satan's kingdom tumbling down—but he can't mean that. He must refer to some Jug-or-not deity down east! But he speaks in parables.

YORK COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—The Annual Fair and Cattle Show of the York County Agricultural Society, postponed from last week on account of the storm, will be holden in the town of Saco this day and tomorrow. Numerous exhibitors from the Eastern section of New Hampshire, including several from Portsmouth, have signified their intention to be present, and the occasion is expected to be one of unusual interest.

☞ A sad accident occurred on the Boston & Maine Railroad on Monday, by which two express men were killed, the fireman had both legs broken, and two other persons each a leg broken. The accident was caused by the engine running over a cow.

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.—MONDAY, Oct. 8.

Before Justice Odell.—Joseph P. Marden was accused of stealing a promissory note from Thos. Currier—and held to answer in bonds of $200.

Jerry Murphy was charged with an assault on Eliza Murphy, his little daughter, aged about 2 or 3 years. The assault consisted in making her drink a glass of rum, and striking her to make her drink it. Plea, guilty. Sentenced to 10 days in the jail; to give $50 bonds to keep the peace—and costs $5.43.

He was also charged with an assault on his wife Catherine. Plea, guilty. Fined $5; costs 3.89. $50 bonds to keep the peace.

The keg of Gin, and jug of Brandy, which were lately seized, and unclaimed, were declared forfeit, and ordered to the agency, according to the statute.

Three boys were fined $1 each, and costs 4.76, for stealing apples from a garden.

SINGING SCHOOLS. — Mr. Pearson commences a Term of his Juvenile Singing School, to-morrow Afternoon, at Exchange Hall.

Mr. Clark will re-commence his Evening School, at Academy Hall on Thursday evening.

Mr. Pearson will also open his Evening School next week. It will be similar to his advanced class, so popular last winter; and a Musical Convention will be held at its close.

For further information respecting these Classes, see our advertising columns. We think the community would be benefitted, (especially that portion which attends,) in having them well filled.

MUSICAL CONVENTION IN PORTSMOUTH. In reply to numerous inquirers, in and out of the city, we will state that the second annual Convention of the Rockingham County Musical Association, will be held in Portsmouth, commencing on Tuesday, January 8th, 1856, and continuing three or four days and evenings—including at least one public concert. Prof. B. F. Baker will conduct the exercises, with vocal and instrumental assistance; and all who are interested in singing, will find it greatly to their interest and advantage to attend. The most ample arrangements will be made to insure full attendance, and to render the occasion pleasing as well as profitable—half-price tickets will be supplied to all members who come from abroad—and a larger musical gathering is expected, than has been held in this region for many years. Full particulars will be given in all the newspapers in this vicinity, in due season; and mention is made of the matter thus early, that those who wish to attend from abroad, may make arrangements to do so. It is designed to make the Association permanent, and to hold annual or semi-annual Conventions in different towns, as circumstances may make desirable.

CIRCULATING LIBRARIES.—Prominent among the means for the dissemination of reading matter, are the Cheap Circulating Libraries now so extensively established.

By paying a trifling sum for a year, access can be had to most standard works, and an opportunity to read the new works as they are published. In this city there are two extensive institutions of this sort, the proprietors of which keep up with the times, and are constantly making additions of new works—Messrs. Harveys' & Shores'.

EVENING DANCING SCHOOL.— Mr. Lamprey commences a term of lessons in dancing, waltzing, &c., at Congress Hall, this evening. He is a good teacher, and what is of more importance even in the selection of a teacher, he is a gentleman who can be depended upon, and will do as he agrees. See his adv.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 7.—Rob't P. Trippe is the only K. N. certainly elected to congress. Messrs Seward, Warren, Lumpkins, Cobb, and A. H. Stevens, democrats, are certainly elected. Two districts, the second and 7th, are still in doubt. Johnson's majority for Governor is large. The legislature is decidedly democratic.

Evening Singing School.

MR. CLARK'S Singing School will in future be held at ACADEMY HALL.

The inclement weather of last week having prevented many from attending the School, and to give all who may wish, an opportunity to join the Class, the first lesson of the term will be given on THURSDAY Evening next, at ½ o'clock.

The Book selected, aside from being one of the best collections of Church Music, contains the "Cantata," or "Oratorio of Daniel," which Mr. Clark proposes to bring out the coming winter.

Tickets to attend the School may be obtained at the Room on Thursday evening. Price, One Dollar each. o9

Instruction in Music.

A PEARSON, grateful for the liberal patronage which has been bestowed on him during his stay in Portsmouth, would inform his friends and the public that he has resumed his instructions on the PIANO FORTE, ORGAN, and in SINGING, &c. after a temporary absence. Orders left at EXCHANGE HALL promptly attended to as heretofore.

Mr. P. has made arrangements for an

similar to his Advanced Class of last year, to close, as did that, with a

in January next. Ladies and gentlemen wishing to join this Class are requested to provide themselves with tickets before its commencement. Opportunity to purchase tickets will be given every evening of the present week, at Exchange Hall only, where further information may be had respecting the School. o9

The selectmen of Wethersfield, Conn., carefully and gravely opened a box that reached their address by railroad, freight paid, and then opened their eyes in amazement to see a bushel of the biggest onions they ever did see, and which had been sent to them in banter, by the selectmen of a town in Iowa.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need only be given to the American people—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A meeting was held last evening in the Metropolitan Theatre to take measures for the relief of the orphans caused by the yellow fever in Norfolk and Portsmouth. Owing to the heavy rain the attendance was not numerous. The meeting was ably and eloquently addressed by Rev. Wm. E. Milburne, Rev. S. S. Osgood, Mr. I. W. Gerald, Dr. Reese, and Mr. Greeley. Appropriate resolutions were passed. A committee was appointed to collect contributions and a collection made. It was announced at the meeting that Mdlle Rachel, besides giving the free use of the Theatre, had contributed $1000 toward the object of the meeting.

The new temperance party, who are in favor of a license law, but opposed to the prohibitory act, met last evening, and made nominations for city and county officers.

There is a rumor that the Grand Jury yesterday, indicted one of the judges of the criminal court of this city, for negotiating to compound a felony, or rather bargaining with a culprit to secure his escape on receiving a portion of the booty. It appears that a burglary had been committed, and about $4000 worth of goods stolen, and that the magistrate in question, offered to secure the escape of the burglar on payment of $2000.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6.—At Norfolk on Thursday, there were five deaths and eight new cases of yellow fever, and on Friday one death and three new cases.

At Portsmouth on Thursday the number of deaths was eight and the new cases five. On Friday there was but one death. Nearly all the new cases and deaths are those of returned citizens. The Rev. Mr Jackson of St. Paul's church died on Thursday.

Oct. 7.—We have received no mail south of Savannah to day.

The legislature of Tennessee met on the 1st inst. The senate elected Col. Charham (American) speaker. The house failed to elect a speaker on the first day.

THE LATE FRESHET.—The Laconia Gazette says:

"The Pemigewassett river has completely overflowed its banks, carrying away three bridges in the vicinity of Plymouth, the Livermore bridge, one mile above the village, the one opposite the town, and the one between Bridgewater and Holderness. At Holderness, some eighty feet of the railroad track is washed away, and it will probably take several days to repair it. No doubt we shall hear of further damage done, as soon as intelligence is received from farther North. The track is in many places at Plymouth and Holderness four feet under water."

We hear of an astonishing conversion in the political world. The Boston Post, heretofore a journal of adamantine hardness, (except when melted into coalition softness,) "hails" the Whig Convention (actually hails it) as a bright omen, for the politics of the State.

Those hearing of this astonishing fact, will be good enough not to mention it in Gath, and by no means to publish it in the streets of Askelon. Who said 'entangling alliance?' —Boston Atlas.

CANON LAW FOR THE LASSES.—Says the Rev. Sydney Smith, Canon of St. Paul's:—"Never teach false morality. How exquisitely absurd to tell girls that beauty is of no value, dress of no use? Beauty is of value—her whole prospects and happiness in life may often depend upon a new gown or a becoming bonnet; and if she has five grains of common sense she will find this out. The great thing is, to teach her their just value, and that there must be something better under the bonnet than a pretty face, for real happiness. But never sacrifice truth."—Memoir, by his daughter.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 24 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Numerous recommendations can be produced from those who have used it and satisfied themselves, frankly stating the superior advantages of this machine over all others in the market. But it is deemed sufficient to publish but a small portion of them—the machine is a sufficient recommendation in itself.

This certifies that we have used White's Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter, and we do not hesitate to say that it is decidedly the best machine for that purpose we have ever seen. Its superiority over all others consists in the ease with which it is propelled, the great amount of feed it will cut in a given time and the less liability of getting out of repair. (Signed) Chas. Sager, Barker & Dingley, Chas H. Varney, Babcock & Walker, and G. Fowler, Portland Livery Stables; F. W. Rogers, Portsmouth.

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be used upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be the Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

Turkish Order of Knighthood.—Dr. C. T. Jackson, of Boston, received by the last steamer from Europe the patent and decoration of the Order of Knighthood conferred upon him by the Sultan of Turkey, Abdul Medjid, for services rendered by his discovery of Anæsthesia to the armies of the Allies.—The patent is headed with the Sultan's signature or toagra in gold, and is also countersigned in gold. The decoration consists of a hale of glory in massive silver, with seven crescents around it. The centre contains in silver the signature of the Sultan, and is surrounded by garnet enamel bearing a legend in Turkish characters in gold. The whole is suspended by a silver ring, bearing a garnet crescent and star, and is attached to a broad red ribbon edged with a green border. We understand that this is one of the fifteen decorations of this order lately conferred by the Sultan on those who have rendered service to the Empire.

Bread by Weight.—The Sealer of Weights and Measures in Philadelphia, has given notice that the law regulating the weight of loaf bread will be enforced after the first of October. This is the first movement of the kind made in this country, we believe, and we think the example should be followed by other cities.

The 100th birth day of Rev. John Sawyer of Bangor, Me., is to be celebrated in that city on the 9th of October, with appropriate ceremonies, in which the aged clergyman himself will participate.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.
Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup
will cure you just as sure as you see it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? Why will not you call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:
Read the following, it speaks for itself:
Lawrence, June 12, 1854.
We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment, prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs what it really and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.
Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as a safe, sure, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.
A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASAT SANBORN.
It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.
Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.
CHARLES H. KENT General Agent for the United States and Canadas, Lawrence, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed.
Sold in Portsmouth, by Jos. H. Thacher, at the Good Samaritan Store, and W. R. Preston; and by Agents everywhere.

Opinions of the Press.
It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.
An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.
The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, very pure, very sweet and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.
In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.
Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.
The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.
I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.
I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

MY KATE.

BY MRS. BROWNING.

She was not as pretty as women I know:
And yet all your best, made of sunshine and snow,
Drop to shade, melt to nought, in the long trodden ways,
While she's still remembered on warm and cold days:
My Kate.

Her air had a meaning, her movement a grace;
You turned from the fairest to gaze in her face;
And when you had once seen her forehead and mouth,
You saw as distinctly her soul and her truth:
My Kate.

Such a blue inner light from her eye-lids outbroke,
You looked at her in silence and fancied she spoke:
When she did, so peculiar and soft was the tone,
Though the loudest spoke also, you heard her alone:
My Kate.

I doubt if she said to you much that could act
As a thought or suggestion; she did not attract,
In the sense of the brilliant and wise I infer:
'Twas her thinking of others made you think of her:
My Kate.

She never found fault with you—never implied
Your wrong by her right: and yet men at her side
Grew nobler, girls purer, as through the whole town,
My Kate.

None knelt at her feet as adorers in thrall:
They knelt more to God than they used, that was all.
If you praised her as charming, some asked what you meant:
But the charm of her presence was felt where she went:
My Kate.

The weak and the gentle, the ribald and rude,
She took as she found them, and did them all good.
It always was so with her; see what you have!
She has made the grass greener o'er here—with her grave:
My Kate.

My dear one! when thou wast alive with the rest,
I held thee the sweetest, and loved thee the best;
And now thou art dead, shall I not take thy part,
As thy smile used to do for thyself, my sweet heart:
My Kate.

SINGULAR CASE.—A communication in the New York Courier and Enquirer states that among the officers of the navy "dropped" from the list, is the first lieutenant of the U. S. sloop-of-war Dale, who has been, for two years past, fighting the malaria on the African coast. During his service on that coast the Dale is said to have earned a name as a "model temperance ship." For what reason this officer has been discharged is not known, and the case seems one of peculiar hardship.

SAD CASE.—In Boston, Barney McCann has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter, in causing the death of his wife. Both were drunk on Thursday; McCann slept in a room in the third story of the house—his wife slept in the attic; on Friday morning McCann went to his wife's room, dragged her out of bed and down a flight of stairs, and falling upon her, injured her so badly that she died during the day.

PORTLAND.—The Advertiser of Saturday says:

The Marshal made another search yesterday at James Dunphy's and found a quantity of liquor, which was taken to the lock up. At the same time Deputy Marshal Ring was making a search and seizure at James McGlinchy's, and Deputy Marshal Plummer at Lawrence Mellon's on Fore street. Ring and Plummer both found a quantity of liquor and took it to the lock up. Dunphy and Mellon will have their trial to-day. The amount seized was about 120 gallons.

These persons had undoubtedly laid in a stock of liquors in consequence of the article in the Argus stating that the Maine Law was not enforced, and they probably believed it. They have found out their mistake.

In the Police Court on Friday Thomas Osborne was tried in two cases for keeping intoxicating liquors, and adjudged guilty on both. He appealed to the Supreme Court, November term, and for want of sureties was committed.

[This is the same person who issued his handbill the day after the late election, giving notice of a "free blow out" at his place.]

John Dehan was also adjudged guilty for keeping intoxicating liquors. He appealed.

The Argus of Monday says:

We understand that the police on Saturday made a large seizure of liquors, which arrived in the Boston Steamer. Among the lot, were about twenty barrels of Ale. They are renewing their vigilance, it would seem.

At a late temperance convention in Utica, N. Y., a Mr. McCoy telegraphed to Portland the following question, and received the annexed answer:

To Neal Dow, Portland: Is the report true that you have stopped enforcing the law?
AMASA MCCOY.

To Amasa McCoy: That report is false; the law is enforced. Prohibition is perfectly safe.
NEAL DOW.

THE HUMAN BEARD.—Have our readers ever thought of the utter folly of shaving, the absurdity of the practice of cutting off the beard which was not given by his Creator for nothing? We have, and have come to the conclusion that the practice of shaving is alike ridiculous and absurd, and that it violates one of the laws of nature. Now, our beard was not given us for no purpose—that is evident. It was created for some wise purpose, and that was, to keep the throat and face warm, and thus be conducive to health. Let us look at a few facts. It has been calculated that if one shave three times a week, it grows twenty times as fast as if he did not shave. Allowing two inches as the annual growth of the beard, it will be seen that a man cuts off forty inches, or more than a yard of hair a year, and the nutriment which supports this, and is thus wasted, might have gone to nourish other parts of his body, and render him a healthy and handsome man! Again: allowing twenty minutes to each shaving operation, three times a week, amounts to one hour a week—fifty-two hours a year. Supposing a man to shave forty years, we find he has consumed about three months in the simple act of shaving.—Albany Argus.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1855.

REPRIEVE FOR INSANITY.—The reader knows that Wilson, the murderer, in Massachusetts, is now reprieved, waiting in his appointed 60 days, for further clemency, or for the Death Warrant.

The reprieve was grounded on the statements of medical gentlemen of reputation and standing—that the sentence ought to be suspended for a convenient space of time, in order that a review of the testimony on the trial as to Wilson's insanity at the time of the murder, may be had and submitted to the executive. The medical gentlemen above named have united in a petition to the Governor to order a reprieve for Wilson, promising to submit certain views and opinions to the executive which they believe may induce the exercise of the pardoning power to the extent of sending Wilson to State Prison. The doctors, in their letter to the Governor, very truly remark that the position of witnesses called as experts, in cases of insanity, and not cognizant of facts by personal observation, is always unsatisfactory and embarassing, for the obvious reason that such witnesses have no opportunity to pursue inquiry for themselves into many points which they may feel confident would, if pursued thoroughly, afford indications of mental aberration. They are obliged, on the contrary, to sit by and take such evidence as may turn up, however meagre or indefinite, and are expected and compelled to express a solemn opinion thereon even when they may deeply apprehend that such an opinion may be of vastly more moment in the minds of a jury than they can themselves regard it, in the light of its paucity of facts and generally negative character.

The petitioners believe that there were many circumstances in the proceedings of the trial of Wilson calculated to dilate and weaken the chain of evidence touching the mental condition of the prisoner. They feel, in examining the minutes of the evidence with that deliberate care impossible in the progress of a trial, and eliminating from such testimony all the superfluous and irrelevant mass of material which was presented in this case in unusual profesion, and which could only divert and confuse the elements of mature opinion upon the question of mental soundness, that there does seem to be a weighty concatenation of proofs bearing upon the probability that Wilson was acting under a delusion at the time he committed the homicide.

This petition was signed by Luther V. Bell, Physician, &c. of the McLean Asylum for the insane; H G Clark, City Physician; C H Stedman, late Physician to the Lunatic Hospital at South Boston; and C A Walker, Physician to the Lunatic Hospital and House of Correction at South Boston.

The question of the prisoner's insanity will now probably have a more thorough investigation, and it is generally believed that he will never be hung.

It is reported that Rev Messrs Burrill and Caldicott, who have been the prisoner's spiritual advisers, are of opinion that he has become a truly penitent man.

We believe this is the second case of reprieve which has occurred in the history of the Commonwealth.

CONNECTICUT.—The Hartford Courant has returns from 125 towns, which gives the following result, on the question of demanding an ability to read, of every new voter: Yes, 15,202; No, 10,508; majority, 4694. There are 28 small towns to be heard from. The provision does not disfranchise those ignorant persons who have heretofore been made electors, but only prevents any addition to their number. We suppose that all such alterations must leave the elective franchise untouched, so far as it is now enjoyed by any individual. But they may close the door against further entries.

BRIDAL TOUR EDITORIAL.—Charles G. Came, Esq., one of the editors of the Portland Advertiser, (whom the readers of the Chronicle will recollect as our former Portland correspondent Casco,) recently got married in New Haven; and gives an account of his bridal tour, in Monday's Advertiser—by which it would appear that they had rather a damp time of it, being kept cool all the way by that excellent shower-bath, the recent storm. After remarking that he attended an interesting murder trial at New Haven, the prisoner in which was "prompted to the crime by love," and was acquitted on the ground of insanity; he adds, "While in New Haven, I also attended another affair, in which the same mischief-making agency referred to above, was as flagrantly obvious."

☞ The Great Falls & Conway Railroad was well "patronized" on Monday of last week, by a large party of free-rides from Great Falls to Union Village. They were accompanied by the Great Falls brass band. This road is said to be one of the smoothest.

LADIES INVITED.—Mr. Harvey D. Parker of Boston, the keeper of the famous eating and drinking saloon, whence Dr. Webster the murderer was supplied with good things during his trial, has lately erected a house as splendid as the London Gin Palaces,—and from the following notice we conclude about as pure.

We copy the notice from the city item department of the Boston Courier, of Monday, Oct. 8:

It is the most complete establishment of the restaurant and club-house kind ever opened in Boston; and it contains separate apartments for ladies and gentlemen. It is, in some respects, an experiment, and it remains to be proved whether our Boston ladies—who are more timid and reserved at home than the ladies of New York and Southern cities—will frequent this elegant inn, which contains all the accessories to comfort and luxury. The rooms are furnished in the most costly manner, and the parlors gorgeously. No expense has been spared to make the house attractive, and under the management of Mr. Parker there will be little doubt of its success. Ladies should not hesitate to patronize it. There is no reason why they should not have a lunch on something substantial—a slice of beef, a cut of ham, the leg of a chicken, a tender snipe—as well as men; and, if they desire it, have a glass of wine, or something more pungent, just as if they were at home. If they will but unite and disrobe themselves of that shyness, which makes them less than angels—laugh and be merry, and talk natural and free—they will improve their own condition, and make life happier. That is so.

It may be pertinent to enquire, What kind of ladies will visit this marble palace? What kind of ladies are wanted there? And what are they invited to do when they get there?

Most certainly modest women are not expected by the author of the above invitation. None but "fast" ladies are wanted, and it is even hinted that Boston ladies are not fast enough.

But whatever they may be before they come, there can be no doubt as to what they are expected to do when they go, and after they get there. The invitation settles all that, saying,—Come ladies—don't hesitate—rush in—take a glass of wine, a glass of brandy, a glass of gin—be at home—unite and disrobe yourselves of shyness, throw off all reserve and timidity, and then you'll be angels—laugh and be merry, talk natural and free! You will thus improve your own condition; and make life happier?

Whose life? The life of the devotees of Bacchus and Venus, who bloat up round such a spot. And what does all this amount to, but an invitation for women to assemble in troops for a free indulgence in wassail and revelry!

And when, being excited by wine, these ladies shall disrobe themselves of shyness and give a loose rein to their tongues and talk natural and free—they are to be Angels!—fallen ones we think.

HUMAN LIFE.

With all the recklessness with which we Yankees risk our own lives, and those of our families, by steam, by railway, by camphene, and by gunpowder,—yet we do shrink back somewhat, when we come, deliberately, to hang a man by the neck till he is dead.

The Boston Mail says:

Those individuals who have been disappointed at not witnessing the execution of Wilson, will probably be again disappointed at not seeing the hanging of John L. Chapman, who comes next in the list of the criminal calendar. It will be remembered that Chapman has been twice tried, and finally sentenced to be hanged for the murder of an old man in Sherburne, by the name of Cozzens. At the time of his sentence, Chief Justice Shaw, with his associates, held the Supreme Judicial Court in East Cambridge. The venerable Justice arose with apparent reluctance, and called upon John L. Chapman to stand up and listen to the sentence due for the crime of which he had been proved guilty. The audience respectfully arose and listened in solemn silence to the voice of the aged Judge. It was a striking contrast presented by the two men. One was in the full vigor of health, and exhibited all his brilliant faculties at an age almost beyond that alloted to man—the other, who was scarcely twenty-two years, leaned upon the railing of the prisoner's dock, and presented the appearance of an animated corpse—a galvanized dead man. It was the picture of winter in good "green old age," and spring suddenly blasted by some withering storm.

When the venerable Chief Justice had concluded the pronouncing of the sentence, he asked the sheriff if he knew of a jail within the limits of the county which possessed the conveniences of a hospital. On being informed that Concord jail was the only one which combined the character of a prison and hospital in one, he ordered the condemned to be imprisoned in Concord, so that he might receive the benefits of medical advice until the time should arrive for his execution. The prisoner, who had the appearance of a man in the last stages of consumption, was then removed and the crowd silently dispersed.

If the public good demanded the hanging of the murderer, why would it not be as well to hang the consumptive, as the man in health? Really, we cannot tell why.

☞ Some of the Boston papers state that the two men who made the murderous attack upon Rankall, at Newburyport, a short time since, have been arrested in the British Provinces.

LOCAL.

☞ The alarm of fire between one and two o'clock this morning, was on account of the slight burning of the only house in Holmes' Court, on the east side of Water street, below the Mill-bridge. The fire was extinguished by the neighbors, before the engines could arrive. The occupants are a colored family named Brown.

AN OLD BIBLE.—One of our book-binders has now for repairs, an old Bible belonging to a family in this vicinity. The title-page of the Old Testament is gone, and a number of leaves following; but the title-page of the New Testament remains, from which we copy the following imprint.

"Imprinted at London by the Deputies of Christopher Barker, Printer to the Queene's most excellent majestie. 1597."

It will be seen at once, that it was a few years before our present English version was made.

We suppose it to be the Bishop's Bible, so called. It is in form, Crown Quarto, and is printed, the text in black letter or old English, and the notes and comments in Roman and Italic.

MUSIC FOR THE CHILDREN.—Mr. Pearson re-opens his Juvenile Singing School at Exchange Hall, this afternoon. This is the only school of the kind now kept in Portsmouth; and it is to be hoped there are parents enough who appreciate the benefits and importance of judicious tuition in singing, for the budding generation, to fill the hall with their children. We need not reccommend the teacher.

☞ Mr Lamprey's dancing school, last evening, was well attended. The next lesson will be on Friday evening next.

WHITEHOUSE'S NEW ENGLAND BARDS.—We have received from Mr. E. Freeman Whitehouse, a copy of the first number of a new paper called the Musical Herald, to be published monthly by him. "It will be devoted to the interests and success of the New England Bards," and also "to promote the prosperity and happiness of its readers." The publisher says it will be largely circulated gratuitously, and solicits musical advertisements. His direction is Gonic, N. H.

He says of his troupe the present season, (now in the British Provinces,—but to visit Portsmouth in a short time)—

Over 50,000 people visited our Concerts last season, and we think the majority of them were pleased with the entertainments. The company will be composed of the following persons:

Miss Nellie Wilder, Contralto; D. Barnard Tenney, Baritone; W. F. Durant, Basso and Comic Delineator; E. Freeman Whitehouse, Tenor and Proprietor.

☞ Hunt's Merchant's Magazine for October, 1855, contains, beside the usual large amount of valuable intelligence, six articles, viz: 1, The Sound Dues of Denmark, and their Relations with the Commerce of the World; 2, Mercantile Biography, Walter Restored Jones; 3, Commerce of the United States; 4, The Culture of Tea in Brazil; 5, Commerce of Candia; 6, Treasure Trove, or the Discovery of Gold and other Coins in Maine.

Freeman Hunt, editor and proprietor, New York.

☞ Rev. George N. Anthony was ordained as Pastor of the Congregational Church at Great Falls, (Somersworth,) on Wednesday Oct. 3d. The Journal of that town says the attendance was large and the services interesting. Selections from the Scriptures, were read by Rev J B Cook, of Wells; and prayer was offered by Rev E E Atwater of Salmon Falls. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Prof. Shedd, of Andover Theological Institution. The ordaining prayer was by Rev Mr Tobey, of Durham; the charge to the pastor by Rev Mr Foster of Lowell; and to the church and congregation, by Rev Mr McCollom, former pastor. Concluding prayer by Rev Mr Chapman.

The person "named Clark," on whom the outrage was committed by Missourians on the Missouri River, was doubtless Rev Wm. C. Clark, a Wesleyan Methodist clergyman of Massachusetts. We learn that a gentleman who arrived here from Kansas two weeks ago, reported at that time that he witnessed such an assault on Rev Wm. C. Clark, who was beaten by a Missourian on board a steamboat on the Missouri river, and then thrust ashore. Nothing has since been heard of Mr Clark.—Boston Telegraph.

THE SOUTH AND THE NORTH.—We take it that all are agreed that it is time we had quit patronizing the North in any shape or form whatsoever. We have made little or nothing by the operation. On the contrary, the intimate intercourse which has hitherto existed between the two sections has resulted in advantage to the North almost exclusively. If we go there either for business or pleasure, we are insulted and robbed before we have time to scarcely turn around.—Self interest, self respect, and State pride, all require us to have as little to do with the Northern Heathen as possible.—Richmond, Va., Whig.

Comment.—The best commentary we can give upon this bad spirit is to point to the thousands and tens of thousands of dollars which the North, with a willing heart, is sending to the hundreds of sick and dying persons in Virginia. New York has sent $25,000, and we hope will toward as much more, Philadelphia $20,000; Boston four or five thousand; New Haven, with other things, a cargo of ice to cool the parched lips of those dying of fever at Norfolk and Portsmouth. This "heaping of coals of fire" from "Northern Heathen" upon the heads of their calumniators, is the best possible answer for such uncalled for and indiscriminate sectional attacks. New York Express.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, may obtain all the benefits of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy so fraught of this dangerous plaints of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

A BRUTAL OUTRAGE.—Where are the Laws to Protect Poor People?—A most extraordinary case under the name of a legal action, occurred in this city, (says the Boston Chronicle,) and while the relation of the case exposes the most inexcusable barbarity on the part of the plaintiff, and calls down upon him the contempt and indignation of all persons having any sense of justice, it demonstrates the utter insufficiency of a law passed by the last Legislature, avowedly for the relief of poor debtors. The law is not worth a straw if the action in the present case can be sustained. An elderly lady residing in East Boston, has, for two or three years, been obliged to support herself and family by keeping a mechanic's boarding house. By reason of the hard times last season, and other causes not within her control, she became somewhat involved in debt, but by no means to a large amount, and among her creditors was one Shylock, who refused to give her any extension on his bill, but commenced an action for debt, laid an attachment on her furniture—a scanty lot, which at auction prices would scarcely pay the advertising and auctioneer's bills—and yesterday a constable actually seized and carried away, by order of the hard-hearted creditor, all the furniture except what he pleased to consider of the value of $50.

When the official was requested by the lady to allow her bed to remain, the impudent fellow replied that he would leave a bed for her in the attic; he did so, leaving a worthless apology for a bed, and taking the bed for which the lady asked. The debtor is a most estimable and christian lady, who has seen better days and who is deserving of sympathy. She offered to pay her heartless creditor, at the earliest possible moment, but promises were of no avail. This is no hearsay account—we know the lady and will vouch for what we have stated; we know, too, the heartless wretch who seeks to increase his wealth by taking from the mouths of the widow and orphans their last morsel of bed. Out upon a being claiming fraternity with man, who can thus descend to such means to obtain a debt, which at the most is less than $50. A good pair of boots and a good cowhide might be used with advantage, and it is only to shield him from such usage that we withhold his name to-day.

NEW YORK OFFICIALS,—On the 8th, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, the grand jury handed in seven indictments against city officials. Judge Sidney Stuart, and policeman Elder, are two of the parties indicted.—There are two indictments against Judge Stuart, one for receiving $500 from the wife of a culprit, for using his influence to get a nolle prosequi entered in his case, and the other for conspiracy with Elder to delay the trial of a thief. The Judge gave bail in $2500.

In the same court an attempt was made by the counsel of Herrick, one of the indicted Aldermen, to have the indictment quashed.—The matter is yet undecided. In the case of councilman Cooper, a nolle prosequi was entered, and the court directed that proceedings should be commenced against his accuser for perjury.

Miss Hensler made her first appearance for the season, at the Academy of Music this evening in the song of "Hail Columbia." She received an enthusiastic greeting.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 8.—The ship William Penn of New Bedford, from Chincha Islands for Baltimore, was wrecked off Hatteras Shoal on the 13th ult. Capt. Cole was saved by schooner C C Stratton, and arrived here yesterday. The Captain's wife, Dr C. T. Boterviue of Va, and seven men were picked up by the brig Marine, and were brought to Savannah. The 1st and 2d officers and seventeen men took a raft and have not since been heard from.

HABEAS CORPUS.—Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—An application was made in the U. S. District Court to day on the part of Jane Johnson, the former slave of Col. Wheeler, asking that the habeas corpus issued to Passmore Williamson, to bring herself and children into court, should be quashed. John M. Read for the petitioner asked that the petition be filed, contending that a habeas corpus must always be issued in behalf of the party whose liberty is restrained, and not for a party wishing to restrain another. The court adjourned before the completion of the argument.

CURIOSITY.—A correspondent writes us "there is quite a curiosity in Bangor, that is worthy of notice, in the form of a bed-cord made from the sinews of a whale. It was brought into this country in 1640, and has been in the possession of Uncle Tim. Colby 47 years, in constant use, and never was broken. It is as good as ever, and has been in the possession of the Colby family for two centuries.—Eastern Argus.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 64 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. The searching of the baggage, and sometimes the persons of passengers by the English steamers, is often quite amusing, and occasionally leads to queer developements.—The lace, &c., taken from the under garment of one of the female passengers, who was searched on the arrival of the America, on Friday night, filled a barrel. One old gentleman, belonging in Providence, had in his trunks pantaloons enough to clothe nearly half the people of his native city, besides a supply of handkerchiefs sufficient for his own use and his children's for generations to come. He was quite good natured while the investigation of his personals was going on, and was let off upon payment of $75. Another passenger had twelve dozen of kid gloves, which, he informed the incredulous officers, were for his own use. In former years large quantities of goods were brought to this country in this way by passengers without paying duty, but the smuggling business, on board the steamers at least, will, hereafter, be rather a difficult operation.

Sometime since, several fashionably dressed ladies, just arrived from Europe, were displaying to a male friend in the cars a number of very beautiful gold watches, and numerous other articles of jewelry, which they had managed to conceal on their persons from the inquisitive eyes of the officers. The ardor of their confidence was somewhat dampened, however, upon being informed that the gentleman in front of them happened to be a Custom house officer, who probably gained some wisdom in the ways of fashionably dressed female smugglers.—Boston Jour.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.
Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup
Try what you for one month, and then if you do not confess in favor of it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are true, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:
Read the following, it speaks for itself:
LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.
We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the other claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.
Our experience in this matter justifies us in confidently recommending it as the article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.
A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.
It cures Salt Rheum, Scrotula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly.) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Opinions of the Press.
It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.
An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.
The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.
In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.
Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.
The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the string; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.
I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.
I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and variety of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL. — The Charleston Mercury says:

Of the action of Massachusetts in abrogation of the Fugitive Slave Law, we have no complaint to make. It was from the first a miserable illusion; and worse, in fact it was an infringement upon one of the most cherished principles of Constitution, which provides that fugitives from labor, "upon demand shall be given up," but gives no power to Congress to act in this affair. The tenth amendment to the Constitution provides that "the powers not delegated to the United States are reserved to the States or to the people." The clause above confers no power, but is the naked declaration of a right, and the power not being conferred, results to the States as one of the incidents of sovereignty too dear to be trusted to the general government.

Our Southern members strove for the passage of the law, and strove honestly; but it shows the evils of our unfortunate condition, that, in the urgency of our contest with an aggressive adversary, we lose the landmarks of principle—to obtain an illusive triumph, we pressed the government to assume a power not conferred by the instrument of its creation, and to establish a precedent by which, in all after time, it will be authorized to assume whatever right may have no constitutional organ of enforcement; and wearied with so many efforts to confine the government to its limits of legitimate powers, we are pleased to have assistance from another quarter, and if the question be determined in her favor, we will sincerely rejoice in such a vindication of the Constitution.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.—One of the letter writers says:

Fashion has become a thing of more than usual magnitude. The ladies taking some hints, perhaps from the war, have so intrenched themselves in dry goods, that it is almost impossible to approach them. Their skirts are now worn so wide that more than two cannot walk abreast in Broadway. It is dangerous to meet one in the narrow streets. The authorities foreseeing the coming event, had with commendable prudence had some of the streets widened; but these improvements cannot from the nature of things keep pace with the increase in the nether garments of our fair belles. If you can fancy a sugar hogshead cut in twain, with a lady carefully fastened in at her waist, you will have some idea of the dear creatures that waddle along our thoroughfares.

We have now two Operas—English and Italian in full blast. Price of admission to the English fifty cents, to the Italian—which but few understand—two dollars. If they understood it better, perhaps they would value it less. Rachel has settled down to fair houses. It must be confessed that many more go to see her, than her performances. After the first act many retire every night, expressing themselves perfectly satisfied.

She is occasionally favored with a few cheap bouquets. On being called out the other night, amid the applause of the house, some one in the gallery becoming enthusiastic, threw one of those floral missiles and nearly hit her on the head. She bowed her thanks for the compliment, but when she retired she ordered one of the "supes" to go and pick up what that fool had thrown at her.

A CLAY TIMEPIECE.—M. Roby, of Paris, deposited in the Great Exhibition, at Paris, on the 22d August, where it was inspected by the Queen and Prince Albert, a timepiece, made entirely of clay. All the works, plates, cogs and wheels are made of aluminum; and M. Roby believes that it is much better for these purposes than the metals generally employed. It is much lighter, does not require so much power to conduct the wheels, and therefore, with a heavy balance, will obtain a better result of regularity. It is very hard and smooth when hammered, and the friction will be reduced to almost nothing.

MUSICAL CONVENTION IN PORTSMOUTH. In reply to numerous inquirers, in and out of the city, we will state that the second annual Convention of the Rockingham County Musical Association, will be held in Portsmouth, commencing on Tuesday, January 8th, 1856, and continuing three or four days and evenings—including at least one public concert. Prof. B. F. Baker will conduct the exercises, with vocal and instrumental assistance; and all who are interested in singing, will find it greatly to their interest and advantage to attend. The most ample arrangements will be made to insure full attendance, and to render the occasion pleasing as well as profitable—half-price tickets will be supplied to all members who come from abroad—and a larger musical gathering is expected, than has been held in this region for many years. Full particulars will be given in all the newspapers in this vicinity, in due season; and mention is made of the matter thus early, that those who wish to attend from abroad, may make arrangements to do so. It is designed to make the Association permanent, and to hold annual or semi-annual Conventions in different towns, as circumstances may make desirable.—Chronicle.

RUMPUS IN A GRAVE YARD.—A Catholic funeral, at Dorchester, yesterday, was the scene of a brutal fight, in which a police officer was savagely beaten. The man who struck the first blow was named Manning. The corpse buried was that of a man. One party of the friends wished to have it buried in the same grave in which was that of his wife, and another party, in the grave with his brother. From words they came to blows, over the yawning grave, and for some time the whole party, numbering nearly or quite 200, was in a precious rough and tumble fight. The noise attracted a police officer, and on his appearance among them, he was knocked down by the above named party, and "jumped" by others. The scene as described to us by an eye witness, was frightful in the extreme, and a disgrace to humanity. The Pilot has denounced the "Paddy funerals" as it terms them, repeatedly, and it has been the means of much good, but as it will be seen by this incident, long funerals and rows have not yet been entirely discontinued. God grant that they may be.—Charlestown Adv. Oct. 6.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1855.

BUSINESS AND BREAD.

It is a most desirable thing to have bread enough for all. This year we have it. It is also desirable to have it cheap. This we do not have as yet;—and it is not to be expected immediately. But we have something which is hardly less important to Portsmouth and vicinity, viz. a demand for ships. Herein is the wealth of our wealthy men; the constant work and good pay of our mechanics who are skilled in building and fitting out a ship,—and herein is the general prosperity of our port and city, and the surrounding towns.

A subject of such breadth as the prospective business for a year, belongs to a writer who has adequate means of knowledge, and who knows how to use them. Such a one is Freeman Hunt, Esq., of the Merchant's Magazine, who says in his last number,—The business of the country has become more animated, with a decided improvement in many important particulars. The revival of the shipping trade will give a fresh impulse to a large class of business operations. It is already felt in the market value of ships. The price of staunch old vessels has been advanced 20 per cent, while a long list of new vessels, some of which have been offered in the market for nearly a year, have at last been sold, and in many cases at $10 per ton more than was asked during the last spring and summer. This improvement is owing in part to the general revival of trade, in nearly all parts of the world, but especially to the demand for freight from our ports. Cotton comes forward earlier, and will be freely exported.

The great business of the next year, after cotton, is to be in breadstuffs. There is now no question but what the harvests of Europe have sadly disappointed the hopes of the people. In Germany the yield is far below the average, and the demand for rye from this country has already been active. Several cargoes have already cleared for Antwerp, and over a quarter of a million of bushels of rye have been contracted for to arrive at the seaboard for the same destination.

In France the grain crop is also deficient, and much excitement has already been felt there in regard to the future. We learn of engagements in the French markets for large deliveries of wheat and flour three or four months ahead, at very full prices. We doubt, however, if this business is well managed in that country. It is something so novel that the merchants appear to be always at one extreme or the other. Last year a large majority of the imports from this country, were neither suitable in quality nor landed at the proper season; while a great many cargoes sent out on French account were ordered to England for a market.

In Great Britain there is less said about any deficiency, but the crop is below an average, and the English must be heavy importers of breadstuffs. This was caused, not as many appear to suppose, by the rains of the summer, but by the severe cold of last winter. The thermometer was at zero for a considerable length of time, with unfavorable winds, and much of the wheat was winter-killed.—The demand for food for Europe is now directed to the United States.

Our own crops were somewhat injured in the gathering, owing to the wet weather, but the damage has been limited and local, while the actual yield is greater than ever before known in the history of the country. In the Genesee Valley, and in Ohio, where some of the best white wheat is raised, the damage is serious, but in most other parts of the country the injury is nominal. In the Far West and Northwest, the yield is enormous; and Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin, the last three especially, have raised wheat enough to feed the whole country, with a surplus to spare. The Canadian wheat, much of it very choice, will fully supply in our markets the deficiency of the Genesee.

What effect the foreign demand will have upon prices, it is yet too soon to determine. If no such demand had arisen, breadstuffs would have been lower throughout the country than for many years. If the crop now harvested could be sent at once to market, the export movement would only bring the market value up to paying prices. But the harvest, owing to the wet weather already noticed, was several weeks later than usual, and this brings the work of threshing, &c., too near to seeding-time for the farmer's convenience. Still the quantity already in movement is very large. The channels of communication, both by water and railroad, are becoming choked with the quantity on its way to market, and unless this movement is interrupted by an early frost closing navigation, or the exporters become excited, and bid upon each other, we see no reason to anticipate such prices as shall be uncomfortable for the home consumers.

Indian corn is promising beyond all former precedent; the warm weather during the first two weeks of September was of almost incalculable benefit to the crop, and unless something quite unexpected occur, the yield will be immense. This, of course, will not be available for the current season, but it brings out all the old corn, and thus the supply is far in advance of what even the most sanguine expected.

YORK COUNTY FAIR.

SACO, Oct. 9, 1855.

Editors Chronicle:—The Fair of the York County Agricultural Society, is at length in the full tide of successful experiment. The Managers feared that the postponement from last week, would so materially affect the receipts as to render the affair doubtfully successful, but as great pains were taken by the committee to thoroughly advertise the fact of the postponement, its effect has been rather to enhance the interest felt by the citizens of this county in the success of their Annual Fair.

In the brief time which has elapsed since my arrival, I have had little opportunity to examine the immense number of articles contributed, but an intelligent member of the Association informs me that the entries of Fruit, as well as the various products of the soil, far exceed in numbers, those of any previous year.

Of cattle, horses, sheep, swine, &c. the entries are few in number, but comprise many very fine specimens.

Of manufactured goods, the entries are numerous, and offer something like a fair representation of the extensive resources of York County, in this important particular.

The only exhibitors I have met from Portsmouth, are Dr Frank Fuller and Mr J. H. Thacher. Mr Thacher contributes a large quantity of his well known Charcoal and Orris Tooth Soap, which seems to be no stranger to the people of this section of Maine, large quantities, I am informed, being disposed of by the principal druggists of this place.

Dr Frank Fuller makes a splendid display of Dentistry, and here, as at the late Exeter Fair, attracts universal attention. An automaton head, with jaws moved by machinery, keeping in motion a set of splendid block teeth of the Dr.'s manufacture, is a novel feature of his display, and we found it so hemmed in by visitors as to render it very difficult of access. It is surrounded by thousands of elegant artificial teeth, and is withal the finest exhibition of the kind we have ever examined.

I regret to see indications of an approaching storm. Rain or shine, however, the thousands in attendance on the Fair, as well as the well lined tables, render it emphatically a success.

X.

SACO, Oct. 10.

The Managers of the Fair assure me that the receipts from sale of tickets far exceed those of any previous year. This is owing in part to the fact that the occasion gains new interest from the inauguration of the splendid new Hall in which the articles are exhibited, and a desire on the part of the public to examine its interior. It is really a fine structure, erected by a wealthy citizen, Mr Josiah Calef, and no pains has been spared in the decoration of the Hall. It is beautifully frescoed, exhibiting the peculiar skill of the Messrs Wisser, fresco painters, of Portland.

York county, and especially Saco, seems to me to excell in Fruit and Fancy Articles. I have never seen a finer display of apples, pears and plums, than those contributed by Messrs Wm. B. Curtis, Kennebunk; Augustus Hanscom, Eliot; Hampden Fairfield, Saco; Daniel Smith, Saco; T. Gordon, Saco; and Mrs M. A. Hayes, South Berwick. Mrs Hayes has, I understand, generously presented the whole of her contribution of apples to Mr A. A. Hanscom, a worthy member of the corps typographical, and editor of the Saco Democrat.

In Paintings, we observe some fine specimens. Miss Mary G. Thompson of South Berwick, contributes a variety of Grecian Paintings, which attract no little attention, and are really worthy of especial commendation. Mrs. John Hanscom of Saco, offers some very elaborate specimens of Grecian, Glass and Bronze pictures.

Dr. Julius Guttman of South Berwick, whom many of your readers will remember as late an assistant in the Dental establishment of Dr. Frank Fuller of your city, contributes specimens of the Dental art; which although far less extensive than those exhibited by your townsman, Dr. F., nevertheless receive due attention.

Mrs. Daniel Hanscom of Eliot, contributes an elaborate patch-work quilt, which attracts no little attention from the ladies.

Mr. E. H. McKenny of Saco, contributes a fine display of Daguerreotype and Stereoscopic pictures.

The address by Gen. Oliver, of Lawrence, Mass., is to be delivered this afternoon, after which the reports of the several committees and their awards, will be read.

I am stopping at the Saco House, and am much indebted to friend Cram, its gentlemanly landlord, for numerous attentions. X.

LOCAL.

PROLIFIC GROWTH.—In the garden of Charles Robinson, Esq., of this city, a single squash seed produced a vine measuring in all 1780 feet, bearing 30 squashes, weighing upwards of 300 lbs.

☞ We have received from E. H. Rollins, Esq. of Concord, Speaker pro tem of the last legislature of this State, through the hands of J. H. Thacher of this city, a bottle of Delight's Spanish Lustral for the Hair. It is highly recommended by those who have used it; and is advertised in our columns.

Accompanying the Lustral were several boxes of Thacher's celebrated Charcoal and Orris Tooth Soap, which is well known to be one of the best articles for the purification and preservation of the Teeth. It will be seen by our correspondence from Saco, that Mr. Thacher has a quantity of this article on exhibition at the York Co. Fair, where it will undoubtedly draw a premium, if it is within their rules to allow premiums to exhibitors from out of the State.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Times correspondent writes Mr. Buchanan has been instructed to request the recal of Mr. Crampton the British Minister, on account of his recent connection with the English recruiting movements in this country.

Late instructions to Mr. Buchanan embrace the entire application of the Monroe doctrine, and refer particularly to Dominica, Greytown, Cuba, and the Bay of Islands.

The New York Tribune anticipates suffering for the poor of that city the coming winter. It says that very many even now, are enquiring for chances to work for bread, "and not less than 10,000 capable and worthy men and women, living or staying within three miles of their office, are anxiously seeking for something to do," which number will be greatly increased as soon as the fall trade is over. "A great majority of them," it adds, "will hover around our soup kitchens, or come to anchor in the Alms House, before Christmas."

HOME MANUFACTURES!—The New York Economist, in an editorial upon the article of Lawns, cautions importers of dry goods to note the improvements which the United States are constantly making in the production of those style of goods which heretofore have been almost exclusively left to the foreign fabricant. The writer intimates that the evidence of one year's profit, on certain descriptions, is not to be relied upon for the following year's guidance in importations. The experience, industry and energy of our New England manufacturers, have removed every barrier thus far, in a wide range, which the longer applied effort and skill of another continent has set up. In the article of lawns, great improvements have been made not only in quality, but towards supplying an ample stock for the country. The Economist states that the Pacific Company made arrangements with the Portsmouth Company to print all their goods, say about 3,000,000 yards; the former are under a pledge to the latter not to import any for competition. The above goods were heretofore printed by Messrs. Dunnell of Rhode Island, who, as usual, we understand, will print the Hadley Falls goods, probably about the same amount. Mr. Robert Rennie will print nearly an equal quantity on imported cloths, which have been purchased at from 3s 6d to 4s, or say on an average of 3s 9d per piece. In addition to these large amounts of goods, an extensive importing house here, it is understood, has made arrangements with a British manufacturer to supply a large quantity of gray cloths to be printed here, so that, independent of any imports, we shall have a production of between ten to twelve million yards on this side. There can be no mistake as to the quality of the goods the above named establishments will turn out. The Messrs. Dunnell & Co., of Rhode Island, are the pioneers in their branch. The people of the United States are surely realizing the immense steps towards cheapening the cost of leading articles, which the slight protection to New England manufacturers has been the means of effecting.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—Georgia Election.—Returns from 93 counties in Georgia show 13,746 majority for Johnson (Democrat) for Governor, and 5237 majority for Andrews, K. N. Crawford's election in the 2d district secures six Democrats to Congress.

Sixteen negroes have just been emancipated by Arthur Allen of North Carolina.—They have gone to Ohio.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, may almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have flying proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE CANADA.

HALIFAX, Oct. 9.

The mail steamship Canada, from Liverpool Sept. 29, has arrived.

The allies are actively preparing for a campaign. From 300 to 400 deserters, most of them Poles, have arrived at the allied camp. They relate that the demoralization of the Russian army was most complete. The loss of the Russians is estimated at 18,000 men.

A correspondent of the Paris Patrie, under date of Sept. 26, says:—Ever since their retreat the Russians have continued to fire shells at us, and it would be a mistake to suppose that our armies in Sebastopol are beyond the range of the enemy's batteries on the northern shore and on the plateau.

The artillery and engineers in Sebastopol are everywhere at work. Fort St. Nicholas, which was left almost intact, has been fortified, and its cannon already replies to the enemy. Any attempt of the Russians to return to the place is wholly out of the question.

It was said the Czar would shortly visit Nicoloff to superintend the winter Crimean campaign.

A letter from Berlin, dated the 23d, says: "Various circumstances at St. Petersburg seem to indicate that Prince Gortschakoff will soon evacuate the forts to the north of Sebastopol, those forts being only stratagetic points, but great preparations are being made by the Russians for a winter campaign."

LATEST FROM THE CRIMEA.—St. Petersburg, Sept. 26.—Prince Gortschakoff reports, under date of the 23d inst, "that the allies had landed 20,000 men at Eupatoria, and that he has now 30,000 men on the Russian flank. Yesterday the allies attacked our infantry, who retreated to the heights over Rusta.

Another despatch says that on the previous day 30,000 of the enemy had debouched from Eupatoria, and occupied the neighboring villages on the left flank.

SEBASTOPOL, Sept. 16.—The Russians are fortifying the north part, and are constructing new batteries.

The French are advancing their cavalry and a column of infantry towards Bakshiserai by the Baidar road.

Sebastopol is to be razed, and the basins filled up.

On September 17th Gortschakoff reports that the allies have attempted nothing yet on the north side. The enemy is concentrating his forces between Balaklava and the Tchernaya, and constantly reconnoitres our left wing, from the Baidar valley.

WAR IN ASIA.—Despatches received from Vienna state that Kars is greatly in want of provisions, the garrison being obliged to eat horse flesh.

Advices from Trebizond, dated the 6th inst., announce that the Russians had abandoned Erzeroum, and are at Malagulemia.

NAPLES.—A circular has been given to the police authorities throughout the kingdom of Naples, saying that although Mazza has retired from office, the policy of the government will be the same, and that no change is to take place in the conduct of the police towards politically suspected persons.

By order of the King, the Minister of War, Prince Exhitalli, who opposed the arbitrary proceedings of Mazza, had also been dismissed.

AUSTRIA.—The Austrian government has caused the publication of the following announcement:

"The new state of things may give occasion to a diplomatic contest, or a sanguinary strife between Russia and the Western Powers, but will in no way affect the mediatory attitude of Austria.

LIVERPOOL, 28th, —Wheat, per 70 lbs., Genesee white 12s a 12s 6d; Ohio and other sorts, white 12s a 12s 6d; red and mixed 11s a 11s 9d. Flour, Western Canal and Canada superfine, 39s a 42s do. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Pennsylvania Election.—The scattering returns we have received from the city elections, indicate that in the Democratic wards the Administration majorities are largely increased, possibly enough to overcome the American majorities in the other wards.

A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. QUEEN VICTORIA AND THE LATE MR. HUME.—It is a very curious and interesting fact that the last letter written by the late Mr Hume, was to the Queen, informing her that he had a balance to pay into her hands, saved from the wreck of her father's property, of which the Duke had made him trustee.—About a dozen persons, among whom was Hume, had subscribed to pay off the Duke's debts, and Hume managed it all—he saved the Duke's credit, paid off all his debts, coaxed his property, allowed him to die a popular and respected man, and in clearing up his own affairs in the world, had a considerable balance to pay into the hands of his old friend's daughter.

This, of course, will astonish people, who could never have supposed the radical Hume on good terms with the Duke. But there was something more than that. He was on good terms with the Queen, who had, as a girl and woman, and Princess and Queen, the highest regard for him, and for whom he had the most unbounded respect. Well, he was not made a minister, but that was the aristocracy's fault—not the Queen's.—Yorkshireman.

CATHOLIC PRIESTS DECREASING.—The Catholic Herald of Philadelphia, lamenting the decrease of their priests, says, "that they cannot hope at present to supply their ranks from this country. One of the last pursuits Catholic parents, rich or poor, are likely to desire for their children, is the ministry of Roman Catholicism." It also states, that "while the main portion of the supply has been of Irish origin, that it is now on the decline, as every year brings less priests from that country, and less young men desirous of becoming priests, than the preceding year did."

Try it! Try it! Try it!
G. W. STONE'S
AND
Family Physic.
The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is much less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It not only produces all the effects where physic is required, but completely removes habitual costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels; Dysentery, Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—it needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies without success, despair not—relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with Scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from habitual Costiveness?—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the blood by the use of from one to six bottles. In short, if you require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

PRICE $1.00.

Patents.
AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington, State st., oppo. Kilby st. Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, (generally about 30 per cent. less than others in the profession,) but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, his visits to the Patent Office, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries, besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, secured through agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there was none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
Aug. 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq. of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Opinions of the Press.
It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.
An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Bee.
The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.
In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.
Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.
The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.
I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.
I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Piano.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

RELIANCE ON LAW.

The last number of the American Ballot contains the following first rate notice of Uncle Toby's course as a speaker and writer on temperance.

UNCLE TOBY ON PROHIBITIVE LAW.—After much evasion, Uncle Toby of the Chronicle, has fully committed himself, as follows. It is of little consequence, but some people are anxious to learn the views of all great reformers. In the Chronicle of Wednesday last (he may have changed his views since) he said—

"The lack of truthfulness, of honesty, of openness, of sincerity, of temperance, of christian self-denial, is seen and felt at every step, when men try to "promote temperance," or any good thing, by the force of law. We learned, long ago, to rely but little on any human enactments, for the promotion of any virtue."

What wonderful profundity! Demolish your prisons, and repeal all laws for the punishment of sinners, all of which display "lack of honesty and self denial," and trust to the power of Uncle Toby's preaching for the reformation of mankind.

Well, says Uncle Toby, that full committal is about the smallest mouse that I ever saw creep out of a mountain so large as the American Ballot. Do hold him up and let us look at him.

What does the committal amount to?

So far from changing his views on this subject, or the expression of those views, he has maintained them in substance in public addresses and public papers these twenty years. During that period he has probably brought this sentiment before more than twenty thousand people in temperance discourses; and as an editor of the Washingtonian and other papers, has probably written and published them an hundred times. He had discussed and defended them at length within a few months, in an article entitled, What the law cannot do.

But though the committal is so small—the non sequitur with which the Ballot follows it, is as gross as a mountain.

Because Uncle Toby relies but little on a law —therefore says the Ballot, repeal it.

Uncle T. objects to this conclusion on two accounts. First, because it is unfair; and secondly because it is unsound.

It is unfair; because in the same paragraph with the quotation above, and immediately following, there is a sentence or two which show such a respect for the laws and such a limited and reasonable reliance thereon, as to contradict any imputation of a desire to disobey or repeal them.

The sentences in the Chronicle, stood together thus:

We learned, long ago, to rely but little on any human enactments, for the promotion of any virtue. The best that any such statute can do, is to punish an offender for some overt act of wickedness, and thereby keep some other wicked man in check. We hope the new legislature of Maine will make the best laws ever devised by man.

The great conclusion of the Ballot is unsound, because it does not follow from Uncle Toby's premises, as quoted, even if his discourse had closed with the word Virtue, with which the Ballot's quotation is closed.

To make this plain, let us take an example where the word rely is applied to some other subject.

To rely, means, to rest on something—implying dependence, &c.

In the war with Great Britain, of 1812—15, our coast was lined with British cruisers, and threatened with intrusions and ravages. We had, in this port, a ship of the line building, a frigate laid up for safety, 100 vessels at the wharves, privateers fitting out, &c. There was danger that the enemy might rush in unawares and burn them, and perhaps the town also.

We had two good forts, Constitution and McClary, at the mouth of the harbor, garrisoned by one or two hundred regular soldiers. Yet we soon learned to rely but little on them, for our safety.

What then? Did we demolish these brick forts, spike the great guns, and send away the soldiers? No. We kept them all, and relied on them as much as we could;—but we also went to work, Uncle Toby and all the schoolboys with the rest, and rebuilt Forts Washington and Sullivan, of earth and turf, planted little batteries on Jerry's point, Rye and Kittery, turned out a whole brigade of militia and volunteers, and were on duty as minute men all the summer and fall, until grim winter cleared the coast of the foeman's ships.

Now to return to law, but to take some other laws than the law against intemperance. Uncle Toby has read certain statutes against theft and adultery. Yet he relies but little on them for the promotion of those valuable and beautiful virtues called honesty and chastity. He knows that the most and the best they can do, is now and then to punish an offender for some wicked act,— and that very often they do not and cannot do that, but the rascals go clear, through some hole in the law, or some bribery, perjury or negligence; through faulty complaints, flawy indictments, crafty pleas and soft juries. Or they take leg bail and go elsewhere.

Does Uncle T. or the Ballot, or any body dream of repealing the laws on these accounts? We think not.

Yet they all believe that the moral means, the fire-side and the nursery, the Sunday and week-day schools, the churches, the good examples and precepts every where, form the moral character, and promote the moral virtues, better than all laws.

In this we see no inconsistency:—thankful for all that human laws can do in restraining evil,—we look to higher laws, higher powers, higher principles, to promote the moral virtues.

And if the church and the world are not both at fault, the foolishness of preaching has often moved the masses. Of this the Washingtonian effort was a striking instance:—and however strange it may seem to the Ballot—large and attentive assemblies listen with interest to temperance lectures and sermons, even at the present day.

Morning Chronicle.

LETTERS FROM GERMANY.—No. 7.

HEILIGENHOUS, Sept. 3, '55.

Messrs. Editors:—Allow me to turn aside from my description of Bonn, in order to give you a few items of passing events. The place from which I now address you is a quiet country village, lying in lat. 52 N. in the midst of a very beautiful and fertile farming district. The country is hilly, I may say very hilly. For miles around there is not a plain a quarter of a mile in extent, neither in the valleys nor on the hill-tops; while the latter are frequently two or three hundred feet above the former. From some of these hill-tops landscape views can be obtained beautiful enough to charm even a New Englander.—The summer in all this region, and indeed throughout Europe, has been a very cold one. We have not had half a dozen days of what Portsmouth people, (and I think they are very sensitive to heat,) would call warm days this summer. The consequence is, I have shivered with the cold nearly all the time. This morning at 8 o'clock the thermometer stood at 11° Reaumar, equal to 57° Far., and it was no colder than many mornings we have seen during the past three weeks. We have also had a great deal of rainy weather, and it has been very difficult for farmers to harvest their crops in good order.

Rye was cut about four weeks ago, a good yield. Wheat is now nearly all in, a fair crop but by no means great; and the farmers are harvesting their oats and barley. The yield of oats will be very good indeed, considerably above the ordinary average, although they were very much injured in some sections by a severe hail storm about a week ago, which not only laid standing grain flat upon the earth, but broke a fearful amount of window glass, and did other damage, to fruit trees, &c. In this immediate neighborhood no glass was broken, nor any damage done except to oats. On these the Corn Insurance Companies, after an examination, have agreed to pay to the farmers one ninth of the value of what remains, reckoned at the market price. This, you perceive, allows a loss one tenth of the crop. If one tenth is lost here, where the storm was so light, the aggregate loss must be considerable. It is said that the insurance companies will not make much this season. Provisions have been very dear here since last spring, and still continue to notwithstanding the harvest is now nearly past.

I find the following "prices current" in an Elberfelt paper of Aug. 31st. (I have reduced quantities and prices to U. S. standards.) Wheat, 1st quality, $3.49 per bush; 2d qual. $3.42; 3d qual. $3.35. Rye, 1st qual. $2.40; 2d qual. $2.33; 3d $2.30. Barley $1.40; Oats 93 cts; Hay $15.50. While prices are so high here, and the prospect so good that they will continue so, a very remarkable report has recently been circulated here from Russia. A gentleman, having relatives in this neighborhood, returned a few weeks since from Moscow. He stated that at the time of his leaving, Rye was selling in Moscow for 11 1-2 cents per bushel, and provisions of all kinds very abundant and exceedingly cheap. Of course I do not vouch for the truth of this statement, but give it as it comes to me. One thing, however, is well known to every body; that while other parts of Europe do not raise their own supply of breadstuffs, Russia, when allowed to do so, supplies them from her granaries. That commerce is now cut off by the war, Russia's corn remains at home, and other portions of Europe starve for the want of it. It is not impossible that such a difference in the price of breadstuffs should exist between the two countries, yet we would scarcely look for it so soon. The effect this state of things must have upon the war is easily seen. Russia sustains her armies by the products of her own soil at a slight cost to the government, while England and France must empty their treasuries into foreign laps.

I find the sympathies of most, though not all of the Germans, are with the Allies in reference to the war, but all seem highly pleased that they are permitted to maintain a neutral position. It seems to be a very general opinion here that the United States are in favor of Russia. The circumstance of several thousand revolvers from the U. S. being recently found stowed in bales of cotton directed to Warsaw, has created a great deal of talk here. All the German papers that I have yet seen, and I have seen several, seem to take great pains to circulate every thing they can find that is prejudicial to our Government. I find the Know Nothings are as great a terror to such Germans as have contemplated going to America, as the Abolitionists have been made to some slaves at the South, by the representations of their masters.

The New York Herald is the paper most fancied by German editors, and only such extracts made as serve to show us up in the worst possible light. However Uncle Sam need not grieve over it. If the present high prices prevail here a year or two, and the prices come down there, as you all prophecy, the tide of emigration will soon swell again. I have found several here who have friends in America, and many others who are very restless and anxious to go there. I have also seen a few who have spent a few years in the United States and have returned. A very singular circumstance respecting them is, that all (except one who intends to go back again,) have lived in the Southern states. I wonder how it happens?

YORK COUNTY FAIR.

SACO, Oct. 11.

Contrary to every indication, the weather has continued beautiful, and the Fair and Cattle Show is approaching a favorable termination. The visitors of to-day have far outnumbered those of yesterday, and the receipts at the ticket office have been large.—One of the managers, desirous of ascertaining the number of visitors to the hall in a given time, counted them as they passed, and the result of several hours' attention, proved that no less than 600 persons per hour visited this portion of the exhibition. In the evening, the elegant ball was brilliantly lighted with gas, and its amply covered and tastefully arranged tables, with its crowded walks, presented a bright and beautiful appearance, while the well selected and appropriate music of Cobb's Cornet Band fell harmoniously upon the ear; and thus the senses of sight and hearing were alike delighted and refined.

At the Plowing Match a noticable feature was the skilful management of ox-teams by two of the competitors, both lads, aged about eleven years, and residents of Saco. One named John M. Deering, exhibited all the nonchalance of a veteran teamster, and his skill elicited hearty cheers from the by-standers. In the award of premiums, he was especially mentioned by the committee, and received the second premium. The other lad, a son of Mr Samuel Milliken, divided the applause with young Deering, and also received a premium.

Three Irishmen, residents of Saco, entered the lists to compete for superiority in the noble art of Spading. Pieces of land, each containing a like number of square feet, were staked off, and the competitors entered upon their duties of thoroughly digging up or spading a good sized house lot. The young man named McCollum, to whom the first premium was awarded, completed his task in 22 minutes, and considered himself well repaid for his labor. The other competitors were respectively 29 and 42 minutes in performing a like task. This being an exhibition of human strength and skill, elicited no little attention, and some smart joking was bandied by the crowd, falling chiefly upon the head of that unfortunate son of Erin, who was so signally distanced by his companions.

Premiums were awarded to Mrs M. A. Hayes of South Berwick for the best display of apples; and to Mr Augustus Hanscom of Eliot, for numerous varieties of fruit.

Hon Rufus McIntire of Parsonsfield, contributes a mammoth Squash, weighing 52 lbs. for which he was awarded a premium. Mr E. P. Freeman of Saco, received the highest premium for display of garden vegetables.

The committee on Fancy articles and incidentals, were unable to prepare their report before the close of the Fair, owing to the vast number of articles submitted to them; but we were informed that premiums were to be awarded to Dr Frank Fuller of Portsmouth, for his elegant Dental display, and Mr J. H. Thacher, of Portsmouth, for his contribution of Tooth Soap.

The Address, by Gen. Oliver, of Lawrence, Mass. was delivered in the Congregational Meeting-house, and was but thinly attended. It was an effort of considerable ability, and consisted mainly of a description of the principal points of difference between the successful and unsuccessful farmer. It contained many excellent practical suggestions, well fortified by facts. Somewhat rambling and discursive in its character, it yet contained many passages of rare beauty, and was very well received.

The annual dinner of the Society was held at the Saco House, and was got up in Mr Cram's best style. About 75 members of the society and invited guests, sat down to the well filled tables, and the excellent repast, followed as it was by speeches, sentiments, &c. was a feature in the day's proceedings which was apparently relished by all. Mr Cram is an excellent landlord and keeps a first class hotel, while his prices are never exorbitant.

The Fair closes on Thursday noon, and will doubtless have passed off in an eminently satisfactory manner. Such occasions are interesting, alike to visitors and contributors, and are well calculated to call out the industrial resources of the people. In this instance the thanks of visitors as well as contributors are due to the worthy and gentlemanly managers of the Fair, who left nothing undone, which could add to the attraction or conduce to the comfort of all.

SEIZURE OF LIQUORS.

On Wednesday last, the City Marshal obtained information that two brothers, Edward and Andrew Goodrich were to receive a stock of liquors, and immediately made the necessary arrangements to obtain possession of it before it should be devoted to its intended purpose—that of drinking by the Irish, principally on Sundays.

This supply of liquor was exceedingly unfortunate. It was to come from Boston over the Boston & Maine and P. & C. Railroad as far as Greenland, and to be brought the balance of the way in a wagon.

The first misfortune was from careless handling on the part of the freight men on the railroad, who, not knowing that the "crater" was concealed in bags, tumbled the "old clothes" from the cars, and one bag and the keg inside burst, and about five gallons were lost. The remainder arrived in safety and was equitably divided between the two brothers.

On Thursday, the Marshal with his writ, first went to the shop of Edward, and succeeded in obtaining legal possession of his portion, about 20 gallons. After completing this job he started for the shop of Andrew in McDonough street, to rehearse the same performance. Andrew, having had some dealings with the Marshal in the same line, concluded that he would spill his part to save it, and before the writ could be put on, Goodrich and his wife went at the kegs with hammer and axe, and the whole invoice was drank up by the thirsty ground. Andrew then left through the back window, and was last seen heading towards the plains.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—A communication was received from the Chief Engineer advising that the wells at the alms house be repaired for use in case of fire—referred;

Also that a gas light be located at the corner of Court and Middle streets—granted.

The members of the Rockingham Co. Bar petitioned that gas be put into the Court House—referred.

The matter of extending the sidewalk east from Mr Ball's house at the creek, was taken up, and it was voted that the work be commenced immediately, the conditions of the city having been complied with.

A petition was received from some of the heavy citizens, asking that the crossing in front of the North Church, be moved to the north corner of the church—referred.

In the Common Council no quorum was present.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—The house and land No. 8 Jefferson street, belonging to the estate of Thos. Moulton, was sold on Thursday, by Geo. W. Towle, at auction, for $550. Reuben Randall was the purchaser.

The lot on the corner of Church and State streets, belonging to the same estate, with the blacksmith shop and hay scales, was sold to Brackett Hutchings for $1575.

LAUNCH.—A beautiful schooner of 135 tons, built by Arad Tibbetts, on Noble's Island, was launched on Thursday. She is owned by Washington Freeman, Chas. Walker, Thos. Odiorne, Lafayette Laighton and others. She is to be named the W. Freeman.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK for October has been received from R B Marsh of this city, who is agent for the work, as well as for many other popular monthlies. The Book is fully and beautifully illustrated in all that relates to the Fall fashions for Ladies, with particulars for the making up of various kinds of fancy articles for dress. The frontispiece is a spirited engraving on steel of "Cromwell's last interview with his favorite Daughter." The reading matter comprises a great number of well written articles.—This number will compare favorably with its predecessors.

LIQUOR CASES.—A clerk for Manassah Perkins was arraigned this afternoon before the Police Court, on a charge of selling liquor. The complaint was made by a man named Heath, from Hampstead, who was the only evidence. The respondent was bound over in the sum of $200, to appear at the next term of the Supreme Court.—Manchester American, 9th.

One Thomas Wooley got drunk last Saturday, and for the sake of slipping his own head out of the noose, "disclosed" that he bought liquor at two different times on that day of Franklin Cassidy. By acting out the spirit of a traitor he saved the usual of $2 and costs $3,49. Still, by this act he may have closed a miserable place.

Cassidy was ordered to give bonds in one case for $200, and the other $300, and for want of sureties was sent to Amherst Jail.—We should not think strange if both of them ought to go there, but of that we have no proof except in reference to Wooley.—Manchester Mirror.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or Throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10. Pennsylvania Election.—The Democratic ticket in this city for Sheriff, Register, Clerk Orphan's Court and Canal Commissioner, is elected by majorities ranging from 1,000 to 2,300. The Democratic Senate and Assembly ticket in the old county is elected by over 1,000 majority. Two American and two Democratic Assembly men are elected in the city. This result was brought about by the union of all the opponents of the Know Nothings and the prohibitory law upon the Democratic ticket. In Berks county the Democratic majority is about 4,000. W. H. Keine, the Know Nothing candidate for the Senate, has 200 majority in Reading. In Bucks county, a Democratic gain of 1,250. In Cumberland county the Democratic gain is 100. Wayne county gives Plummer (Dem.) about 500 majority. Susquehanna county gives 500 majority for Nicholson. Alleghany county (entire), the Democratic ticket is elected beyond a doubt. The Sheriff has 300 majority, and the remainder of the ticket about 800 majority.

Political returns from Bedford county show a slight Democratic increase. Columbia county gives a majority of 700 to 900; Dauphin county gives a Democratic majority of 800, with five townships to hear from. Montgomery county gives 800 Democratic majority.

Three towns in Wayne county give Plummer 295 majority. Four towns in Luzerne give Nicholson, Fusion, 22; Plummer 217 majority. One town in Columbia gives Nicholson 178. In seven towns in Susquehannah, Nicholson is 340 ahead.

MARYLAND ELECTION.—Baltimore, 10th.—Eight American, and twelve Democrats have been elected to the City Council, a gain of six Democrats. On the popular vote the Democrats have about one thousand majority. A year ago the Americans had 2700.

Camden, N. J., 10th.—Rebecca Davis was found guilty of murder in the first degree, to-day, for throwing her infant from a steamboat, while crossing the river some months since. She pleads insanity.

OHIO ELECTION.—Cincinnati, Oct. 10th.—Trimble, the K. N. candidate for Governor, has received a larger vote than was anticipated. The contest between Chase and Medill is very close, but the returns this morning favor Chase.

Second Dispatch.—P. M.—Chase is elected Governor by nearly 10,000 majority. The Democrats concede his election.

WASHINGTON, 11th.—The Union of this morning publishes despatches from Cincinnati which claim the election of Medill by a majority of 15,000.

BALTIMORE, 11th.—The fever has nearly disappeared from both Norfolk and Portsmouth.

DEATH OF DR. KANE.—The Boston Traveller states that a fishing vessel brings news of the expedition sent out in search of Dr. Kane, and the melancholy intelligence of the death of that intrepid investigator. The fishing vessel reports having spoken, in lon. 64 40, lat. 42 50, the propeller Arctic, in company with barque Relief, one of the vessels having on board the remains of Dr. Kane.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—It was in schooner Matilda, Capt. Eager, of Bangor, that the fugitive slave, alluded to yesterday, arrived. He was taken on board at Jacksonville, Florida, with the consent of the mate, named Doe, who, upon the arrival of the schooner here on Saturday, relented, and undertook to send the slave back in the schooner Gazelle. This fact coming to the knowledge of Mr. Wendell Phillips and other anti-slavery gentlemen, a writ of habeas corpus was obtained from the Supreme Court, and placed in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Irish. Proceeding to the vessel, the officer could find nothing of the slave, and was told curtly by the mate that he was "gone." The Sheriff, after much search, found the slave on board the Gazelle, and transferred him to a carriage. He was declared to be a free man, and was at once despatched to Canada. Yesterday the Sheriff made return on the writ of habeas corpus to the effect that no colored man as described was found upon the vessel named in the writ, nor was the master of said vessel to be found; hence, the requisition to have the man "restrained of his liberty" before the Court could not be complied with.—Boston Courier.

BREADSTUFFS.—On Friday last the immense quantity of 12,600 bbls. Flour, 50,000 bushels wheat, and 45,000 bushels corn, arrived at New York city by the North River boats alone. In addition to this, the Erie Railroad brought down a very large amount. The sales of wheat alone, in New York, for the three days ending Oct. 5, amounted to 248,600 bush. and of Flour, 73,000 bbls. The price, however, keeps up, owing to the number of foreign buyers in the market. With the present price of Flour, at a dollar a barrel freight from New York, shipments to Europe pay a handsome profit.

There was an important advance in Flour, on Monday, at New York, of 25 cents a barrel, as announced by telegraph. Upwards of 31,000 barrels were taken principally by French merchants who arrived in the last steamer, and who bought largely last week. They paid, $8 37 to 8 50 for the most common brands, and 9 25 to 9 75 for extra.

Wheat also advanced Monday 5 to 10 cts. per bushel, with an excited market, 125,000 bushels being sold, also principally for export to Europe, at $1 80 to $2 per bushel for red and $2 to $2 20 for white, according to quality.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 54 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum.—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be the Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.
will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:
Read the following, it speaks for itself;
LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.
We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.
Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as THE article, and is the only one known to us as performing all it claims.
A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.
It cures Salt Rheum, Scrotula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Barns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face, leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.
Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

G. W. STONE'S
ELIXIR.
THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all Affections of the Throat and Lungs and begs of those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXER a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal.—It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion that no family should be without this Medicine; let Mothers give it to their Children who have the Whooping Cough or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones. Price 50 cts.
Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name, and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass., are blown upon the Bottle, without which none will be genuine.

Opinions of the Press.
It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.
An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone and purity of tone.—Boston Herald.
The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.
In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.
Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.
The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.
I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.
I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Piano.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

TO MY FRIEND JOHN.

I know a young maiden, soft as the dawn,
With footsteps the lightest that trip o'er the lawn;
Her form is the fairest that nature could trace,

Possessions are hers of a value untold—
Far rarer than jewels, more precious than gold;
A glance in the depths of her eyes' tender light,
Reveals to you treasures so sparkling and bright.

This beautiful maiden is not an ideal—
Endowed with true purpose, her heart is the shrine
Of every pure feeling and virtue divine.

If you doubt, and believe not the truth of my song,
O leave far behind you the city's great throng;
And if you have manhood, affection and pride,

Eliot, Oct. 7th, 1855. P. B.

ELECTION RIOT IN KANSAS.—A correspondent of the Cleveland Leader, dating from Leavenworth, states that on the 1st of October, the date appointed by the bogus Legislature for the election of delegates to Congress, Missourians came over there in armed bands. The motley crowd of voters, composed of Missourians, recently arrived Virginians and drunken Indians, were addressed by pro-slavery speakers from the steps of the hotel, and they went in a body to record their votes.

As the day advanced and night approached, they became more noisy, turbulent and overbearing. They marched through the streets bespattered with mud, swearing, yelling, swinging their hats, and asking, 'where are the d—d abolitionists?' 'Let's cut the d—d white livered Yankees' throats!'

Mr James Furnam was passing the hotel, when he was hailed by the fellows, and asked why he did not vote. He replied because he did not consider the election legal.

The crowd gathered around him, and began to cry out, Hang him! Lynch him!—Tar and feather the d—d yankee! One of the mob then seized hold of him. Mr Furnam being a quick, powerful man, turned round, and knocked his assailant down and fled. They gave chase, but could not overtake him. One of the desperadoes shot at him with a rifle. The ball pierced his hat, but did not hurt him, and striking a house, went through it and killed a child. The mother ran out and shrieked murder! help! The neighbors came to her assistance. The free state men armed themselves. In the mean time another citizen had been insulted in the street, knocked down and stabbed.—His name was Newman. He died this morning. About a hundred free state men well armed, formed in a body and marched towards the hotel; but the Missourians had decamped. They pursued them to the river, and one of the bloody villians has felt cold lead.

THE EUROPEAN BELLIGERENTS.—The N. Y. Times of yesterday has the following:—

Our Washington correspondent telegraphs this afternoon that the President has requested the British government to recal their Minister, Mr. Crampton, for alleged violation of our neutrality laws, in attempting to raise recruits for the allied armies against Russia, in the United States. The offence of Mr. Crampton might have been pardoned if he had only succeeded in furnishing the succor referred to. He would then have stood on equal footing with some of our own people who did succeed, and in equal violation of neutral faith, in giving large aid and comfort to the allies in the shape of supplies contraband of war. For now that the transaction is of the past, and Sebastopol has fallen, by the combined means of French and English valor and Yankee powder, we presume we violate no confidence in stating from well authenticated rumor that two or three thousand tons of American-made powder, from the most approved mills of Delaware and Connecticut, have been shipped from this port to the order of British official agents, to the Crimea. The Russian government may be somewhat surprised at the magnitude of the supply, but will scarcely make it the ground of diplomatic remonstrance, knowing that partial shipments of the same sort were made to Antwep or Hamburg, to be sent overland through Germany for Russian use.

IGNORANCE AMONG THE FASHIONABLES.—A correspondent of the Cleveland Herald, writing from Saratoga Springs, gives an illustration of supreme ignorance in a fashionable visitor at that place, who wore a "dress with four flounces, each one costing one hundred and eighty dollars," which is well calculated to give sport to the poor but intelligent. She was in conversation with a gentleman of limited accomplishments. The writer says:—"He, wishing to show off his extensive reading, made some classic allusion to Scott's Bride of Lammermoor, when he was interrupted by his fair companion, who innocently inquired, with great eagerness, when the Bride of Lammermoor arrived, and at what hotel she was stopping."

The increase of the Free States of the West continues to be very large. There is not one of them which does not bid fair to become exceedingly populous. Illinois and Indiana have each over a million of inhabitants, while Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa have each over half a million. The soil in all these States is excellent and the influx of settlers rapid. In the last five years Wisconsin has added 270,000 to her population, and now has 575,000 Iowa has increased still more largely. Judging from present appearances, each of the States we have named seems likely to possess, not long hence, a population equal to that of Ohio.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1855.

DR. KANE RETURNED.

Not only has Dr. Kane's body come back, but he has returned from the Northern Seas alive and well, with his party, having lost three men only, but having endured great hardships.

The propeller Arctic and the barque Rescue, which sailed from New York in June in search of Dr. Kane and his followers, returned to that port on Thursday evening, having on board Dr. Kane and his party. The propeller and barque made their way north in Smith's Sound to lat. 79 30, when they were stopped by ice, and working their way in shore to find a passage, discovered an Indian village, south of which Dr. Kane and his party had gone. They then returned to Disco's island in Davis Straits, where they found the Kane expeditionists. It appeared that Dr. Kane pushed his vessel as far north as 81, where she was frozen in and remained all winter. From that point he sent to the Indian village before mentioned, about 80 miles south, for provisions, which were supplied by the inhabitants. In the spring they abandoned the ship, and made their way southward in sledges until they reached the town of Upernavick, a Danish settlement on the West coast of Greenland, from whence they were conveyed in a Danish vessel to the island of Disco, where they were found by the searching expedition.

Three of Kane's party died from exposure, namely: Pierre Schubert, cook, and Jeff, and Baker, seamen. The remainder were more or less frost-bitten. On the 4th of Sept. the barque Rescue narrowly escaped shipwreck, by coming in contact with an iceberg, which stove her bulwarks and carried away her boats. The two vessels were fast in the great pack for several days, and thought they were frozen in for the winter, but succeeded in getting out. Last winter was unusually severe in the Arctic regions. Many natives perished from exposure and starvation, and had to eat their dogs, the extreme cold having prevented hunting expeditions. No traces were discovered whatever of Sir John Franklin and his party.

Left New York on May 30, and arrived in Lievely, Isle of Disco, (Greenland) July 5. Coasted along the shores of Greenland from Holsteinburgh to lat 78 38 N., touching at Lievely, Hare Island, Upernavick, Hakuyat Island, Cape Hatterton, and other places on the coast. Were 28 days in boring through the pack in Melville Bay; thence crossed Davis Strait, went up Lancaster Sound as far as Admiralty Inlet, where they were opposed by a solid pack, which entirely stopped their progress. Thence they proceeded down the western coast, examining Possession and Pond's Bay. Were fast in the great Middle Pack for several days, to all appearance for the winter. In lat. 69 39, lon 63 30 W., spoke English whale ship Eclipse, of Peterhead, bound to Cumberland Inlet; had taken three fish—all well—and arrived at Lievely on their return, after having entirely circumnavigated the north waters as far as the ice would permit. On the 30th of Sept. they there found Dr. Kane and his associates, with the exception of the three who had died from exposure.

ALCOHOL.

The Eastern Argus of Friday Oct. 5, contains an editorial Dissertation on "Alcohol—Its Use and Abuse," from which we make the following brief extracts.

The utility of alcohol for mechanical and chemical purposes, is not questioned, and we are not aware that in this department it is liable to any abuse which needs a legal corrective. Probably not less than two hundred thousand dollars' worth of the article is annually consumed in this State for these purposes, and it is not easy to see what good reason there can be for prohibiting the manufacture of it in the State. * * * * * *

$200,000 is a pretty large sum; as alcohol is quoted in this week's Boston price currents from 84 to 92 cents, we will call the average 88 cents—it will buy 227,159 gallons.

This quantity, and this sum of money, will cover all the statements that we have ever seen made, of the Agency Sales in Maine. We have before this, analyzed several of those statements; and have never yet seen any one that we considered incredible or even extraordinary. And now the Argus, a well-informed paper on this subject, bears us out completely in this matter.

Now let us hear the Argus further.

What sound objection there can be to the manufacture in this State, of a quantity sufficient for our wants, instead of procuring it from abroad, as is now done, we confess our inability to discover; and unless such objection can be shown, we think the manufacture of alcohol under proper limitations and regulations should be permitted. Under the control of our own laws, and subject to the inspection of a proper officer, we could be completely protected from the exorbitant prices, and the outrageous impositions in regard to quality, which our community are now obliged to submit to.

We come to the conclusion, therefore, that to counteract and remedy the effects of debility, or over-exhaustion, the decay of old age, as well as a large class of active diseases, alcoholic liquors, pure, and properly administered, are a highly valuable and perhaps indispensable remedial agent; while their use by young persons, in the full vigor of sound health, is necessarily detrimental—is an abuse, producing over-action of the system, and finally if persisted in, its complete destruction. Intoxication, or a sensible effect upon the head, is always an indication of an over-dose—an excess in the quantity taken, which converts it into poison, and will bring with it the disastrous effects of a poison.

A law, therefore, should guard as far as possible, the purity of liquors, and provide for their use as remedial agents—at the same time it should discourage and restrain so far as possible, all thoughtless, unnecessary and injurious consumption of an article so liable to abuse, and the abuse of which entails so wide-spread and terribly disastrous results.

These sentences call for a State of Maine Distillery for Alcohol as a medical and chemical agent;—condemn and proscribe the use of it as a drink;—and advocate a law to discourage and restrain the injurious consumption.

They will bear no other construction. The proposed law might be called license or prohibitory,—but it must be restrictive, and therefore liable to the usual objections against all such laws.

U. S. Circuit Court.—The U. S. Circuit Court for the District of New Hampshire, has been in session the present week, at Exeter; Judges B. R. Curtis and Harvey presiding.

The action U. S. vs. the sureties on the official bond of C. W. Cutter, formerly Navy Agent at Portsmouth, was tried. Certain questions were reserved for consideration.—It is understood that judgment for $10,000, or upwards will be given against the sureties.

The case of Sarah Elliot against the town of Hollis, for injuries caused by a defective highway in Hollis, was tried, and a verdict rendered for defts.

Wm. Valentine, 2d mate of ship Granite State, was convicted of an assault upon a seaman named Edward McNulty, at sea, on the 27th Aug. and sentenced to 30 days imprisonment.

The remainder of the docket was disposed of without trial, and the court adjourned on Thursday evening.

Change.—The Amesbury Villager states that Rev. Mr Medill, pastor of the Freewill Baptist Church in the Village at Amesbury and Salisbury Mills, has dissolved his connection with that denomination, and joined the Calvinistic Baptist Church in the same village.

Syracuse, Oct. 10.—The Liquor Dealers' State Convention, and the Anti-Prohibitory State Convention, met here yesterday, and after some separate action, and the adoption in the latter convention of the tickets previously agreed upon, by the former, the two conventions agreed to fuse.

A convention of the Choctaws or Seward K. Ns. was in session here to-day. The proceedings were private, but it is understood that all the difficulties heretofore existing between that body and the Know Somethings were settled, and a fusion effected.

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 11.—The General Assembly of Vermont convened to-day. The House was organized by the election of G. W. Grundy, republican, as Speaker, by a vote of 176 to 42 for all others; and J. M. Slade, republican, clerk, by a vote of 180 to 36.

An Aeronaut Supposed to be Lost.—On Tuesday afternoon of last week, Mr Winchester made an ascension in a balloon from Norwalk, Ohio, and on the Friday following he had not been heard from. The balloon took a north-easterly direction, and it is feared that the daring voyager either descended in Lake Erie, or that the intense cold of the upper regions froze him to death. When he started, he said he intended to go higher and further than any aeronaut had ever dared to think of going.

Norfolk and Portsmouth. — Letters from Norfolk of the 8th state that the yellow fever has ceased to attack the citizens. No new cases have been reported since the 4th.—There was a white frost on the morning of the 8th, which it was hoped would put a final stop to the pestilence. At Portsmouth, affairs begin to assume a cheerful aspect, although still very lonely and dreary. At one time last month, there was not a store of any kind open in town—the Charity Store excepted; now, there are ten to fifteen large retail stores doing business.

Gov. Johnson has fixed on the 15th day of November as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, in view of the pestilence that has visited a portion of the State. The Richmond Enquirer says this is the first time since the Revolution that the Governor of Virginia has done such an act.—Boston Trans.

High Ground.—America is the only country on earth, that can possibly lay claim to the natural capital of the globe. The researches of Lieut. Maury have demonstrated that by wind and wave, it is down stream from our country to all the world; and that all nations must ascend to reach it. With an ocean on either hand, its power descends with celerity to every country on the sphere; and that too, from even the deepest interior of the country.

Superstition.—One of the superstitions of France is that a fire kindled by lightning cannot be extinguished, and that he who attempts to extinguish it will die within the year. The mayor of a country village has lately had to argue with his constituents on the subject during the late conflagration of a barn. He could only prevail upon ten men to assist him in pouring on water. The Insurance Company interested made a present of five francs to each of these ten for having risen above the prejudices of ignorance and an inadequate education.—Paris Letter—N Y Times.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

Mend Your Ways. — Messrs Editors:—Please to tell our City Fathers that they have suffered somebody to put a stumbling block in the way of their children, near the north west corner of the North Church. I stubbed my toes there last night; and some stranger will do the same or worse, I fear.—While they are talking about moving the old crossing, that used to go to the great doors of the old church,—ask them to take away the rock of offence,— and also to make one more crossing that we have needed ever since we lost the old Court House,—viz. from the south east corner of High street, to strike near the north west corner of Pleasant street.

Old Square Tops.

Bread League.—We learn that a company is forming in this city, for the purpose of purchasing flour at a lower price than it now selling for by our dealers. An agent is to be sent to Chicago, to purchase a quantity, and it is guaranteed by the managers of the affair that the flour shall be delivered in this city, at the depot or on the wharf, at not exceedin $8, 50 per brl.; the quality to be as good as that which was sold for $13, last winter.

☞ We have before us an apple raised on the farm of Capt. Geo. Ball, in Greenland, which measures 13 inches in circumference, and weighs 16 ounces.

☞ The Union Book Company are doing a large business at No. 4 Congress Block. Besides selling their books at a very low price, the proprietors make a present, more or less valuable, to every purchaser. We came across a book, which we have looked after for some time, and bought it for the sum of $1. The present we received was a valuable silver watch. Should the purchaser receive but a small present, he still gets more than his money's worth in the price of the book. Every thing is conducted fairly and honorably.

The South Carolina Standard opens the presidential question in a very decided manner, and intimates to Northern Democrats that it desires them to stand back while the South dictate the platform, and name the man. President Pierce exactly meets the views of the Standard:

"It is now pretty well ascertained that President Pierce is calculating his chances for a second term, and when the national convention shall assemble next summer at Cincinnati, it is very questionable whether they find a more available man. As the South will have to elect the democratic candidate, if elected, the South will be entitled to the nomination. And in the present confused state of party politics, I see no other course for the South to pursue, than to re-elect the man who has filled to the very letter, all his pledges to the South, and who has nobly stood by the constitution and the union."

A correspondent of the Builder suggests that the London houses should be roofed with thick glass instead of slates, so that the top part of the houses might be formed into conservatories, smoking-rooms, and observatories, instead of lumber rooms.

In early times the clergymen of Massachusetts were not allowed to perform the marriage service, which was made exclusively the business of the magistrate. In 1686, the General Court made proclamation, authorizing clergymen to solemnize marriage; but it was a long time before it became common to apply to them.

In Pennsylvania, the election was for a Canal Commissioner and members of the Legislature. The Democrats have carried the State by a large vote, receiving the aid of those who opposed to the prohibitive liquor law.

Railroad Accident.—The express train from Dunkirk on the Erie Railroad, ran off the track near Stockport on Tuesday night, in consequence of the neglect of the switch tender. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of this country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people,—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

ROMANCE vs. REALITY.

We have already given the Romantic view of the History of Mrs Robinson, alias Davis, alias Johnson. Now we give the reality, over Mr Johnson's own signature, from the Journal:

GREENLAND, Oct 2, 1855.

Mr. Brewster, Sir:—We notice in the last Journal an article, copied from the Newburyport Herald, respecting ourself, in which occur the expressions, "amiable (clever?) young man," "happy couple," "Brigham Young," &c. Will you permit the writer to say a few word in relation to the matter of the article, not to excite the pity of friends or to disarm the wit or malice of enemies. He does not feel the need of the one, and will not be moved by the other. In all the events of the last six months he was governed by what seemed to him a strict sense of duty. He married Mrs. Robinson openly, no more doubting her right to marry than his own. That he erred in so doing he now plainly sees. He should have insisted on seeing the divorce papers before marriage. Her persistence in the story of the divorce at a time when it seemed as if she might die suddenly, and the boldness of the proposal to be married at his own house in open daylight deceived him. Having married, as he supposed, lawfully, he could not see it his duty to abandon her, though charged with adultery, till she had an opportunity to prove her innocence. In neglecting "to provide for his household," he might prove himself "worse than an infidel." But for the conviction of his friends (he had no doubt) he determined to make every effort to obtain the proof of her divorce.—Letters were sent to California, and he sent by Jackson & Co.'s Express to New-York, to obtain a pocket-book deposited with a Mr. Hardingbrook, a lawyer of New York, for safe keeping containing as Mrs. R. asserted, a copy of her divorce papers. Mr. H. refused to deliver it. The writer then went to New York and called on him. He said that the pocket book was left with him, for Mrs. R. while she was sick, by another person, and that he could deliver it to no other person than the one who deposited it. Mrs. R. then called on Mr. Gee, another lawyer, and asked his advice as to what she should do to get possession of the book. He advised her to take no legal steps to obtain it, and that pocket book passed through Wm. Robinson's hands before the writer saw it some months afterwards.—Mr. Gee told him that he was in the California Court at the time Mrs. R. obtained a bill of divorce against Wm Robinson, expressed much surprise that he (Robinson) should have brought a suit, and stated his willingness to come to Portsmouth and testify in the Court. In travelling south and west the writer met a number of returned Californians, not one of whom denied the divorce. He met Shannon, the present Gov. of Kansas, among others, who boarded with her a long time in California, and in communication with her directed his letters to Mrs. Davis. All treated her with marked courtesy and respect. From no one did the writer hear a word against her character. In looking over her old papers he saw all made out against her, and board bills in her name. He received a letter from a clergyman, stating that Robinson, in conversation with him, acknowledged that a bill of divorce had been obtained against him, and a young woman told the writer that R. made proposals of marriage to her. Everything tended to confirm the belief that she was divorced. What, then, should the writer do? He saw that he was estranging his friends, destroying the happiness of those dearer to him as life, and that she whom he had married was addicted to a vice which he abhorred, and which, if persisted in, must destroy the hopes of both. Should he abandon one whom he believed his lawful wife; one whom he had vowed to "love and cherish till death," because certain papers, (as he supposed) were lost, and because she gave herself up, at times, to a hateful indulgence, which transforms the intelligent amiable woman into a raving madwoman? Or should he remain, in the hope (as she promised) that when her character was vindicated, another stood before her friends and the public, an innocent woman, she would become again, always, kind, loving and temperate? His conscience dictated the latter course.

He had long been convinced that she had little of property here, whatever there might be in California; but unfortunately, a short time before going to Newburyport circumstances led him to think she had $3500 (not 10,000) on deposit in Boston. Consequently he alowed the "financiering" of which the Herald gives so graphic an account. No one would condemn such conduct more severely than the writer and he regrets it the more that these vexations fell on men so gentlemanly. He left Newburyport on Saturday. She was herself when he left. He left because letters from California convinced him that there had been no divorce—that he had been led to believe a lie.

And now, sir, believing, as he did, that she was his lawful wife, he cannot see that he erred in refusing to abandon her till convinced that she was not. It is true that at one time he thought he ought to leave her till the arrival of the divorce papers should convince his friends and the public that a divorce had been granted; but her rescue from beneath a train of cars warned him that he might bring upon himself the guilt of destroying an innocent woman. He acted conscientiously if not wisely. But he has extended this article much beyond the limits he had intended, and will close with the single remark at present, that Mrs Robinson, sober, is a woman, not sober is a fiend.

Yours, &c. "JOHNSON."

P. M. L. ASSOCIATION.—At the semi-annual election of officers of the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association, on Friday evening, Oct. 5th, the following gentlemen were unanimously elected for the ensuing term:

President, E. A. Stevens; Vice President, Wm O. Head; Secretary, Wm. S. Chase; Treasurer, Geo. T. Vaughan; Librarian, Alfred S. Davis; Directors, Wm. H. Sise, Chas. E. Lord, J. C. Brown, D. J. Vaughan, E. N. Fuller, J. H. Head; Directors of Reading Room, Wm. S. Chase, Freeman G. Beal, Chas. C. Harvey.

The First Congregational Church and Society in Lynnfield Center have extended to Rev. W. A. Patten, of Kingston, N. H. an invitation to settle over them in the gospel ministry.

Rev. Lyman Whiting, the pastor elect of the North Church, is expected to preach at the Temple to-morrow.

SIX PERSONS DROWNED.—A very melancholy occurrence took place in the Lehigh river, at Catasauqua, Oct. 1. A canal boat, containing two men, a woman, and two children, went over the dam, and all were drowned. The very heavy rain on Sunday last has raised the river to a great height, and the current where the accident took place is so strong, that all efforts to save the unfortunate persons were unavailing. Earlier in the day a man went over at the same spot, and was also drowned. As yet none of the bodies have been recovered.

Arrangements have been made in Canada to raise immediately a force of 2800 recruits for the British army.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.
WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 54 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.
TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be THE PARLOR COOK wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

G. W. STONE'S

—AND—

Family Physic,

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which form the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It never fails to produce all the effects where physic is required, but completely removes habitual Costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels: Dysentery, Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—it needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from habitual Costiveness?—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the blood by the use of from one to six bottles. In short, if you require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

PRICE $1.00.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in the United and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them a valid and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq. of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office, as a Solicitor. Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged, that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

LETTER FROM PASSMORE WILLIAMSON.—The N. Y. Tribune publishes the following letter which is written in answer to some inquiries from a gentleman of that city.

No. 78, PHILADELPHIA COUNTY PRISON, September 29, 1855.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 27th inst. is now before me, and in reply to your inquiry, I may say that I contemplate no further legal proceedings with reference to my liberation from this jail, in which I am now confined.—I have been kept here for more than two months and I can see no prospect of liberation. I am a native, and have always been a citizen of Pennsylvania: and believing myself atrociously wronged, I applied to the highest tribunal known to our laws, but relief has been withheld. I can expect none from the authority that placed me here, without dishonorable submission. Having been guilty neither of falsehood, dissimulation, nor contumacy, I am sure that it is no case for a degrading capitulation. Such a course would bring with it a diminution of self-respect more oppressive than the power now seeking to crush out the highest attribute of state sovereignty by immuring me within these walls.

Accept for yourself, and communicate to others who favor me with their consideration, my most grateful acknowledgements.

P. WILLIAMSON.

BUYING BY SAMPLE.—We applaud the penetration and the management of one of our old Commodores, in a Spanish port, years ago. He bought a cask of wine, he liked the flavor of it, in one of those enormous cellars, where the Spanish merchants store their immense stock, and where they, if the truth must be revealed, also mix, brew and manufacture them. To what place shall I send the pipe? inquired the merchant. Nowhere, said the blunt sailor; I will take it with me, and then appeared a competent number of sailors with a vehicle all ready for the purpose. The merchant hesitated, demurred and objected to delivering it for one reason or other, and finally offered a handsome sum if he would take another cask next to it, just as good, in its room, as this particular one had been disposed of. This made the Commodore still more earnest and resolved; so he insisted on paying the Spanish trader his bill, and took away his prize without asking "by your leave." It was worth double the sum he gave for it, as it was a sample cask of the pure article, which he and all who went to that cellar to purchase were to taste, as a criterion of the whole. When the article was sent home, after the bargain, another was always put in its stead. The poor merchant was thus deprived of his decoy, till he could prepare a new one at considerable cost. This time he made a poor bargain with the American Commodore, who used to tell his friends at Washington, when he treated them to it, that it was the best battle he ever fought, and he had seen sharp service in 1813.

MERCANTILE FLUCTUATIONS.—The Philadelphia Ledger has an excellent article on business matters, which is quite timely, now that the fall trade is being carried on with at least quite a sufficient expansion of commercial canvas. The following paragraph from the article is worthy of special commendation: "If a man would see gray hairs upon his head before their time; beggary and ruin the sole legacy left to a wife and children, now rolling in every luxury, and brought up to it all; if he wants to see defrauded and indignant creditors, an old age of penury and dependence, a family driven by debt and false ideas into every degradation and crime, then let him spread all sail which he can borrow, give credit to every reckless customer, boast of his sales, live in brown stone and rosewood, surround himself with carved furniture and costly imported luxuries of all kinds; let him bring up his children to be waited upon by troops of servants—the end will come sooner than he expects; he will be caught in some nip of the ice, and sunk like lead in the mighty waters."

THEY ARE COMING INTO IT.—We read in the papers: "A dry-goods house in Summer street, Boston, (Hovey & Co.) has just divided $8,000 among the clerks, the same being the half-year profits over a certain per cent. retained by the proprietors. The house itself makes at least $30,000 per year, and above this distribute $10,000 among the employed. The result of this is, that every clerk, as far as possible, takes an interest in the establishment equal to the proprietors."

Of course he does. This is the third establishment known to us in which an attempt is made to combine the spur of the associative principle with the strength of the despotic. The other two are the New York Tribune and Partridge's Match Factory. Such an addition to the incomes of clerks is an unmixed benefit; it blesses them and their children; it enriches the community in which they dwell; it prepares pupils for colleges; it buys books and piano-fortes; it does good every way, and nothing but good.—Life Illustrated.

HIGH TAXATION.—A correspondent of the National Intelligencer, writing from Northern Ohio, repudiates the idea that tax of $2,28 on $100 is the highest tax in America, and says the city of Toledo regularly levies a tax of $3 on the hundred, and that the enterprising town of Berrysburg levies $6,50, and says the treasurer of the county assured him that he knew of a guardian who had lent the money of some minors at 6 per cent who was actually paying a tax of 6 1-2 per cent on the principal sum. Great country, Ohio!

DR. KANE'S EXPEDITION.

Now that we rejoice at Dr. Kane's return, there is much interest in the story of his Voyages and Travels.

Dr. Kane, it will be remembered, being thoroughly imbued with the love of adventure, and with the benevolent desire to do all that man might do to rescue Sir John Franklin and his companions, sailed from New York on the 31st of May, 1853, in the little barque Advance, with a crew of sixteen picked men. The expedition was liberally supplied with everything that money and experience could furnish for promoting its objects, and it was hoped that even if its main object—the rescue of Sir John Franklin—was not accomplished, something might be done towards enlarging the boundaries of science, and explaining the great enigma of the Northwest passage. Since his departure, Dr. Kane had been heard from but once, in July, 1855, at Upper Navick, on the coast of Greenland, from whence he was to proceed to Smith Sound, and forcing the vessel to the utmost navigable point, secure her for the winter, and prosecute the search by means of sledges.

The protracted absence of Dr. Kane induced the last Congress, in accordance with the generally expressed wish, to authorize the Secretary of the Navy to dispatch a suitable expedition to the rescue of the adventurers. The sum of $150,000 was appropriated for the expedition, and the intention of Congress was carried out by the purchase of the propeller Arctic, and a barque and brig, which were properly fitted and equipped, and dispatched to the Arctic regions in June last. The expedition was confided to the command of Lieut. Hartstene of the U. S. Navy, and the wisdom of the choice is evinced by the return of the party, with Dr. Kane and his companions under their care. It is probable that this is the last expedition which will ever be dispatched to the Arctic regions by our government. The members of these expeditions have occasion for profound gratitude that they have been permitted to return to home and friends.

The expedition commanded by Dr. Kane, consisting of the bark Advance and crew, which left, as above, in May, 1853, succeeded in crossing Melville Bay, and reached the headlands of Smith's Sound, as early as the 6th of August, 1853. Finding the ice to the North completely impenetrable, they were forced to attempt the passage along the coast, and on Sept. 3, 1853, succeeded in gaining the Northern face of Greenland, here the young ice froze around the vessel, and compelled them to seek a winter asylum. The winter gave them a degree of cold much below any previous registration on record. Whiskey froze in November, and for four months in the year, the Mercury was solid daily. The mean annual temperature was 5° below zero, summer and winter included.

The operations of search commenced as early as March, 1854, the first parties under the personal charge of Dr. Kane crossing the ice at a temperature of 57° below zero. The loss of their dogs obliged them, as an only alternative, to adopt this early travel. Many of the party were frost-bitten, and underwent amputation of the toes. It was by means of these efforts that the expedition succeeded in bringing back its important results. The parties were in the field as late as the 10th of July, only ceasing from labor when the winter darkness made it impossible to travel.

The extreme severity of the previous season made it evident that the brig could not be liberated before the winter set in. She was fast imprisoned in a large field of ice. The provisions, though abundant, were not calculated to resist scurvy, and the fuel, owing to the emergency of the present winter, was deficient in quantity under these circumstances.

Dr. Kane, with a party of volunteers, made an attempt to reach the English expedition, and thus giving relief to his associates. They passed in an open boat over the track of Baffin's travel, riding out a heavy gale. They found an uninterrupted barrier of ice, extending, in one great horse shoe, from Jones to Murchison's Sounds, and were forced, after various escapes, to return to the brig.

During the winter which ensued they adopted the habits of the Esquimaux, living upon raw walrus meat and surrounding themselves by walls of moss. In spite of these precautions the scurvy advanced with steady progress; but by the aid of a single team of dogs Dr. Kane succeeded in effecting a communication with a settlement of Esquimaux 70 miles south, and by organizing a hunt relieved the party. At one time every man of the expedition, except Dr. Kane and Mr. Bunsel, was confined to his bunk, but by a providential interposition the party escaped without a death.

Dr Kane followed, and charted Greenland towards the Atlantic in a northern direction, until his progress was checked by a vast, endous glacier. They followed this glacier by means of sledges, and ascertained that it connected Greenland with a new land farther north, which they named Washington. A large bay intervening between this land and Greenland was named after Mr Peabody of Baltimore.

But the real discovery of the Expedition is the open Polar Sea. The channel leading to these waters was rendered the more remarkable by the existence of a belt of solid ice extending 125 miles to the southward. This sea verifies the views of Dr. Kane, as expressed to the Geographical Society before his departure. An area of 2300 square miles has been seen entirely free from ice. This channel has been named after the Hon. J P Kennedy, Secretary of the U. S. Navy, under whose auspices the Expedition was undertaken.

The land to the north and west of this canal had been charted as high as 82° 30′. This is the nearest land to the pole yet known. It bears the name of Mr Henry Grinnell, the founder of the enterprise.

The great belt of ice made it clear that no relief expedition from the south could reach the party in time to prevent the imprisonment of a third winter, which, with their deficiency of fuel, would have proved most disastrous, if not fatal. Under these circumstances, Dr. Kane determined to abandon the brig, and attempted to escape to the south by boats and sledges.

In accordance with this view they left the brig on the 17th of May, the temperature at that time being 58° below zero. They crossed a belt of ice 81 miles in diameter, dragging their boats behind them, and carrying four of their six comrades by means of a dog sledge. After travelling 316 miles, with 31 days constant exposure, they reached Cape Alexander, and embarked in open water.

From Cape Alexander they traveled southward, sometimes over ice, and sometimes over water. At Cape York they burned up their spare boats and sledges for fuel, and left the coast, putting out into the open sea of Melville Bay, and sped for the Northern Danish Provinces of Greenland. Here they were providentially landed on the 6th of August, in vigorous health, after a travel of 1000 miles, and 81 days exposure.

From Upernavick, the largest of these settlements, they took passage in a Danish vessel for England. By good fortune, they touched at Discow, where they met Capt. Hartstein's expedition.

JUDGE KANE'S USURPATION.—In Philadelphia, on the 12th, as we learn by despatch, Judge Kane delivered an opinion adversely to the petition of Jane Johnson to quash the writ of habeas corpus in the Passmore Williamson case. He decided that she has no status in court, being entirely without his jurisdiction. His opinion is very elaborate, reviewing the whole case, and re-affirming his former positions relative to the rights of slaves in transit through the free States.

If this is correctly reported, Judge Kane should be sent forthwith to the insane hospital.

The New York Independent coincides with many others, that Judge Kane has transcended his powers under the Constitution in the imprisonment of Williamson, and says, when "a Judge thus abuses his solemn trust, and makes the very shield of liberty an instrument of tyranny, their remains but one remedy, and that is his solemn impeachment before a tribunal higher than his own."

Query, whether Judge Kane is any way related to Doctor Kane? He is certainly very unlike him.

Query, also, whether Judge Cain is a regular successor to that other Cain who killed his brother Abel. In this case there is a very strong resemblance. One of the plainest of the sacred writers puts this question: And wherefore slew he him? He then gives this answer: Because his own works were wicked, and his brother's righteous! This is precisely the case with our modern Kane or Cain who sits on the judgment seat to oppress and outrage humanity.

I tremble for my country, said Jefferson, when I remember that God is just; and yet Jefferson never saw or dreamed of, such an unjust and oppressive judge on the bench of a civil and criminal court.

FLOUR SPECULATIONS.—Our flour speculators are making the most of the last news from Europe regarding the short crops in France and England. The best accounts furnish no confirmation of the belief that the crops in the British islands will fall below the average. As regards France, the circumstances of that country are such that speculation on its probable wants is a hazardous affair. The French Government felt that the fall of Sebastopol presented an opportune moment at which to announce a deficiency in the crops, and to take its measures for keeping down the price of bread, and it improved it. Our speculators may depend upon it that the French demand will soon subside. The speculators cannot have things all their own way this year, if the people will only be wise and combine as far as possible against them.—New York Sun.

We copy these things as we find them. Flour went up for two or three days in New York, and for the last two or three week down a little.—On Friday it lowered 12 to 25cts.,—and wheat was lower and unsettled.

Just now we see in the Life of Dr. Belknap, that in 1785–6, he did not get his pay in Dover, and he complains of the extortioners and old hunkers in the following fashion:

"Was it owing to their poverty, or sufferings in the cause of the country, I could not only bear it patiently, but should think it my duty to partake of their sufferings to the utmost possible degree: but the truth is, they have been growing rich on the spoils of their country, and you know the adage 'Crescit amor nummi quantum ipsa pecunia crescit.'

There are at this day hundreds of bushels of bread corn held for a price. It is with difficulty I can get a supply. I am actually obliged to plant my bread-corn this year, and expect to handle the hoe as a common laborer, as my wife is forced to do the wheel, to the great injury of her health, and the neglect of the other necessary business of the family; and my neighbors have their flocks and herds so multiplied, that I cannot even get pasturing for my cows."

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Oct. 13.

Before Justice Odell—Preble Goodrich, Edward Goodrich, and Mrs. Goodrich the wife of Edward, were charged with assaulting and striking Simeon Smiley, a police officer.—Smiley had a precept to serve on Edward Goodrich for keeping liquors for sale, and went to his place for that purpose. They invited him in and take a seat, with which invitations he complied. They then asked him if he had a warrant; and he answered yes.—They told him he could not serve it there, fastened the door, and the two men pitched battle with the officer. The woman was discharged:—but both the men were found guilty, and fined $5,00 each, and costs, $2,31 each. Edward paid up, but Preble was committed.

Edward was also accused of having liquors for sale, to wit, N. E. rum.—Case postponed to Monday.

BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL.

The following note from the Chairman of the High School Committee, to the editor of the Journal, shows at once the favorable condition of the School, the importance of a larger and better High School room, and the want of a new school house at the West End.

Mr. Brewster:—I clip the following from the Ballot of this week.

"We understand the first class of boys in the High School in this city were discharged yesterday to make room for new comers."

The same statement has been currently reported in the City, and the High School Committee blamed, as they would deserve to be, if it were true. Let me assert then that no class of boys has been discharged, nor has the suggestion ever been made to discharge a class, to make room for new comers. The facts are these. We found when we had examined the candidates for admission to the High School, that we had accepted some ten or twelve more than there were seats. We therefore permitted the teacher to ask the boys of the first class if they were willing to study out of school and come in at regular hours to recite. But on learning since, that the arrangement was not agreeable to the parents, we have caused new seats to be put in, sufficient to accommodate the whole.

The room is now closely packed, and a glance as it in school hours reveals the necessity of new accommodations. A large portion of the space left for recitation seats is now occupied by the new benches, and with the imperfect ventilation the atmosphere of the room is anything but agreeable or healthy at the close of a session.

There is another School House where a class of younger pupils are packed in the same manner, with no prospect of any speedy relief. I refer to the Brick building in the west part of the City. In the lower room of that building I found a school numbering 101, where there were accommodations, that is comfortable accommodations, for not more than 70. These are facts that seldom come under the eye of any but the members of the School Committee, and yet they ought to be known and remedied.

WILLIAM LAMSON,
Oct. 11. Chairman of Committee.

☞ We are requested to state that the next lesson of Mr. Clark's Singing School will be given this evening at Academy Hall.

E. H. Chapin; Up, Pilgrim; Retribution on Earth; Juvenile Offenders; The Editor's Arm Chair.

OHIO ELECTION.—Further returns show that Senator Chase is elected Governor of Ohio, by 15,000 majority, while the remainder of the Republican ticket has about 40,000 majority. A despatch of the 12th inst, from Col Schouler of Cincinnati states that Hon. S. P. Chase has over 20,000 majority; beating both Medill and Trimble. The Legislature is three-fourths republican. The Boston Transcript says, this may be considered a very respectable "inauguration of a new party."

☞ An Ex-Mayor of Norfolk, in a private letter, after speaking of the desolation, says:

"I have heretofore, in my limited and contracted notions, confined my ideas of generous sympathy to my own people and bounded my philanthropy by Mason and Dixon's, or some other ideal line; but hereafter, I will boast of a people inhabiting this vast country, whose sympathy knows no bounds, but embraces within its broad fields and recognizes as the members of their own family, every sufferer of this vast American republic. We have about ten thousand of our people absent, and I fear much the consequences of their too early return."

THE BIG MEN OF THE PRESENT AGE.—The Boston Board of Aldermen, on Monday last, refused to concur with the other branch of the city government, in the passage of a vote of thanks to Rev. Messrs. Gannett and Kirk, for praying, and to the Normal school girls, for singing, on the occasion of laying the corner-stone of the Public Library building. Last evening, in the Common Council, on the question of suspending the rules in order to pass, in concurrence, a vote of thanks to Joshua Bates, of London—for his new donation of books to the Public Library—Mr. Stodder, of Ward 9, voted no!—Boston Courier, 12th.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, may almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

o12 ALBERT LAIGHTON.

PORTLAND, Oct. 12.—The powder mill at Gorham, Me., blew up at 10 o'clock this morning, killing seven men and wounding several others. The fire originated in the press mill which was blown to atoms. The mills were formerly owned by Oliver Whipple of Lowell, Mass., whose brother and son are among the killed; the present owners are Messrs. G. G. Newhall & Co. of Boston. The killed, as far as can be at present ascertained, are Franklin Hawkes of Windham, Geo. Whipple, James Whipple, Samuel Phinney and John Swett. The mills had been actively employed for some time, the engines running night and day.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A German named Andrew Schwartz, a moulder by trade, who was married on Wednesday, was instantly killed on the Old Colony Railroad, in South Boston, at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. He was walking on the track near Fourth street, when the train approached. The locomotive struck him in such a manner that he fell across the track. The wheels passed over his neck, severed his head from his body, and the poor fellow died without a gasp.—Transcript.

ANOTHER FATAL FALL.—Patrick Sullivan, 18 years of age, was found dead in the back yard of the house of John Talbot, 258 North street, Boston, Friday morning. It is supposed that he fell from the third story window. He was taken to his room "dead drunk" the evening before. He belonged in Lowell.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—A portion of the emigrant train, which left Erie last night, was thrown off the track near Kingsville, in consequence of the disarrangement of the switch. Three cars were thrown off and three or four persons badly hurt.

DESTRUCTION OF THE SAVANNAH ORPHAN ASYLUM BY FIRE.—The Savannah Female Orphan Asylum was nearly destroyed by fire on the night of the 7th inst. There were thirty-one little orphan girls in the building when the fire broke out, but they were all saved, although one of them, and the matron of the establishment were suffocated when found, and but for their instant removal would have perished. Mayor Anderson took the little ones to his house, where they were kindly cared for, and subsequently removed to Fair Lawn. The asylum was one of the handsomest building in the city. There was sufficient insurance on it to rebuild it.

SANTA ANNA'S SON IN TROUBLE.—Santa Anna's son, who figured as a colonel in his father's army, mostly in Michoacan, was taken prisoner a few days since while on his way in disguise to Vera Cruz, with the intention of embarking secretly from that port. The people of the village where he was arrested, determined to lynch him on the spot for some alleged crime, but he was preserved from their vengeance and sent to Vera Cruz, where he awaits his trial. He is only 25 years of age, but is charged with some horrible cruelties.

A POLITICAL REVOLUTION.—Last October, Governor Pollock, "American," carried the State of Pennsylvania by 30,000 majority. Arnold Plumer, Democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner, will, from present indications, be elected to that office this year by 10,000 or 15,000 majority. This is one of those changes in politics which sometimes occur as suddenly as they are inexplicable.

The Syracuse Journal says that about one hundred and forty fugitive slaves have passed through Syracuse on the way to Canada, since January.

On the 5th instant, the citizens of St. Louis were surprised with a hard snow storm. It commenced at 3 o'clock, and lasted until dark.

The Congregational Journal, says that a man recently procured a bottle of rum at the store of Mr Walker, in New Boston, and drank so much that he died the next day.

A gravel train on the Boston and Maine Railroad was thrown off the track at Salmon Falls' N. H., Friday afternoon, by the switch being out of order, and two Irish laborers were killed.

A curious custom prevails in Paris of annually proclaiming the "king of the pumpkins," and of making a solemn procession in honor of the largest vegetable of the species which can be discovered. The "king" of the present year was grown at St. Maude, and weighed 348 pounds, being a little less than seven feet in circumference.

☞THE DEAD ALIVE AGAIN.—The London Times' Calcutta correspondent says: "It is reported that an officer, who was supposed to have been killed in the Cabul campaign more than thirteen years ago, whose place has long been filled up in the army list, and whose wife has contracted a second marriage and given birth to a second family, has suddenly turned up. He has been a prisoner during this long period in Kokan."

The newly elected board of directors of the Boston and Maine Railroad met on Monday morning for organization. James Hayward was unanimously re-elected president of the corporation for the ensuing year.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITES' Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 54 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

SUSPICIOUS DEATH OF A WOMAN.—Ellen, wife of Cornelius O'Connell, resident at No. 16 Second street, South Boston, died suddenly on Monday night, supposed from cruelty by her husband, both parties being of intemperate and quarrelsome habits. It is stated that he beat her violently on the head, Friday night, with a brush handle. O'Connell has been arrested.

Prof. Agassiz has been very successful in obtaining subscriptions to his great work, so that the publication will not only pay expenses, but will leave him a handsome sum. Considering the character of the work this is not only remarkable, but highly commendable to our country.

About twelve persons injured by the accident on the Camden and Amboy Railroad still remain at Burlington, not being sufficiently recovered to remove.

M. Duplar, a French chemist, has found that worms yield both oil and alcohol. From 100 lbs. of worms he obtained 1-2 lb. of oil and 5 lbs. of alcohol, applicable to chemical purposes.

It is stated that of the ten thousand dollars in cash paid to the Indians at La Pointe, hardly a dollar was carried away by them; all was lost by gambling.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, Internal or external? HAYES'S Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but this testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as the article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER. A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON. ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly.) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the night wonderfully, and cures the worst troubled with hamor, by removing the difficulty and restoring the night.

CHARLES H. KENT General Agent for the United States and Canada. Lawrence, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed.

G. W. STONE'S

ELIXIR.

THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all Affections of the Throat and Lungs and begs of those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXIR a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal.—It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion that no family should be without this Medicine: let Mothers give it to their Children who have the Whooping Cough or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones. Price 50 cts.

Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name, and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass., are blown upon the Bottle, without which none will be genuine.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are arrived in America, if in the world, at the ne plus ultra of brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

FURTHER FOREIGN NEWS.

A new and interesting dispatch of Marshal Pelissier reports the precise loss of the French as follows:

Killed, 5 Generals, 24 superior officers, 116 subalterns, 1489—total 1634; wounded, 10 Generals, 20 superior officers, 224 subalterns, 4259 soldiers—total 4513; missing, 2 superior officers, 8 subalterns, 1400 soldiers—total 1410; making a grand total of 7557. The British loss was as follows: 29 officers, 36 sergeants, 6 drummers, 314 rank and file killed; 124 officers, 142 sergeants, 12 drummers, 1608 rank and file wounded; 1 officer, 12 sergeants, 168 rank and file missing. Total killed, 385; wounded, 1886; missing, 176—2447. The allied loss on the 8th instant, therefore, amounted in the aggregate to 10,004; the number killed having been 2019, wounded, 6399, missing, 1586.

The Russian loss must have been immense. A camp writer who visited Sebastopol after its bombardment, went into one of a vast range of buildings, which proved to be a hospital, and found 1000 dead bodies lying in the beds, evidently those of wounded men who had been brought down from the batteries.—This number of course excludes the hundreds and thousands who were found lying in all parts of the work after the assault.

Of the French assaults on the little Redan and other works on the left, which were unsuccessful, no particulars are given. The Times correspondent gives the following very brief account of the evacuation of Sebastopol:

SUNDAY, Sept. 9. At 8 o'clock last night the Russians began quietly to withdraw from the town, in the principle houses of which they had previously stored up combustibles, in order to render Sebastopol a second Moscow.—With great art the General kept up a fire of musketry from his advanced posts, as though he intended to renew the attempts to regain the Malakoff. Ere 3 o'clock this morning the fleet had been scuttled and sunk, with the exception of the steamers. About 12.30 the men of the Second division on duty in the trenches observed a preternatural silence in the Redan, and some volunteers crept into it. Nothing could they hear but the heavy breathing and groans of the wounded and the dying, who, with the dead, were the sole occupants of the place.

As the Redan was known to be mined, the men were withdrawn, and soon afterwards the Russian tactics began to develop themselves. About 2 o'clock flames were observed to break out in different parts of the town. They spread gradually all over the principal buildings. At 4 o'clock a stupendous explosion behind the Redan shook the whole camp; it was followed by four other explosions equally startling. The city was enveloped in fire and smoke, and torn asunder with the tremendous shocks of these volcanoes. At 4.45 the Flagstaff and Garden batteries blew up. At 5.30 two of the southern forts went up into the air, and the effect of these explosions was immensely increased by the rush of a great number of live shells into the air, which exploded in all directions.

All this time a steady current of infantry was passing in unbroken masses to the north side over the bridge, and at 6.45 the last battalions passed over, and the hill sides opposite were alive with their masses. Several small explosions took place inside the town at 7.10. Columns of black smoke began to rise from the neighborhood of Fort Paul at 7.12. At 7.15 the connection of the floating bridge with the south side was severed. At 7.16 flames began to ascend from Fort Nicholas. At 8.07 the bridge was floated off in portions to the north side. At 9 o'clock several violent explosions took place in the works on our left, opposite the French. The town was by this time in a mass of flames, and the pillar of black, gray and velvety fat smoke from it seemed to support the very heavens. The French kept up firing guns on the left, probably to keep out straggliers, but ere the Russians left the place the zouves and sailors were in it, and engaged busily in plundering. Not a shot was fired to the front and centre. The Vladimir and Grossomontes were very busy towing boats and stores across. Cavalry and sentries were sent up to prevent any one from going into the town, but without much success. I visited a good portion of the place. Explosions occurred all through the day. The plunder was enormous.

The Russian General is a man of too much genius and experience as a soldier to lose men in defending an untenable position, and his retreat was effected with masterly skill and with perfect ease in the face of a victorious enemy. Covering his rear by the flames of the burning city, and by tremendous explosions which spoke in tones of portentious warning to those who might have wished to cut off his retreat, he led his battalions in narrow files across the deep arm of the sea commanded by our guns, and in the face of a most powerful fleet, paraded them in our sight as they crossed, and carried off all his most useful stores and munitions of war. He left us few trophies, and many bitter memories. He sank his ships and blew up his forts without molestation, save some paltry effort to break down the bridge by cannon shot, or to shell the troops as they marched over.

His steamers towed his boats across at their leisure, and when every man was across, and not till then, the Russians began to dislocate and float off the portions of their bridge, and to pull it over to the north side.

The French Government has sent from Marseilles 150 quay porters to clear away the ruins of Sebastopol, and the English government has sent 350 workmen to repair and fit up buildings in Sebastopol as winter quarters for the allied troops.

NOTES OF A PLEASURE TRIP—No. 7.

PLYMOUTH.

We hurried a little in our trip to spend a day at the old home of the Pilgrims. And never were we better repaid for any excursion, or more interested in any sight seeing—though it must be confessed that the interest was about all from association, and the attractions chiefly in imagination. We propose to close our notes with a description of some of the more striking objects of interest—in doing which we are much indebted to an excellent little work just published, entitled, Guide to Plymouth. And perhaps it may be well to begin where our illustrious predecessors did, with the Plymouth Rock.

The Forefather's Rock—that is, one-half of it—so attractive to the curiosity of visitors, retains the same position that it occupied two hundred and thirty five years ago, when the founders of New England first landed on our shores. But a long and high wharf having been built under it, with storehouses, &c., leaves not much room to get an idea of the rock, as the Pilgrims landed on it—especially as one-half has been removed to an oval iron enclosure in front of Plymouth Hall, in the compact part of Plymouth. The Pilgrims must have entered the harbor at high tide, as the flats are left uncovered for a mile or more, at low water, all along the shore of the town, so that we saw a man with a wheelbarrow off the heads of the wharves, resetting his tunnel-shaped eel-pots, which he had located at a previous ebb of the tide, and removing from the heads of his basket-traps the snaky fish that got in but couldn't get out of the little end of the horn.

It is not a little curious that one loose rock on the shore of Plymouth harbor should have become so famous as is that called the Pilgrim Rock, where there is not known in the township a single ledge save those the fisherman reaches with his lead at various points of the coast. Pilgrim Rock is one of these boulders—itself an older pilgrim than those who landed on it. It is an extremely hard variety of Scenitic granite, of a dark gray color. The mica is in very small quantity, in fine black particles. The rock, by its rounded edges, bears evidence of its rolled character, as well as of the attempt to break specimens from it; which fortunately its extreme hardness renders seldom successful.* The rock is now in two pieces, each piece about four feet through. That part now at the water's side is about six and a half feet in diameter, and is situated on the south side of a store at the head of a wharf, a few feet only from it.

In the year 1775, some ardent whigs, to render available the patriotic associations connected with the rock, undertook its removal to the town square, with the intention to place over it a liberty pole, as an excitement to vigorous efforts in the approaching revolutionary struggle, and to quicken the zeal of such persons as hesitated to join the standard of independence. In this attempt at removal the rock split asunder, which excited, as tradition avers, great surprise among the citizens present, and by some was construed into a favorable omen, indicating the final separation of the colonies from the mother country. This unexpected accident led to some hesitation among the excited group assembled, and the conclusion was to lower the under part of the rock into its original bed, from which it had been elevated, and the other part was drawn by twenty yoke of oxen to the town square; when the far-famed liberty pole was speedily erected over it, on which an appropriate poetic effusion of some ardent son of liberty was placed, urging the citizens to renewed efforts in the cause of their country.

These circumstances, in connection with the increasing curiosity of visitors, each of whom sought a small fragment, if no more, have sensibly diminished the size of the rock, rendering it necessary to prevent such depredations in future, lest the "first stepping-stone to those who should come after" might at last fail of a "local habitation and a name."—These considerations, it is hoped, may in some degree relieve the disappointment occasionally expressed by strangers, on first viewing this rock. It should further be recollected that a mammoth rock of granite would have been inconvenient for the purpose of landing, particularly to the women and children who shared in the glorious event.

On the fourth of July, 1834, that part of the rock which had been taken to the town square, was removed and placed in front of Pilgrim Hall, enclosed within an iron railing, prepared for its reception, on which is inscribed the names of the forty-one individuals who subscribed the compact on board the Mayflower, at Cape Cod harbor, Nov. 11th, 1620.

The honor of first stepping upon the rock is claimed by the descendants of Mary Chilton, in her behalf, and also by those of John Alden, in his favor—resting upon tradition in both families. It is evident from history that neither of them had the honor of first landing upon it.

There were just one hundred and one who sailed from Plymouth in England, and just as many arrived in Cape Cod harbor. The last survivors of the Mayflower, who signed the compact, were John Howland, who died in 1672, aged eighty years, and John Alden, who died in 1686, aged eighty-nine. Mary, daughter of Isaac Allerton, and wife of Elder Thomas Cushman, the son of Robert Cushman, died in 1699, aged ninety, and was the last of the one hundred passengers who arrived at Cape Cod harbor.

After having erected a common house, "lots were cast where every man's house-lot should lie;" and it was "agreed that every man should build his own house, thinking that by that course men would make more haste than working in common." In the common house, the celebrated sermon of Robert Cushman was delivered, in November or December, 1621,—being the first preached in New England, in which he pointed out the special duties developing on those who undertook the settlement of new countries—"a scene," says Wardsworth, "fitted to succor, to exalt, to lead the forlorn hopes of all great causes, till time shall be no more."

GT. FALLS & CONWAY RAILROAD.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of this Road took place in the Town Hall, Great Falls, on Wednesday the 10th.

The meeting was called to order at 10 o'cl'k A.M., by S. D. Whitehouse, Esq., President of the road.

The eighth annual Report of the Directors was then read from which we glean the following facts relating to the road for the past year.

The report stated that the year past had been one of prosperity with the road. Another section of the road had been completed and various improvements made.

The cost of the road and equipment up to September last, from the commencement of the road, was $354,513.13; the total expenditure and assets $441,426.62 The receipts for the same time for Stock were $165,743.29; Bonds $121,556.00; Passenger, Freight and Mail earnings $70,513.84; making the total receipts $441,426.62

The total earnings for the last year have been $23,756 41; the total expenditures $17,319 08; leaving as the nett earnings of the Road $6,437 33.

On the 5th day of Feb'y last, this Company commenced running the South Berwick Branch. The earnings of that from that time to Sept. 1st, were $3,368 50; the cost of running this Branch $3,857 28, making the loss on running this Branch $488 78.

The report closed by presenting to the meeting the following resolutions:

Whereas, The interests of this corporation demand a discriminating and judicious tariff of freight, proportionate to the expense of carrying such freight; therefore

Resolved, That the Directors are hereby instructed to establish such a rate of tariff of freight as shall be in proportion to the same rates received by neighboring railroads for the same class of freight.

It was voted, that a committe be chosen to confer with the Directors upon a change of freight tariff. The following gentlemen were chosen—John McDuffee, D. G. Rollins, Oliver H. Lord.

The Committee to recommend a Board of Directors reported the names of Oliver Hill, John Smith, Asa Beacham, Thomas M. Wentworth, John Tredick, Nathaniel Wells and Owen W. Davis—who were elected.

It was then voted, that the subject of running the South Berwick Branch Road be referred to the Board of Directors.

Voted, That the Directors of this road confer with the Directors of the South Berwick Branch Road and of the Cocheco Road in relation to a connection at Rochester and an opening at Portsmouth to connect with water communication to Boston, and take the necessary steps to carry the same into effect.

We learn that it was a harmonious and interesting meeting, and the Stockholders are confident that their money is well invested. The road is prosperous and its interests will be well looked after and cared for by the new officers, all of whom are eminently capable and well fitted to perform the duties officially devolving upon them.—Gt. Falls Journal.

CAUSE OF EXPLOSION.—The powder exploded at Gorham, Me, on Friday the 12th, was between 300 and 400 kegs. Four lives were lost. All those killed were among the most faithful and experienced men at the works.

The accident is said to have arisen, not from danger in the process of manufacturing, but from an oversight of the rules of the mills, which, had they been observed, would have prevented it.

A slight repair was necessary to a portion of one of the screws, and the mill was stopped as usual to repair it. The usual practise is to remove all the powder even in a partially manufactured state, when any repairs are to be made, and then thoroughly wet down the whole mill. These precautions were neglected, it is supposed, because the parties who ought to have taken them, thought the repairs were so slight, that it could be done without it.

Some portion of the iron work of the screw was probably hit by some of the tools, and the explosion followed. Had the crude powder been removed, as is the practice before beginning the repairs, the press mill would not have blown up, and it was the explosion of this mill that communicated first to the powder laying in the bows of the canal boat, and then to the mixing mill, thus causing the great loss of life.

There are in New York and Brooklyn not less than five thousand "ladies," whose dress bills average annually two thousand dollars each, or ten millions of dollars for all.

*Unfortunately, we deemed it in our case.

LOCAL.

AID THE SUFFERERS.—The sum of $130 has been collected within a few weeks, from the members of St. John's Church, in this city, and forwarded to Portsmouth and Norfolk, Va. for the relief of the sufferers in those fever stricken cities. On Sunday forenoon last, the Rector, Rev Dr Burroughs, read letters of acknowledgment of its receipt from the authorities of those cities.

☞ Right Rev. Bishop Chase, of the Diocese of New Hampshire, will make his annual visitation to St. John's Church in this city, to-day. The Bishop will preach, and administer the holy rite of confirmation.

NAVAL.—At the Portsmouth Navy Yard, Commander Pickering, recently promoted, takes the place of Capt. Pearson, also recently promoted and detached. Lieut. A. G. Cleary has been ordered to this yard in place of Pickering, promoted.

DISCHARGED.—The complaints against Edward Goodrich, for keeping liquor with intent to sell, was tried before Justice Odell, on Monday forenoon. The evidence not being sufficient to substantiate the charge, Goodrich was discharged.

☞ Rev. Wm. C. Clark, who was beaten and turned ashore from a steamboat by the drunken and brutal minions of slavery, in Missouri and Kansas, arrived here about 10 days ago, as we learn from the Ballot, and is now at Eliot. He is still suffering from their brutality, and his health is seriously impaired by it.

☞ The Rockingham Temperance Convention will be held at Newmarket, to-morrow, at 10 1-2 o'clock.

☞ We would call the public attention to Henry S Hartshorn's New Hair Dressing Saloon, Congress street, where one may rest in an easy chair, and cannot find fault with the harborous treatment he receives. Harry is a gentleman, and a perfect Knight of the Razor—therefore we advise all to call upon him, at his new and splendid saloon. C.

☞ We understand that Dr. Julius Guttman, of S uth Berwick, received a premium on his exhibition of specimens of Dental Manufacture at the late Fair of the York Co. Agricultural Society, at Saco. Although he made no pretensions to extensive display, yet the Committee were well convinced that his work was not inferior to any of the kind they had examined in Boston or elsewhere. Dr. G. is favorably known by many in Ports., and his old friends will be pleased to learn that he is doing a good business in South Berwick; and that so valuable a testimonial has been given of the quality of his work. Long may he wave!

FIRE.—At Saccarappa, Me., on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, a fire broke out, and destroyed mills and workshops to the value of $20,000. By this fire fifty men are thrown out of employment.

POLITICAL.—Gen. Wilson at New York, made the great speech at the Republican Ratification meeting in that city on Tuesday evening. The Evening Post says, that in speaking of the American party, it is quite evident that the General "knows more than is good for him." Among other things he said:

The Whig party, gentlemen, has passed from earth. I do not know that it has been translated. But it has passed away. Peace be with it. It is the same with it here in New York that it is with us in Massachusetts—only like the razor-strop man, we have a few left of the same sort. Gentlemen, there is no hope for the reorganization of the Whig party of the United States. It bowed to slavery—and it has died. * * * *

The American party, gentlemen, received its death blow at Philadelphia, from the Barkers and Lyons of New York; and, gentlemen, I say to-night, and I speak to every man, that the first duty you owe to your country is to repudiate this baffled and defeated and disgraced faction in the State of New York. * * * *

Let it be understood by the country and the world that we (Republicans) mean that if any portion of this continent shall ever be incorporated into this Union we mean it shall be forever consecrated to Freedom. * * *

We shall free the Presidency of the Union and the Supreme Court of the United States from their present subserviency to the slave power. We shall free the courts of the United States from your Judge Kanes. And here let me say, that there is a public sentiment growing up in this country that regards Passmore Williamson, in his prison at Philadelphia, as a martyr to the holy cause of personal liberty. And that it will brand on the brow of Judge Kane a mark that will make him exclaim with the elder Cain: "My punishment is greater than I can bear!"

CINCINNATI, 15th.—The extensive sash and blind factory of Hinkle, Guild & Co., of this city, was destroyed by fire this morning. Several adjoining buildings were also burned. Hinkle, Guild & Co.'s loss, $100,000. The upper story of the factory was occupied by S. F. Jones, furniture dealer, whose loss is about $20,000. Other losses about $30,000.

CRAZED BY EXCITEMENT.—A young man named Dwight Merrill, of Utica, N. Y., who aided in removing and laying out the corpse of Schwartz, killed on the railroad at South Boston, has become insane in consequence of the excitement attending upon that duty.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate By its timely use many, may almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

We have news from California to the 20th ult., brought by steamship Northern Light, which arrived at New York Saturday evening. The news is fifteen days later than previous advices, and is of more than ordinary interest.

In the recent State election in California, the entire know nothing ticket was elected. Extensive fires had occurred at Weaverville and Grass Valley, involving a loss in the aggregate of $600,000. Accounts from Oregon to the 12th ult., give a report that Governor Stevens and company had been murdered by the Black Feet Indians. Advices from Honolulu are to the 25th ult. Accounts from Nicarago state that Col. Kinney had resigned his Governorship.

The San Francisco market report of the 18th says,—In flour and grain there has been extraordinary activity induced by advices from Chili and Australia. Jobbing sales of flour at $14, for Galego Wheat not so firm—sales 2 25 a 2 65 per 100 lbs. Flour under large orders from Chili advanced to $9 for domestic.

[This makes wheat a little more than half as high in San Francisco as it is in New York, and flour about the same price.]

Rice is again prostrate, all the efforts to give it a fictitious value having proved abortive. The California Wheat crop will yield about two millions of bushels.

A San Francisco paper says:—There is a rumor that some partizans of Alvarez in this city have purchased two of the best pilot boats on this coast—the Golden Gate and the Dancing Feather. The price is said to be about $20,000 each, to be paid when the vessel shall arrive at Acapulco. It is also said that an attempt has been made to purchase a Russian vessel or two.

THE STATE ELECTION.—The result of the State Election took all parties by surprise. The whole know nothing ticket is elected—some candidates by only small majorities, others from three to five thousand majority.

The State officers elect are as follows:—Governor, J. Neely Johnson; Lieut. Governor, R. M. Anderson; Justice of Supreme Court, long term, Hugh C Murray, Jus. Sup. Court, short term, David J. Terry; Comptroller, George W. Whitman; Treasurer, Henry Bates; Attorney, W. C. Wallace, Surveyor, John A. Brewster; State Printer, James Allen.

The know nothings have a majority of one to three in the Senate, and about twenty in the Assembly.

The total number of votes cast in San Francisco was 12,724, of which the democratic ticket had an average majority of about 2000.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.—U. S. frigate Independence, Capt. Josiah Tatnall, arrived at San Francisco 13th ult., from Callao. Her officers and crew were all well. The U. S. sloop-of-war Decatur, Capt. Storrett, sailed from San Francisco on the 7th ult., on a cruise. The revenue Cutter W. L. Marcy, Capt. Cowell, sailed from San Francisco on the 8th ult., on a cruise. The U. S. sloop-of-war Vandalia, Capt. Pope, sailed from Guam for China on the 24th of July. All well. The U. S. surveying steamer, John Hancock, Capt. Stevens, was to sail from Hakodadi on the 29th of June, on a cruise.

FIRES AT WEAVERVILLE AND GRASS VALLEY.—A large fire occurred at Weaverville, in Trinity county. The loss in buildings and property exceeds $200,000.

An extensive fire broke out in Grass Valley, on the 14th ult., and spread with such rapidity that in two hours the town was nearly destroyed. But one of the principal business houses remained. The total loss is estimated at $400,000.

NEW YORK, 13th.—The steamer Empire City, bound from New Orleans to Cincinnati, with a full cargo of merchandise, was sunk in the Mississippi River, near Plumb Point, on the morning of the 5th. One of the hands was drowned. The boat was owned and insured in St. Louis.

A letter from St. Louis states that the person from Kansas who was beaten so badly on board a steamboat on the Mississippi River, and afterwards put ashore, was the Rev. Mr Clarke, from Maine, who had been on a tour through Kansas.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14th.—Some of the officrs retired by the Naval Board, have ineffectually complained to the President of the injustice of the action of the board, especially as they exhibit letters from the Navy Department, previously received, attesting their capacity. They and their friends are making preparations to operate on Congress, with a view of obtaining justice.

At the commencement of the recruiting of troops for the Crimea, Mr Crampton had information that he and a certain British consul were violating our neutrality laws; and under this aggravation of the case, it is now said that our government will refuse to recognize them officially, if, after the additional instructions Mr Buchanan has been instructed to make, they are not recalled.

—OR—

Family Physic,

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It not only produces all the effects usual to physic in a natural, but completely removes habitual Costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels; Dysentery, Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—it needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with Scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from habitual Costiveness?—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the blood by the use of from one to six bottles. In short, if you require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

Patents.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,

76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, (generally about 30 per cent less than others in the profession,) but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, his visits to the Patent Office, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Wa.hington, Boston, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, secured through agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq. of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy and purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to any more powerful, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Forte, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays upon it, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

CHOLERA AT SEA.

The calamities of Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va. by sickness, have their counterpart on board a steamer lately arrived at San Francisco:

The Nicaragua steamer Uncle Sam, it will be remembered, put into Acapulco with cholera on board. Before she reached San Francisco, the disease had carried off 105 of her passengers. Seven others subsequently died in the hospital, and 14 remained under treatment. No new cases of cholera had occurred at San Francisco, and the city was quite healthy.

The San Francisco papers give full details of the mortality from cholera on board of the Uncle Sam, with the names of the victims, of whom, five only were among the cabin passengers. The victims were chiefly Irish and German emigrants. The Transcript says:

We have endeavored to gather authentic particulars in regard to the matter. Thus far our efforts have not been as successful as we could wish. The captain reports at the custom house the death of 103 adults, 8 children and 9 seamen, making 120 in all. We can find no passenger who does not insist that at least 200 persons died, and some appear confident that the number was much larger.

The law required the captain to report the number dying on his vessel, but those dying in port are not included in the number, and this may in a measure account for the discrepancy. After arriving at the wharf, 24 patients were taken to the Marine Hospital, of whom it is thought not more than one-third will survive.

The Herald, of a subsequent date, says that of the patients taken to the hospital, 7 have died.

Every attention that can be rendered to the sufferers is freely bestowed by the officers of the institution and Sisters of Mercy, several of whom have been in constant attendance on the cholera patients since their admission. To the skilful nursing of these noble women may be attributed the safety of many whose lives were at first despaired of.

A passenger on board the Uncle Sam says, the panic on board was dreadful. Wives abandoned their husbands, and husbands their wives, while both abandoned their children.

THE CRIMEA A GOLD COUNTRY.—Dr. F. Maynard's "From Paris to Sebastopol," has the following:

"If England and France were to take possession of the whole of the Crimea, and wished, without keeping up an army of occupation at a vast expense, to prevent Russia from ever re-establishing her power, they have only to decree that henceforth the Crimea should be an independent state self-governed; and to attract thither, in less than a year, as many millions of inhabitants as could be lodged on the soil, it would be sufficient for them to declare the ports free, and to plant on the Tchatir Dagh a banner inviting the gold-seekers of every nation to come and search its sides. In the rocks of the Tchatir, the Dimirdgi, Sinab, and Aluchta, there is enough to pay the expenses of a war if it lasted a century. Perhaps my readers may feel astonished at my making such a statement. They would be less astonished if they knew the authorities on which I rely. I do not merely appeal to geographical documents and the history of past times to prove infallibly that the gold mines of the Tchatir Dagh exist and have been worked; I also invoke the testimony of those who de visu de manu have seen and touched veins of gold more abundant, and a thousand fold richer than those of the Ural and all the known mines. It suited the policy of the Czars to leave the mines unworked, and to efface the recollection of them as far as possible. If they were worked by free men, that would have attracted from every quarter of Europe a multitude of adventurers, men of enterprising character, on a single point of the empire, it would have been kindling a conflagration which they could not have mastered. If, on the other hand, serfs and prisoners were employed as miners, the Crimea was not, like the Ural, so remote from Europe that the groans of the slave martyrs could not be smothered, and they might have escaped the fangs of the despot. The Russian government, consequently proclaims the auriferous strata of these mountains, which evidently attach the Alps to the Caucasus, to be fabulous. The Crimea within ten years will become the El Dorado of the Old World.

THEATRICAL PUFFERY.—The folly of puffing actors and actresses, and making them "ne plus ultras" on every occasion, is finely hit off in the following criticism upon Ellen Tree's acting, many years ago, in St. Louis. It was written by a Hoosier, and comes much nearer to the truth than one-half the senseless jargon that is met with, almost every day, in many of our papers.

"I'll tell you an almighty strange thing of how that gal (Ellen Tree) works on the feelings of critters. When she was acting Julia in our parts, the door-keepers came in, for it was tarnation cold and no one took no notice of the doors, cos no more could get in; when an old bear snuffed his way into the town, and finding no one astir, for they were all at the play, what does the critter do, but shifts his way there too, and crawls up behind the boxes. I guess he meant to sup off some of us chaps; but, however, he listened, till he got quite affected, and so mollified, that he vowed he would never go man-eating any more; next night he came again and brought his wife; and the thing was only discovered on the third night, when he was seen coming down to the box-office with an alligator!"

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1855.

LIFE IN THE ARCTIC REGIONS.—We find in the accounts of Dr. Kane's expedition, the following description of the way in which those intrepid voyagers passed their time on shipboard:

"Life on shipboard was regular and orderly. There was a time for everything, and everything was in its place. Capt. Kane and the officers were untiring in the discharge of the duties of their posts, and the men appeared contented and hearty. The ship was abundantly provisioned, and the diet was wholesome and various. At seven bells, or about 7 1-2 o'clock in the morning, all hands turned out. Breakfast was taken at eight. The duties of the ship were then performed; the decks were cleaned, and things put in order for the day. Sledge parties then apportioned, for the sake of exercise, and short trips were made in different directions, for two or three miles. By the time the different parties had all returned to the ship it was nearly noon. At four bells, two o'clock, dinner was served. After this, there was nothing to do except to read, talk, laugh, if there was anything to laugh at, keep warm and be jolly. Another meal presently followed, and at nine or ten o'clock at night the ship and all in it were silent; the lights, except those above deck, were extinguished, and the watches were set. This, with very slight variations, was the regular routine on board the ship during the whole period of nearly two years.

No regular rations of spirits were served out. It was very necessary to have liquor in cases of sickness, but none was used regularly, fore or aft."

It is proper to add, in this place, a fact from Sir John Ross, a distinguished northern voyager from England. He spent four years on a northern voyage, and left his ship in the ice, but brought home his crew, and attributes their health and vigor, especially, to abstinence from spirits, which he says do not protect and strengthen, but enfeeble the men.

NORTHERN DISCOVERY.—The most valuable scientific result of Dr. Kane's expedition, (says the Boston Advertiser,) is the discovery of a great northern ocean, which extends perhaps over the pole of the earth to that observed by Wrangel, north of Siberia.

In closing his sketch of his projected expedition, Dr. Kane described the sledges and boats he shold use in crossing the ice toward this supposed ocean, and added, "once there, if such a reward awaits us, we launch our little boats, and bidding God speed us, embark upon its waters." It appears, however, that he only attained his sight of this sea, by laborious travelling over ice, without boats. He was not able therefore to make any attempt to solve the mysteries of the northern ocean, and could only stand on its ice beach, and watch the beating of its waves on so strange a strand and wonder, like another Columbus, what was the continent beyond.

The bleak and icy shores of this dismal sea may well be left to seals and bears. That human beings should go thither, is strange; that any should think of staying there is stranger still.

ARCTIC DAYS.—Dr. Kane passed his first winter, 1853-4, on board his vessel, in a frozen bay, in lat 78 37. Darkness gradually came upon them, and with the exception of a few short journeys within a scope of thirty miles, the operations for the season closed, and soon entire darkness came upon them, preventing them from doing any work whatever. The year in this latitude is divided into four portions, two of which are alternate day and night, each of two months duration; one of four months with the sun below the horizon during the entire twenty-four hours; and one of four months with the sun continually above the horizon, revolving in one continual circle above the horizon—as Tennyson says,

"The midnight sun

On August 22, the party lost the sun altogether. It went at a dip below the horizon for the first time, and the nights began gradually to increase—grew longer—until October 22, when having the day previous just raised his face above the horizon—the sun vanished again, and did not honor them with his smiles for four months more. At 12 o'clock for two or three weeks there was considerable twilight, but this was soon lost, when for three months the twilight was very inconsiderable. The moonlight days and nights were beautifully bright. The winter was remarkable for being one of the severest and the longest in darkness ever experienced by civilized man.

DISSOLVING THE UNION.—Gen. Nye, formerly one of the leading Democrats of New York, but who now favors the Republican movement, in a recent speech in N. Y. City, said:

But they tell us that I was to be swallowed up by Seward and the Whigs. Well, upon the principle that little fish are always swallowed by big ones, I must be swallowed by somebody, and I do not know but I should repose as quietly in them as I should in a Pierce or a Cochrane [Laughter]. If there be any swallowing, I contend that Freedom shall swallow us all up [Cheers]. That's the kind of swallowing I am after. The cry of "The Union is in danger" has ceased to frighten children. I have seen members of Congress shake until their knees knocked together. I have seen Jerry Clemens dissolve the Union twice in one night, and I was not shaken enough to disturb the equilibrium of a fly [Laughter and cheers].

Some of the Irish Catholic journals, taking advantage of the return of a few of our Celtic population to the land of their birth, are using their utmost endeavors to stay the tide of emigration to America. They give dismal accounts of the unhealthiness of our climate, which soon, they say, destroys the strongest frames and the most robust constitutions, so that a hale old man is scarcely met with. Then owing to the style and expenses of social life, they affirm that 10d or 1s a day in Ireland, is as good as the wages obtained here; and that in physical comforts matters are fast finding a level on both sides of the Atlantic. But the greatest stress is laid on the state of morals and religion here. The Tuam Herald, the organ of the Rev. Dr. McHale, says:

"Before many years elapse, unless the tone of American society becomes essentially altered, Irishmen who set any value upon domestic peace or upon their salvation, will fly from contact with its once boasted free soil with as much horror as they would shun the fiery pavement of the regions of the damned. This is strong language, but not stronger than we heard not many days ago, from the lips of one of those returned emigrants. Liberty in the United States has degenerated into the most profligate licentiousness. Thousands of our exiled fellow countrymen have fallen, and are daily falling, victims to the seductive allurements of this licentious freedom from moral restraints."

If the writer means that many of his countrymen tumble into drunkard's graves, he speaks the truth. They get as much bad liquor as they can, and are the best customers it has.

MAJOR JACK DOWNING'S OPINION.—The redoubtable Major Jack Downing has written another letter to the President, through the columns of the National Intelligencer. This inimitable satirist winds up as follows:

"I see things is thickening up all around you, and with the troubles in Mexico, and Denmark, and Kan as, and the melting down and mixing up of about fifteen political parties all over the country and running them into thirty new moulds, you must have your hands full, and will need all your friends to stick by you; and I assure you I am not the man to desert an administration so long as I hold an office under it."

☞ A young man named John Matthews, aged 25 years, was killed on Sunday night last, at Manchester, by falling out of the attic or fourth story window of the American House in that city. It is supposed that he was taken sick in the night, and while vomiting out of the window, lost his balance and fell to the ground.

DEATH OF A VETERAN.—Died in Georgia, Vt., Sept. 30, Mr Elisha Bartlett, aged 100 years 9 months and 13 days. Mr Bartlett was born in Chatham, Conn., Dec. 16, 1754. He was the son of a clergyman, and the youngest of ten children. He served thirteen months in the Continental army under his brother, Capt. Samuel Bartlett— marched with his brother for Boston, and arrived just after the battle of Bunker Hill—was in the division that fortified Dorchester Heights—was present at the evacuation of Boston—was in the battle of Brooklyn Heights—of White Plains—and of the capture of Burgoyne. Mr Bartlett was a farmer by profession, of temperate, industrious and frugal habits, and labored more or less till the last two days of his life. He retained his faculties, in an eminent degree, to the last. A few days previous to his death he affirmed, and it is believed, he walked unaided every day for one hundred years.

UP IN THE MORNING.—On Monday morning last, Rev. William Patrick, formerly, and for a long course of years, pastor of the Congregational Church in Canterbury, now 86 years of age, came to Concord, 8 miles, in an open wagon with his son,—the latter to take the 6 o'clock train for Boston—the father returning in the wagon. Probably three fourths of all "Young America" living in this city, were sound asleep when the venerable gentleman was on his way homeward.—Concord Statesman.

A MAIL MESSENGER ARRESTED.—Under the new Registry System, mail depredators stand but a poor chance of escape. Within a few days past, several registered letters from Indianapolis, directed to and through the Cleveland Post Office, came up missing. Under the new system, Post Masters are the first to be apprised of such losses, as the post bill which comes in a separate envelope generally arrives, notifying the Post Master that such a letter has been sent, and a receipt for which is asked by return of mail.

A boy by the name of Peter Phillips was suspected of the theft; he has lately been employed as a messenger by P. Farley, who is employed by the Railroads to carry the mails from the Post Office to the Depots, and in his capacity had access to the office as a sworn agent.

A decoy package was placed in his way, and an opportunity given to test his honesty, when the bait took, and he was caught in the very act. To-day he was arrested, and $157 of the money recovered, $42 of which was the same as that placed in the decoy and marked by the deputy Post Master.

He confessed to the taking of four letters, but cannot remember the amounts taken, or the addresses, as he threw the envelopes into the Lake. He has a widowed mother, is of poor family, and was considered honest beyond suspicion, until he began to frequent dancing and drinking houses, and show his money in such places.—Cleveland (Ohio) Plaindealer, Oct. 13th.

Alonzo Griffin of Massachusetts was forced to leave Macon, Ga., last week, for expressing sentiments hostile to the "peculiar institution.

In Florence, a city of 100,000 people, no less than 11,000 persons died of cholera in August last, and 30,000 more fled the place. The Grand Duke, however, remained, and was constantly employed in tending the sick and burying the dead.

LOCAL.

CONFIRMED.—On Tuesday forenoon, Rt. Rev. Bishop Chase of the Diocese of New Hampshire, administered the holy rite of confirmation, on eleven persons—8 females and 3 males, at St. John's Church.

FLOUR LEAGUE.—The subscribers to the Bread League in this city, are to hold a meeting at the Ward Room in Elm street this evening, for the purpose of choosing a agent to go west to buy flour, and for the transaction of any other business that may be necessary.

Such associations have been successful in other places in procuring good flour at a much cheaper rate than is asked by the dealers on the seabord. That flour can be delivered in this city at the price guaranteed in the subscription paper—$8 per brl. for extra—we have some doubt. In Buffalo, 9th inst. prices were, for extra Michigan, $7.70; choice to fancy Ohio, 38 a 8.25 per brl. In Chicago, 6th inst, fine $4.50 a 5.00; extra $7.25 a 7.50; City Mills extra, $7.75. Prices have not materially changed within the last ten days.

☞ A few days ago we copied and commented on a notice from the Boston Courier, of the new Parker House in Boston.—The N. Y. Mirror in noticing a similar paragraph, says—

"It strikes us that the present tendency is for ladies to "disrobe themselves" not only of "that shyness" which is akin to modesty, but even of the angelic attribute of modesty itself. A beautiful woman in a fashionable restaurant, with a glass of brandy and water in her hand, "on the European plan," we should regard, in our unsophisticated village of New York, as a rather indelicate exhibition. We have long since lost the school boy illusion that women are made of ether, and can live on love; but we still confess to something of a repugnance at seeing them in eating saloons, up to their eyes in beef and beer.

ACCIDENT.—At Lanesboro', on the 9th inst. while Lorenzo Bailey was upon a large and apparently sound limb of a tree, on the farm of Eli Bradley, Esq., gathering apples, the limb proved to be rotten, and, breaking, precipitated him from the height of 24 feet to the ground, killing him almost instantly. He was 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children.

Mrs. E. Oakes Smith writes her friend Mary Forrest, that:—"In more modern times, the Roman Catholic calendar shows a long array of canonized women, who divide with men the sanctities of the church. It is only in our day, and by the Protestant church, that woman is degraded to a creature of mere utility, a weapon, a cat's paw to man."

SHOW VS. SUBSTANCE.—The New York Independent tells the following story:

A merchant with his family, (three persons,) who had been absent in Europe several years, stopped at one of the magnificent up-town hotels in that city not long since. He found his dinner usually cold, and a poor attendance of servants. When the bill was presented he did not complain of the charge of some $200 for a week's board, but took occasion to say that more attention should be paid by the servants, and that the meals should be more carefully provided. He was comforted with the reply that he had a splendidly furnished room. That's all very well, said he, but we can't eat plate glass, brocatelle, or rosewood. We came to your beautiful establishment for comfort, but find that velvet and extra gilt don't answer for everything. Very good sense that.

NOT QUITE.—We published the following some time since, and it is but fair to present it again. The fact that Dr. Kane is still in the land of the living is rather a back-fire. What will the "spirit" who told this story now say? We pause for a reply:

A "SPIRITUAL" PREDICTION.—The New England Spiritualist puts on record as a test, the communication received on the 30th of June from a spirit, to the effect that "Dr. Kane has recently passed away from the earth life, his mortal body having been crushed by the ice, as he went after his crew, who had gone in search of land. His ships have been broken to pieces and destroyed, and most, if not all his crew, are in the spirit world." The spirit also stated that he, in company with Dr. Kane, Sir John Franklin and others, was last night in the polar regions, and saw the remains of Dr. Kane upon the ice; with clothes, papers and his watch, upon which they saw his name, 'Dr. Kane,' he having engraved it thereon, not expecting to escape, but hoping that it might be found by some one in search of him.

SATTER, THE PIANIST,—After a short and pleasant tour through some of our principal cities, Gustave Satter, the renowned pianist, has returned to Boston at the earnest solicitation of his many friends in this city, to become "one of us." He expresses himself delighted with the attention he has received, but says that at no place in this country does he find himself so much at home as in "good old Boston."

We are pleased and flattered that Mr Satter has decided to locate with us as a teacher on the piano, as it will afford many ordinarily good players among us an opportunity of availing themselves of the benefits and beauties of the Italian and German school, without the expense of an European tour, knowing, as we do, that Mr Satter possesses the uncommon tact of imparting that wonderful control of his favorite instrument which he himself enjoys. For terms, &c., he can be addressed at the music stores of O. Ditson, 115 Washington street, Nathan Richardson, 282 Washington street, and at the ware rooms of Hallett, Davis & Co., 409 Washington street.—Transcript.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, may almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 15.—For some months past, valuable articles of merchandise have been missed from packages carried as freight over the Central Railroad. The goods were eventually found to have been abstracted while they were in transit by persons having access to them by virtue of their position. These losses have fallen upon the railroad company. Suspicion recently pointed towards the conductors and brakemen on the freight trains, men who have for sometime been in the employment of the company, and who were considered honest and faithful.

On Saturday a visit was made to the residences of two conductors residing in this city, William Hoppen and Geo. L. Lyon, and to the boarding-house of Samuel Huntington, brakeman, and a very large quantity of goods was found. The residences of other employees in other parts of the State have been visited with a similar result. Eight persons employed on the road were arrested yesterday, and four more to-day. They are all lodged in prison, awaiting the action of the law.

PORTLAND, Oct. 15.—The freshet on Sunday, on the Kennebec River, was higher than for several years past. The Bloomfield side of the bridge, between Bloomfield and Skowhegan, was carried away together with Chase & Hill's clothing-mill, two saw-mills and the shovel-handle factory of Abraham W. Lyman, with large quantities of shovel-handles and stock. The wooden factory at North Anson was also carried off.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Nicaraguan correspondent writes, the reported resignation of Kinney, is untrue. He had simply consented to stand the test of another election. His authority had been officially acknowledged by the United States Consul agent at Greytown.

Col. Walker was at San Juan, with 200 men, awaiting the arrival of more troops and arms, when he would make another attack upon Rivas.

The news of Walker's movements had caused so much alarm at San Francisco, that the Bankers were afraid to send their specie by the Nicaraguan route. This accounts for the small amount brought by the Northern Light.

Fatal Accident on the Harlem Railroad.—The milk agent on the early up train on the Harlem Railroad, while on the top of the cars adjusting the bell-rope, came in contact with a bridge near Yorkville, and died almost immediately from the effects of the injury he received.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We learn from a correspondent, that on Saturday morning a young man by the name of John Matthews, about 25 years old, came to an untimely death by falling out of the fourth story window of the Franklin House, (where he was boarding) Manchester, N. H., killing him almost instantly. At first suspicions were excited that foul play might have been used, but it is supposed that he was ill in the night, opened the window, and accidentally tumbled out. He was a native of Groton, N. H., but had lived in Manchester several years. It is said he was intemperate in his habits.—Boston Chronicle.

A FAIR PENITENT IN A FIX.—The fashion of wearing dresses of extreme breadth has spread from Paris to the French Provinces.—The Courier de l'Eure mentions an unfortunate occurrence, occasioned by the custom.—A lady, it seems, presented herself at the confessional of the cathedral. But presenting herself was not all that was to be done; it was necessary to enter the narrow space reserved for the penitent, and to reach the grating which divides him or her from the priest. To do this, the dress submitted to extraordinary efforts; but the whalebone of the under dress was obstinate, and, compressed on one side, the balloon swelled out on the other.—The dress persisted in its resistance—a silent resistence, scarcely betrayed by the rustling of the silk, and the little movements of half-stifled impatience. At last the worldly toilet got the better of the aspirations of piety.—Reddened by confusion, the penitent quitted the spot and left the church.

ITEM-IZING.—We don't know anybody who can beat the editor of the Charlestown (Mass.) Advertiser, in getting up spicy items for a newspaper. We give below a specimen, in which he has outdone himself. In giving an account of a late civic and military turnout in Charlestown, by the City Guard, for target practice, he explains why he was not on the field or at the feast:

We tender our apologies for not being present to complete our report and hear reports of a different character. We had meant to be there, as also upon the tented field—because if at the first place, we should have hit the "bull's-eye" and got the knife and fork, which would have enabled us to keep pace with the symptoms of our family affairs; if present at the last, we should have been hungry, and the occasion would therefore have been proper. We were at neither however, and can only say as an excuse that our domestic arrangements were slightly agitated by the appearance at a late hour of the sight, of a real "eight pounder"—boy.

THE TREASURER'S COUNTRY SEAT.—The Traveller learns from good authority that William S. Tuckerman, the late Treasurer of the Eastern Railroad, has removed from the elegant country residence formerly owned and occupied by him at Newton Corner, and that the Directors of the Eastern Railroad have decided to sell the house and lands during the present month. The place is valued at $15,000, and the fact that it has not been sold long before this time has caused considerable dissatisfaction among the stockholders, and probably is one of the causes that have depressed the stock.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, internal or external? HAYES'S Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbugery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as a rare article, and the cure one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous tumors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face, leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

CHARLES H. KENT General Agent for the United States and British Provinces, Lowell, Mass, to whom all orders should be addressed.

G. W. STONE'S
ELIXIR.

THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all Affections of the Throat and Lungs and begs of those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXER a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal.—It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion that no family should be without this Medicine: let Mothers give it to their Children who have the Whooping Cough or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones. Price 50 cts.

Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name, and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass., are blown upon the Bottle, without which none will be genuine.

WAREROOMS,
NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,
No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,
NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense variety of sounds can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Piano.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

APPEARANCE OF THE NAVIGATORS.—A northen latitude is eminently conducive to the development of hair and fat. At least the samples of its effects in the persons of the returning navigators Saturday would unavoidably lead us to this conclusion. Every one was stout and rosy, and as no razor had marred the beards of the mariners since their departure from these shores, every face was covered with a sturdy growth of hair that was peculiarly refreshing to behold. Dr. Kane himself wore a beard of patriarchal proportions, in the corners of which still lingered the silver traces of his residence within the frigid zone. His little body was wrapped in multitudinous layers of flannels and skins, and over all was drawn a tight worsted shirt, so that his person was of almost Falstaffian proportions. The doctor looked quite fleshy in the face, and altogether his Arctic sojourn seemed to agree with him wonderfully well.—Between the doctor and his men an almost fatherly feeling seemed to exist, they looking up to him with pride and veneration, feelings which he returned by an affection for them that was truly parental. At an early moment after anchoring, Dr. Kane, Lieut. Hartstein, Dr. Kane's officers and several of his men went on shore, accompanied by their numerous friends, who had already put off to the ship to welcome them home.

The vessels are in good trim, staunch and ready for another tussel with the elements; but no doubt for the present they will be laid up as ordinary. We observed numerous articles of Esquimaux manufacture, on board; among them ladies' seal-skin breeches, elegant leggins and mocassins that looked externally big enough for a giant, so small on the inside that only a very delicate foot could don them. But we must draw to a close, and take another occasion for a minute examination of these curiosities.—N. Y. Tribune.

OLD DOG TOODLES.—A reporter of the N. Y. Tribune found in the foreastle of Dr. Kane's vessel a somewhat aged and docile specimen of the canine species, whose history is quite eventful. He is a large, full-blooded animal of the Esquimaux breed, known by the soubriquet of "Toodles," and is a great favorite with the men, both on account of his sagacity and the faithfulness with which he has served them during the cruise. He is the sole survivor of a pack of 60 dogs, used by Dr Kane and his companions, some of which they were reduced to the necessity of killing for food. Poor Toodles had a narrow escape! One morning found the party without a particle of food, and only a single dog—this faithful and affectionate Toodles, who had been the companion of their vicissitudes, shared their sufferings, and who had lost the use of two toes by frost in their service. Thus Toodles had accumulated claims on their gratitude, and for a long time they hesitated before sacrificing him. But although the ties of friendship are hard to break, the calls of a hungry stomach will not be satisfied with sentiment, and consequently Toodles was doomed. The pistol was already loaded and the stew-pan prepared, which wrs to convert the shaggy body of Toodles into a savory ragout, when, providential interference! one of the party made his appearance with a seal, which he had just succeeded in capturing. The appearance of a numerous herd of seal in that vicinity prevented a recurrence of actual starvation, and thus Toodles, was saved.

A FULL BLOODED AMERICAN.—Tim Mullowny, a jolly looking tar, with the richest of brogues, applied at the Custom House the other day for "partection" as an American citizen. He was asked for his naturalization papers. "Me nateral papers, is it, your honor wants," said Tim, with an insinuating grin, "an' me a full blooded American?"

"You don't mean to say that you were not born in Ireland?"

"Born in Ireland!" replied Tim. "Sure I was. But thin, yer honor, I kem from Cork to New Orleans last summer, an' there the bloody minded muskeeters run their bills into every inch of me, an' sucked out every drop of me Irish blood, good luck to 'em, an' now I'm a full blooded American."

There was some philosophy as well as fun in this reasoning, but it had no effect; and the last that was seen of Tim he was on his way to the City Hall, to look for the man who sells the nateral papers.—New York papers.

Up at Manchester, the other day, a party from Boston were examining the factory facilities and buildings, and among the rest the force pumps that threw water all over the premises. This was just as the girls were leaving work, and some of them got pretty wet. "You are washing your girls, Colonel?" said one of the party to the master of ceremonies. "Yes," said he quickly, as the bell sounded for closing the work for the day; "yes, and we are now ringing them out."—Boston Post.

SUICIDE OF A BOSTONIAN.—Mr Henry A. Brewer, committed suicide by hanging himself in the horse-shed in the rear of the Congregational Church in Holliston, Thursday night, the 11th inst. Mr Brewer leaves a wife and four children at 123 Hanover street, Boston. He was 48 years of age.

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be the Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITES' Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 54 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Morning Chronicle.

LEGAL LORE—No. 2.

In the High Court of Public Opinion.

Before Uncle Toby.

The N. H. Gazette appears and petitions for an Inquisition on the Mayor and Uncle Toby, and also on the Public Morals, which the petitioner connects with these important personages.

The Court would remark that it has not been customary for Judges to sit on their own cases,—but as Judge Kane has recently revised his own proceedings in sentencing Passmore Williamson for contempt, and pronounced them all right,—so Uncle Toby can hear the Gazette and decide his own previous decision to be sound law—or gospel,—just as it may appear.

The petitioner may make his statement.

Uncle Toby thinks "the state of public morality is low." We think so too, when such trash as the Chronicle daily utters is swallowed by a hundred or two of our citizens.

The citizens who swallow such trash as the Chronicle daily utters, is in no danger thereby, of beating his wife, destroying himself, or disturbing his neighbors. But there is another kind of trash, that is daily swallowed by another hundred or two of our citizens, to their certain injury and probable degradation and ruin. Some of these victims, too, are men of promise, men of worth, excellent men but in this one thing, wherein they are blindly besotted.

We shall not commit the petitioner for contempt,—but allow him to amend, and to proceed.

What about the Mayor's proclamation, Mr. Chronicle? Was that mere "bosh?" Or have the city officers abandoned their intention of enforcing the law? It seems to us a very discreditable way of getting out of a bad fix by attributing the failure of the law to a low state of public morals. Why not own up that the law is so bad that even its makers are ashamed of it, and that the Mayor made a slight mistake in issuing his famous proclamation. But the law is not enforced, and the cause is found to lie in the wickedness of the people. It was said that this was the very thing the liquor law was to suppress, and our officers were to ferret out; but it seems that the magnitude of public wickedness is so overwhelming as to paralyze the efforts of our distinguished Mayor and his subordinates.

The Court considers:

2, That he has found no fault with it, but endeavored, like a good citizen, to obey it. He is also happy to know that some of the best men who were previously selling liquor, have regarded the proclamation, and strictly obeyed the law, which cut off a portion of their gains. These men deserve the public thanks for making a pecuniary sacrifice.

3, That the city officers are doing their best to enforce the law.

4, That Uncle Toby is in no fix at all about the law; his advocacy of temperance was not begun by the law; does not depend upon it in the slightest degree; and would not be increased or diminished by its repeal. He is sorry, and only sorry, that our community are not sufficiently temperate to obey such a law in its true spirit, heartily and universally. The court knows of no people in a bad fix about the law, except the wives and children of some sots who get liquor in spite of it.

5, That he has not attributed the failure of the law to any thing or cause whatever—chiefly for the reason that he has not yet said that it is a failure. It has been obeyed in this place, far better than he expected; and has been executed, here and elsewhere in the State, quite as well as he expected—quite as well as any liquor or license law that he can remember.

6, That he does not know or believe that its makers are ashamed of it, nor that the mayor has made a mistake in the premises.

7, That no penal law which men make, is or can be fully executed—and that in this Republic the people rarely submit to the enforcement of any law. Public sentiment is our great law—and this sentiment goes strongly in favor of the laws which aim to protect property, as for example the laws against stealing; therefore these laws are executed easily, as they are obeyed generally. Only a few cases call for force, and then the majority is so strong for the law, that victory is sure. But if thieves were as plentiful as drunkards, and pilferers as numerous as tipplers, the case would be changed. And above all, if it were deemed as honorable to tempt a young man to be a thief, as it has been to tempt him to be a sot—then the law against larceny would be decried as oppressive and unconstitutional.

8, All penal statutes are made to suppress wickedness—and yet a people may be so universally or generally wedded to a vice or folly, as to make it impossible to enforce a law against it, unless by an overpowering armed police force from without. This was the condition of our people in New England forty years ago—when such a law a law as the petitioner now complains of, could not have been enacted nor hardly thought of.

On the other hand, were all our people temperate, and most of them total abstinents, no such law could be needed, or would be opposed in the least, if it stood on the statute book.

But our people are not all temperate, nor all intemperate; they are mixed. There are varieties of practice, of opinion, of will.

On the one hand there are many who consider the dramshop to be a nuisance, and who aim to suppress the sale of spirits by law, except for certain purposes and under certain regulations. And on the other there are many who seem to consider the dramshop to be a precious institution, without which the Union cannot be saved, nor our liberties preserved. That there should be collisions between the two, is quite natural.

Finally, the Court would suggest that the friends of temperance do all they can to raise the tone of public morals. Without this, the best human laws are feeble. With it, a few laws will answer the purpose, and they may be as simple as the Decalogue itself.

The Court decrees that the Mayor and other executive officers may take the best care of the law they can, and also of the drunkards and paupers. And that Uncle Toby may continue, as hitherto, to run an independent line of Moral Suasion.

The petitioner has leave to withdraw.

LETTER FROM EXETER.

Exeter, Oct. 17, 1855.

Messrs. Editors:—The Exeter News Letter is again to change hands. For a few months past it has been conducted by Charles H. Bell, Esq., who in the last number of the paper made his best bow and retired. The new editor, rumor has it, is to be Rev. Levi W. Leonard, D. D., who is well known, both here and elsewhere, as the author of a history of Dublin, N. H., recently published, and who is a man of talent and a good writer.

The new Town House, which has been so much talked of, is fast being hastened on to completion, although it will probably not be ready for use until late in the Spring. The exterior is nearly finished, and in reality it presents a fine appearance, especially as observed from Water street. But at every step of progress the grumblers must have their say, until the object of each step is rendered more apparent, when their complaint is changed to praise, and, as we have almost invariably found it to be the case, they praise what just now they criticised and condemned. So it has been, and so it probably will continue, until it is entirely finished, when this class of persons will have one long hearty growl, become satisfied and then commence to make comparisons between it and the public buildings of a city not far distant. Do not understand us to say there are many such, but we think there are some.

A brick building has been erected by the Trustees of Phillips Academy during the past year, for the accommodation of the students connected with that Institution. There are already two buildings devoted to this purpose, but these proving insufficient, the Trustees have erected this, the third. It is situated upon the Academy grounds, and is one of the handsomest buildings here, which is not slight praise, for Exeter has, in proportion to her size, a large number of fine dwellings. This "Club House," as it is here called, will be ready at the beginning of the next Academic term, when there will be accommodations afforded to about eighty students in the Academy buildings alone.

The Maine Law seems to be very generally observed here, and but one or two complaints have been entered under it. Whether this is owing to the effects of a fear of an enforcement of the law or to the moral tone of the community, it is impossible for us to say; but at least, we have seen no intoxicated person in the streets since the day of the Rockingham Fair. Squamscott.

FRESHET DOWN EAST.

The freshet on Sunday on the Kennebec River was higher than for several years past. The Bloomfield side of the bridge between Bloomfield and Skowhegan was carried away together with Chase and Hill's clothing mill, two saw mills, and, and the shovel handle factory of Abraham Wyman, with large quantities of shovel handles and stock. The woolen factory at North Anson was also carried off. On Sunday evening the water was 20 feet above high water mark at Hallowell.—The lower part of Water street was completely submerged.

Thirteen buildings in our village have been carried away by the freshet—Factory, Mills, Houses, and Stables—Water from four to five feet higher than ever.

The Bath Tribune of Oct. 16, says:

The freshet on the river yesterday, was the heaviest since 1832. The floods have completely submerged Water street in Augusta, doing little damage however, further than to set on fire an old shed used for storing lime. Vast numbers of logs have been swept down the river from its tributaries. The Dam stands the test bravely, so do the bridges, and the embankment of the Kennebec & Portland Railroad. There has been a fall of five feet since Sunday, and the river is fast subsiding to its natural level.

LOCAL.

Died, in this city, at midnight of Wednesday, Oct. 17th, after a delirious sickness of only eight days, Mr. Thomas W. Miller, aged 23 years 9 1-2 months; son of Rev. T. H. Miller, and junior publisher of the Chronicle. He fell from a tree, three months ago, and his death may have been attributable to internal injuries then received. He was at his post in the office, as usual, on Saturday morning, the 6th instant; and was able to walk to the office again on the following Monday afternoon. From that time his youthful sands have rapidly run out; and his earthly sun has set ere it had reached the meridian of his hopes, and while the cheering blush of dawn shed its enlivening rays over a future to him most bright.

The funeral services will be held at his father's residence, No. 20 Hanover street, on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend, without further notice. P.

Prolific.—Mr. John P. Payson of this city show us a quantity of beans measuring about a pint, and 536 in number, all the product of a single stalk. A large business ot that kind would pay well.

☞ We are requested to call attention to an advertisment in another column, of the reassembling of the American party, to take place this evening at Rechab Hall.

KANSAS.

The following late letter from an intelligent and well informed gentleman at Lawrence, Kansas territory, to the Boston Advertiser, will be read with interest. It will be observed that it was written in the interval between the elections of the 1st and 9th inst. The former election having been ordered by the quasi-legislature, received no attention from the Free State men, who would vote at the latter election for Gov. Reeder. We shall doubtless soon receive authentic reports of the result—and should have had them sooner, were the telegraph an impartial channel of communication:—

Monday, Oct. 1st, was the pro-slavery election. All things passed off quietly at Lawrence. They could not get judges to be sworn till the afternoon. Then they polled only 42 votes against over 600 polled last spring.

Missourians came over in great numbers at Wyandot, Delaware city, and some other places. But they kept a good distance from Lawrence. We were fully prepared for them, and to prepare is to prevent a conflict. We have not yet got the returns. I think Whitfield will get about 2000 votes, all of 1200 of them will be residents of another state. There are not over 800 pro-slavery voters in the territory. There is no organized pro-slavery party in the territory. Many who voted on Monday did not and would not pay "the dollar" (required by the law of the quasi legislature.)

We intend to poll 2500 votes next Tuesday, the 9th, for Reeder. There is perfect harmony and good feeling among our own people. We are to have a grand meeting in the long dining hall of our new hotel in Lawrence, (the Free State house,) on Monday evening next; Gov Reeder, Col Lane and Gen Pomeroy are advertised to speak. Tuesday is voting day. If we can pass that day without the Missourians molesting us, and get Reeder and our Convention delegates chosen, Kanzas is free, and the Missourians cannot help it or hinder it. A Free Constitution will be made, let us be admitted when we may.—The convention which make it will provide for the protection of the ballot boxes when the people accept it.

Gov Shannon says he will have us all up for treason. He has turned entirely against us.

Railroad Murders. — Two men were killed on Monday morning about 2 o'clock, on the Harlem Rail Road, New York.

The milk train that left White Plains at 1 A. M., when near Williams' bridge came in contact with a rail that had been spiked down across the track with the evident intention of throwing the train off the track. The engine was thrown from the track down an embankment, killing the engineer and fireman. The baggage car, containing 7 persons, was turned bottom side up. They were all thrown out and escaped without injury. One brakeman had an ankle sprained, and the conductor was slightly bruised. The accident delayed all the trains to and from New York several hours.

When the news reached New York a train was despatched in charge of Mr Simon McCabe, to bring the milk to New York. When about four miles from New York, Mr. McCabe, who was standing on the top of one of the cars, was struck by a bridge and instantly killed. Mr McCabe was an agent at the 27th street station. He leaves a wife and two children.

Mr Rooke, engineer, leaves a wife and one child. His brother, the fireman, was a single man, and had been on the road only three days.

It is greatly to be desired that such deliberate and diabolical murderers, as those who fixed the obstruction, should be discovered and secured.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people,—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Pronouncing Gazeteer

OF THE WORLD, or Geographical Dictionary, containing a greater amount of matter than any single volume in the English Language. Edited by J. Thomas, M.D., and T. Baldwin, assisted by several other Gentlemen.

The Publishers say—in undertaking the publication of the present work, upon which over five years of continued labor and research, with a large outlay of money have been expended, with a view not merely to the deficiencies of existing Gazeteers, but to furnish a Geographical Dictionary which should be as comprehensive in its design, as perfect in its arrangement, and as complete and accurate in its execution, as the best Dictionary of the English Language.

Among the many other claims to superiority which this work has over all others of the kind, are the following:

1st, It is a Pronouncing Gazeteer, a feature as essential to its completeness of a Geographical Dictionary as to a Dictionary of the English language.

2d, It contains over 2000 more names of Places than any other Gazeteer of the World. And the notices of all important places in our Gazeteer will also be found more full and satisfactory.

3d, In regard to accuracy and recentness of information, this Gazeteer will be found incomparably superior to every other.

We might have hurried our Gazeteer through the press to forestall others commenced long after ours was in progress; but we could not be tempted to waive a single feature of excellence requiring time for its perfection.

It ran along about n range of the depot. Two chimneys were blown down from the house of Mr. Hinckley, and two from Mr. Irish's house. Mr. N. Brown's shed was blown down. Capt. Daniel C. Emery's shed and three or four chimneys were overthrown. A house occupied by Mr. Niles was started from its foundation, and moved some rods. Mr. Craig's stable was torn entirely to pieces, and the wreck landed on a high hill, at some distance off. A great many fruit trees were uprooted, and some ornamental trees destroyed. The gale here was very furious.—Portland State of Maine.

It was occupied by two families, American and Irish. Mrs Rebecca Sylver, an old lady about eighty years of age, perished in the flames.—Newburyport Herald.

Try it! Try it! Try it!

G. W. STONE'S

—AND—

Family Physic,

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It not only produces all the effects whereby a physic is required, but completely removes habitual Costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be called upon in all diseases of the Bowels: Dysentery, Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—It needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with Scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from habitual Costiveness?—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the blood by the use of from one to six bottles. In short, if you require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

PRICE $1.00.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos made by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the string; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

Morning Chronicle.

HORACE GREELEY ON LOUIS NAPOLEON.—Horace Greeley writes home a very sensible letter all about Louis Napoleon. Having seen him at home, he is in a situation to form a pretty good estimate of him and his rule. He writes:—

"I could not name another living monarch who would be likely to wield such absolute power over thirty-five millions of people more beneficently than he does. * * * Despotism is bitter, but the despotism of one shrewd man has its alleviations, such as are unknown to the rule of "shoulder-hitters," or of the Empire Club. * * * But will the Empire stand? I meet no one who believes it will survive the present Emperor, and very many who think it will last as long as he does. While no one speaks of his patriotism or disinterestedness, even by way of joke, there is a very general trust in his ability, and confidence in his indefatigable energy. He is probably the most active, untiring ruler now living, and in this respect at least, reminds the French of "Napoleon le Grand."

TOO GOOD TO BE LOST.—Last week a friend of ours, whom we will call C——, just for short, hired a gray horse and buggy (we are not sure about the buggy being gray) and took his wife to the Rockville Fair. Being a little more familiar with the 'gray goose quill' than with horse flesh of any color, when the good wife inquired why they made such poor time, he rather allowed that the gray was going away from home. But they reached their destination, and of course had a good time. On coming home in the evening his wife remarked, what fine time the gray was making; he accounted for that on the ground that the horse was going towards home. On remarking to the stable keeper the singular conduct of the horse, judge of his astonishment to learn that it was not the same horse!

But the finishing part is to come. A young man had taken a young lady, perhaps "his lady love," to see the Zo-o-lo-gi-cal Garden. Judge of his dismay to find his exceeding gray gone, and was informed that Mr C., of Frederick had taken him off. What should be done?

He had plenty of money, but could not stay all night. He was independent enough, but had along a bundle of calico, whose mother did not know she was "out." So he was bound to come or "break a trace." He took what he thought was the Hagerstown gray, with all the responsibility and came home. Both gentlemen were agreeably relieved the next morning by finding they were not horse thieves—that there were two horses alike in the city, and "tother" had merely been mistaken for "which." Thus ended the first lesson in horse-ology, with our friend of the "Typographical Society," whose business had made him more observant of "time than of color."

NOVEL PRECAUTION.—In consequence of the frequency of burglaries in jewelry stores, a very ingenious precaution has been devised by a jeweller in Cannon street, London. A pannel is cut out of the middle shutter, and a piece of plate glass inserted, secured by iron bars inside. The valuables are placed in an iron safe in a frame on rollers, surrounded by gas, with the key-hole facing the window, so that any one passing can look through the glass and see all that is going on inside the shop. If the gas is out, or the window darkened, the police, of course, know that there is something wrong. This is certainly novel and ingenious, but London thieves will discover the means of defeating the operation before a very long time.

Some irreverent wretch styles Dr. Bellows's new church in New York, "The Church of the Holy Zebra." It is built in alternate layers of red and yellow brick, which gives it a curiously streaked effect, resembling mutton chops or raw pork.

FIRE.—On Monday morning at about one o'clock, a fire occurred at Chamberlain mills, on the line of the Boston and Worcester Rail Road, near Westborough, in a house occupied by Wellington Tyler and owned by Benjamin F., and Abner Prentiss. Mrs. Tyler was awakened by some noise, and arousing her husband he leaped from his bed, and his feet broke through the half-burned floor.—The room where they were, was in the second story. Mr T threw the bed from the window, and then let down his wife and children, and afterwards escaped himself. Meanwhile, one of Mr Prentiss's men took a good horse and rode to Woodville, a distance of three miles, to request the services of Engine Company No. 2, commanded by G. S. Gamage. The company with their engine was promptly upon the ground—for in 45 minutes from the time Mr Prentiss's man started, the engine was at the house and in active operation.—By the gallant exertions of the fire company, a part of the house was saved, and prevented the extension of the fire.

A valuable grist mill about twenty feet distant from the Tylers' house would probably have been burned. Mr Tyler lost all his furniture, and he and his family escaped in their night clothes only. Great praise is due to the engine company.

Some men live as if they were poor, all their lives, to be wealthy when they die.

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be the Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivalled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 54 square inches, with a very rapid motion. One boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1855.

ELECTIONS BY THE PEOPLE.

The New Hampshire Gazette of Oct. 13, contains an article signed by "A Reform Democrat," who seems to cherish an earnest desire to have nearly or quite all our Officers, State and National, elected by the people. In this wish we join him,—and make the following extracts from his article.

There can certainly be no question as to the safety of still farther entrusting the people with the selection of their agents. * * * If under our present system, the principal business of the President is not the distribution of the immense patronage of the government, certainly everything else is made subservient to this object.

* * * The immense executive patronage, under the direction of an honest and patriotic President becomes a trust of overwhelming magnitude and responsibility, and even in the best circumstances, fetters his hands and paralyzes his exertions for the common weal to an extent which will be more fully appreciated as the evil is allowed to be perpetuated. In the hands of a selfish and aspiring individual, whose patriotism and love of a republican government were secondary to the fulfilment of his own ambitious views, (if we can admit for a moment that such a man might be elevated to the highest office in the republic,) this immense patronage might, if it did not involve our free government directly in a tyranny, self-perpetuating and enduring, at least prove the means of establishing a specious and controlling assumption of additional powers of government so thoroughly guarded by the vast resources of the country, as to require a popular revolution to vindicate the rights of the people and re-establish the purity of the republic of our fathers.

This question is of vast importance, and deserving, as it must soon receive, the careful consideration of the leading minds of the age. The people, we predict, will soon be called upon to act upon it, and we foresee that whatever obstacles, constitutional or otherwise, exist to the reform, they will be gradually swept away to meet its obvious and just demands.—If the fact is settled and no longer an experiment that the best government is that which proceeds directly from the people, there can no danger in enlarging its powers by giving to the people the selection especially of the agents in which every member of the community is closely interested. Let us carry out the doctrine of popular local sovereignty in every practicable manner.

To this we add our hearty Amen! Let the people choose their own officers and servants.

SALVAGE CASE.—The Boston Advertiser gives in full the highly important decree of Justice Hoffman, of the District Court of California, in the case of the clipper ship John Land. This vessel, when in a leaky and critical condition, was fallen in with by the whaling vessel D. M. Hall, whose captain (Pratt) furnished assistance, only upon condition that the clipper should be surrendered to him. The Judge awarded $60,000 salvage upon a total value of $260,000.

It was doubtless an attempted case of spoonging on a large scale. But a hard bargain, driven in such hard conditions, does not always hold good in a respectable court of law.

Judge Hoffman very truly says, of Capt. Pratt, who aimed to grab the whole as salvage,—

The slightest acquaintance with the law must have apprised him of the futility of such an attempt, and his own reason must have told him that a claim to a ship and cargo, worth $280,000, as a reward for not having abandoned to their fate on the broad ocean a company of distressed mariners, would be rejected with indignation by the tribunals of every civilized nation. But, even adopting the more lenient construction of Capt. Pratt's conduct, it is impossible to justify it—and obliged, as the court always is in salvage cases, to consider not merely the value of the services, but the spirit in which they are rendered, and to enforce so far as it may by its judgement, the eternal principles of humanity and justice—it must mark by its decree, its disapprobation of conduct, which, to say the least, is wholly destitute of that generosity, disinterestedness and "affecting chivalry," which give in these cases the strongest claim to its favorable consideration.

SNOW STORM IN THE WEST.—Yesterday morning says the St. Louis Democrat of the 6th inst., the day began with thick, threatening clouds, and continued, with now and then a slight drizzle, until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the wind freshened from the west and north, and soon a severe storm of hail and snow broke over our city. Up to dark the white flakes—too damp to be called "feathery"—came tumbling down in all their wonted, winter beauty. It was pleasant to watch them streaming along the streets like slanting showers of wool-rolls from some huge patent carding machine, supposed to be located for the time in mid air.

A snow storm on the 5th of October!—Never the like in the memory of the whitest head we ever knew. The circumstance has occasioned universal remark. It gives the day an importance which shall make it for future generations a period to reckon from.—Let old and young remember that on the 5th day of October, 1855, there was a hard snow storm in the city of St. Louis.

The Traveller says the snow also extended to Cairo, Illinois, where it fell to the depth of three inches, and to Elgin and Chicago.

Whether there was any snow south of Cairo, we have not yet heard; but as its latitude is less than 37, that of St. Louis 38 1-2, and Chicago 42 degrees, it must have fallen over 5 degrees (300 miles) of latitude, and probably more.

LECTURES AND LECTURERS.

The committee of arrangements for the Lectures on Slavery in Boston, having invited Messrs. Wise of Virginia, and Toombs of Georgia, to lecture the coming winter, Mr Wise declines in a letter full of bad temper, foolish pride, and inflated self-sufficiency.—But Mr Toombs very quietly accepts.

We copy both the letters. The one is a beautiful specimen of a chivalrous man who cannot admit that he may be in the wrong; the other of a reasonable man who will try to prove that he is in the right.

ONLY, NEAR ONANCOCK,
ACCOMAC COUNTY, VA., OCT. 5, 1855.

Gentlemen—On my return home, after an absence of some days, I found yours of the 19th ult., "respectfully inviting me to deliver one of the lectures of the course on slavery, at Tremont Temple, in the city of Boston, on Thursday evening, January 10th, 1856; or, if that time will not suit my engagements, you request that I will mention at once what Thursday evening, between the middle of December and the middle of March next, will best accommodate me."

Now, gentlemen, I desire to pay you due respect, yet you compel me to be very plain with you, and to say that your request, in every sense, is insulting and offensive to me.—What subject of slavery have you "initiated" lectures upon? I cannot conceal it from myself that you have undertaken, in Boston, to discuss and decide whether my property in Virginia, ought to remain mine or not, and whether it shall be allowed the protection of laws, federal and state, wherever it may be carried or may escape in the United States; or, whether it shall be destroyed by a higher law than constitutions and statutes!

Who are you, to assume thus such jurisdiction over a subject so delicate and already fixed in its relations by a solemn compact between the states, and by states which are sovereign? I will not obey your summons nor recognize your jurisdiction. You have no authority and no justification for thus calling me to account at the bar of your tribunal, and for thus arraigning an institution established by laws which do not reach you, an which you cannot reach, by calling on me to defend it.

You say, "during the next season, a larger number of gentlemen from the south will be invited," &c., &c. I regret it if any others can be found in the slaveholding states to accept your invitation. You plead the example of Gen. Houston. It is the last I would follow. I have no doubt that you accorded very respectful attention to him last winter, and were very grateful for his services in your cause.

You offer "one hundred and fifty dollars to be paid to the lecturer, he bearing his own expenses." Let me tell you that Tremont Temple cannot hold wealth enough, to purchase one word of discussion from me, there, whether mine, here, shall be mine or not; but I am ready to volunteer, without money and without price, to suppress any insurrection, and repel any invasion which threatens or endangers the state rights of Virginia, or my individual rights under the laws and constitutions of my country, or the sacred Union, which binds slave states and free together in one bond of national confederacy, and in separate bonds of independent sovereignties!

In short, gentlemen, I will not deliver one of the lectures of the course on slavery, at the Tremont Temple, in Boston, on Thursday evening, January 10th, 1856, and there will be no Thursday evening between the middle of December and the middle of March next, or between that and doomsday, which will best accommodate me for that purpose.

I give you an immediate answer, and, at my earliest convenience, indicate to you that the "particular phase of the subject" that I will present is, deliberately: TO FIGHT IF WE MUST.

Your obd't servant,
HENRY A. WISE.

WASHINGTON, Geo., Oct. 8, 1855.

DEAR SIR:—I have received the invitation of yourself and other gentlemen of Boston to deliver a Lecture, on the 24th of January, 1856, in the Tremont Temple, on the subject of Slavery. I accept the invitation, and will address you on that day upon the consistency of African slavery with the Constitution of the United States and Republican institutions, and the effect of the American Revolution upon the African race.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
DR. STONE. R. TOOMBS.

Mr. Berrien has also accepted.

OHIO ELECTION.—By the latest returns from Ohio it appears that Chase will have more votes than the combined opposition to him. Returns are received from eighty of the counties, and his majority is upwards of 20,000. The few counties to come in will increase this majority two or three thousand. The Republicans will have about four-fifths of both branches of the Legislature. The Republican State ticket, other than the candidate for Governor, will have a popular majority of between forty and fifty thousand.

EMANCIPATION.—While at the railroad station yesterday afternoon, says the Washington Union, we saw about twenty four colored persons, of both sexes, the eldest forty years of age, under the care of F. W. Scott, Esq., the executor of the late Miss Nancy Taliaferro, of King William county, Virginia, who willed their freedom, giving them each one hundred and fifty dollars.

They were on their way to Mount Pleasant, Ohio, nine miles from Wheeling, where they are to be located among a Society of Friends. They were brought up with much care by the deceased lady, and are represented by the executor to be both intelligent and possessed of good morals.

LOCAL.

PORTSMOUTH FLOUR COMPANY.—The subscribers to the Portsmouth Flour league, agreeably to public notice, met on Wednesday evening at the Elm street Ward room. The meeting was fully attended, and was organized by the choice of Ephraim Otis, as President. After some harmonious debate upon the objects of the association, the following persons were chosen Directors, with power to choose a Treasurer, and Agent to be despatched to the west to make such purchases as the funds will allow, viz: William D. Fernald, Robert Gray, John M. Davis, Ephraim Otis, and Wm. Downs. The Directors afterwards made choice of William D. Fernald, President, and Robert Gray, Treasurer.

Subscriptions for about 300 barrels of flour have already been made, and 300 more guaranteed.

In connection with this subject we append the prices of Flour in Chicago on the 10th inst., and Buffalo 16th.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Flour—City mills extra $7 75, do superfine $7 25; country grades of extra $6 25 a 7 50; fancy $7 25 a 7 50; No. 1 superfine $6 25 a 7; No. 2 superfine $5 75 a 6; fine $5. Wheat—Spring $1 37 a 1 50; red winter $1 50; white winter $1 67 a 1 75.

BUFFALO, Oct. 16th.—Flour unchanged—sales 1300 brls at $7 50 a 7 75 for common to extra Michigan; $8 a 8 50 for do Ohio and Illinois. Wheat very firm; sales 6000 bush. Chicago spring at $1 67.

A writer in the Portland Argus says:

Having noticed in your paper, that a movement is making to get Flour at a reasonable rate, I will, with your permission, give a statement of facts concerning a similar movement in Concord, N. H. A subscription book was opened, and when about three hundred barrels of Flour were subscribed for, an Agent was appointed, who went West, and bought the best wheat to be found—had it ground, barreled, and shipped under his own supervision, and delivered to the subscribers at a cost of $8 75 per barrel of one hundred and ninety-six pounds—and so well satisfied are the people with that arrangement, that they intend to have a renewal of that order every two months.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Daniel H. Hazlett of this city, an employee on the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad, son of William Hazlett, was fatally injured on Thursday in Newmarket, his head striking against a bridge, while he was standing on top of a car. He was alive when the cars arrived in this city, but died shortly after. His age was about 21 years.

THE UNIVERSALIST QUARTERLY AND GENERAL REVIEW. We have received the October number of the Universalist Quarterly, published by A. Tompkins, Boston. The first article is the inaugural address at the opening of Tufts College, by the Rev. Dr. Ballou, followed by a just and favorable review of Hildreth's History of the United States, and other articles from some of the prominent writers of the denomination. The first of the literary notices is from the pen of the Rev. T. S. King, being a lengthy review of "Pictures of Europe formed in Ideas, by the Rev. C. A. Bartol," which is written in his usual glowing style.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—During the session of the National Colored Convention today, resolutions were offered expressing admiration at the conduct of Passmore Williamson, and sympathy for his injured family.—Frederick Douglas made a speech objecting to the resolution, and instancing the colored men who rescued Col Wheeler's slaves as more entitled to thanks; he denounced Col Wheeler as a villain and scoundrel; the resolutions were adopted as well as others honoring the conduct of the men who assisted in the escape. A resolution was submitted imposing an assessment on each delegate; many members objected, and a scene of confusion ensued. Julius Cæsar Morrell intimated that certain persons had been living luxuriously upon contributions thus made. For himself he never had one cent, although engaged for nineteen years in the cause. He was sorry he could not say as much for some others. Fred Douglass believing himself alluded to, made a short reply, and said the opposition to the assessment was mean and disgraceful.—The resolution was adopted. Most of the session was occupied in discussing a proposition to form industrial unions.

Application has been made by the counsel of Passmore Williamson for permission to file an affidavit by him. Judge Kane decided that the proper mode of procedure was to take a rule to shew cause why such a paper should not be filed. The counsel refused to do this, and no further action was had.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The Americans held a city and county ratification meeting in the Park this evening, and it is estimated that as many as 20,000 persons were present. The meeting was addressed from five different stands by the Hon. Geo. Briggs, Lewis C. Levin, and numerous others, and much enthusiasm prevailed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The Court of Claims opened to-day, and the law docket was taken up, and the case of David Myerle was assigned for argument to morrow. Eleven lawyers were admitted, including Hon. G. E. Badger and Reverdy Johnson. The attendance was large.

The Star of this evening intimates that Mr Mason, U. S. Consul at San Juan, has been dismissed for recognizing Col. Kinney's government.

The first snow of the season fell on Friday night, at Rochester, N. Y. The fleecy element came down quite freely.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, may almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which puts off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ATLANTIC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.

The steamship Atlantic, from Liverpool on the 6th inst., arrived this morning.

There was another rise in discounts, rate being now 5 1-2 per cent.

Brown, Shipley & Co. report the quantity of new wheat not promising. Old is in active demand at full prices. Flour in better request. Indian Corn quiet.

The food question still remains serious, both in France and Germany.

Sebastopol was to be blown up by the Allies; mines being sunk for that purpose.

The correspondent of the London News asserts that the Russians are making preparations for the evacuation of the north side.

Gortschakoff has issued a hopeful address to his soldiers; he admits the loss of 500 to 1000 men per day for thirty days previous to the close of the siege, but he says, in conclusion, Sebastopol only enchained us to its walls, we are now free, and a new war commences.

Prince Gortschakoff's army was threatened by large forces of the Allies from Eupatoria and Baidar.

On the 29th of September the Russians were defeated near Eupatoria by the French cavalry. Loss 50 killed and 50 wounded. French loss, 6 killed and 27 wounded.

Gortschakoff on the 3d of October reports an ineffectual movement made on his left flank.

The Russians had captured a Turkish convoy at Kars with provisions, together with one thousand horses and three hundred men.

Kars held out, but its provisions were nearly exhausted. It was thought however that the snow would soon compel the Russians to retire.

A letter from Revel estimates the Russian marine losses in that part of the Baltic at 40,000 tons.

Delisle, Janvrin & Co., merchants of London, had failed for £400,000. They were engaged principally in the Canadian trade.

The Revenue returns of Great Britain show an increase of nearly eight and one half millions sterling, owing chiefly to the additional income tax.

The restrictions on the importation of salt into Russia have been abolished.

FIRE AT GILMANTON.—Last Sunday morning, at one o'clock, the dwelling house of Major Ebenezer Eastman was discovered to be on fire, and in less than two hours it was in ashes, together with the most valuable part of its contents. The fire caught in the shed adjoining the house, it is supposed from a boiler there used for cooking for the hogs, and quickly extended to the house, giving but little time to the inmates to get out things of much value. By great effort the large barn about two rods north of the shed was saved. It was a rich farmhouse about one-quarter of a mile from Gilmanton Corner, and contained much valuable furniture and clothing, a part of which was stored there, fruits, vegetables and grain. The carriage house, a rockaway, several harnesses, a large lot of hogs fat for the market, between 200 and 300 bushels of wheat, rye and oats in the attic, a large quantity of potatoes in the cellar, together with what else makes most of a year's provision on a farm, and a surplus for sale, were consumed. Some of the furniture was saved. Maj. Eastman and his wife have lived in that house over fifty years, improving upon it, ornamenting the garden and yards with trees and shrubbery till their home was what they wanted, and it is now in ashes. A new house would not be the old home.—Manchester Mirror.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—The Richmond, Va., Whig gives an account of a most atrocious murder perpetrated in that city recently. A man calling himself Francis Auborine arrived in that city from New York, a few weeks ago, in the schooner Island City, of Rockland, Me., and commenced work as a carver and designer. He soon, however, hired a large building and began to make preparations to keep a restaurant. In the meantime he decoyed two slaves into the building and concealed them in an upper room, having first got from one of them $76, and a promise of a like sum from the other, under an engagement to get them a passage to the north. After a few days he poisoned the slave who had paid for his passage, and buried him in the cellar of the building. The other becoming alarmed, fled and informed against Aubourine, who was arrested and confessed his crime, and immediately destroyed his own life by taking strychnine.

The citizens of Troy, New York, have subscribed $100,000, in order to secure the charter of a collegiate institution in that city, named the Troy University. They are now endeavoring to raise another hundred thousand, with special reference to free-scholarships.

Pronouncing Gazeteer

OF THE WORLD, or Geographical Dictionary, containing a greater amount of matter than any single volume in the English Language. Edited by J. Thomas, M.D., and T. Baldwin, assisted by several other Gentlemen.

The Publishers say—in undertaking the publication of the present work, upon which over five years of continued labor and research, with a large outlay of money have been expended, with a view not merely to the definiteness of existing Gazeteers, but to furnish a Geographical Dictionary which should be as comprehensive in its design, as perfect in its arrangement, and as complete and accurate in its execution, as the best Dictionary of the English Language.

Among the many other claims to superiority which this work has over all others of the kind, are the following:

1st, It is a Pronouncing Gazeteer, a feature as essential to its completeness of a Geographical Dictionary as to a Dictionary of the English language.

2d, It contains over 2000 more names of Places than any other Gazeteer of the World. And the notices of all important places in our Gazeteer will also be found more full and satisfactory.

3d, In regard to accuracy and recentness of information, this Gazeteer will be found incomparably superior to every other.

We might have hurried our Gazeteer through the press to forestall others commenced long after ours was in progress, but we could not be tempted to waive a single feature of excellence requiring time for its perfection.

"WHAT AM I?"—A gentleman happened upon one of our wharves a few mornings since, where he was accosted by a somewhat seedy-looking individual in the following manner: "Excuse me, but can you tell me who I am?" The gentleman informed him that never having seen him before, he did not think that he could. "Well," said the stranger, "a very respectable man came here from ——," "yesterday afternoon. In passing by a certain house, he was invited in, and went in. He was asked to 'imbibe,' and although not a drinking man, he took something. That is the last I remember. When I came to myself this morning, I was moneyless; my good clothes were gone, and I was dressed as you see me. Now, am I myself, or am I somebody else?" No satisfactory information could be given the seeker after knowledge under difficulties, and he went on still muttering, the important question, "Who am I?" He may have found out by this time, now that his head is clear.—New Bedford Standard.

Considerable anxiety is felt in relation to a young man named Daniel Floyd, residing in Floyd's lane, Newbury, who left his home on Monday forenoon for Kent's Island, on a gunning excursion, taking his dog and a double barrelled gun, and has not since been heard from. The dog returned home at night, and the neighbors have made diligent search for the man; but as yet, all their efforts have been unsuccessful.—Newburyport Herald.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

will cure you just as sure as you see it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself;

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as THE BEST article, and the ONLY one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. RUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all Skin eruptions, Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face, leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, many persons are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

ELIXIR.

THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all Affections of the Throat and Lungs and begs of those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXER a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal.—It is purely Vegetable, containing no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion that no family should be without this Medicine; let Mothers give it to their Children who have the Whooping Cough or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones. Price 50 cts.

Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name, and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass., are blown upon the Bottle, without which none will be genuine.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. are more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being unequal to any instruments that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

NOBLE CHARITY.

Bishop Meade, of Virginia, has made the following special appeal in behalf of the orphan boy of the Rev. Mr. Chisholm:—

THE REV. MR. CHISHOLM'S ORPHAN BOY.—The peculiar circumstances under which this child has been left an orphan commend him to the especial patronage of the Church of Virginia. It is needless to speak of his martyred father. The history of his life and death is well known among us. Seldom does such a case occur. Seldom is an orphan thus cast on the charity of the church. So sensibly was this felt, that on first hearing of Mr. Chisholm's death—a week before he actually expired—several individuals proffered the sum of fifty dollars each, for the education and support of his fatherless and motherless boy, left, as most children of the clergy are, without the means. The very peculiar claims of this child on the sympathy of the pious and benevolent, induces the undersigned to give a popular direction to the generous feeling now in action, by the following proposal:—

All those who desire to contribute to the support and education of young William Chisholm, are desired to pay their contributions to either of the bishops of Virginia, to the Rev. E. C. McGuire of Fredericksburg, the Rev. Mr Woodbridge and the Rev. Mr Peterkin of Richmond, the Rev. Mr Wingfield of Portsmouth, the Rev. Mr Jackson of Norfolk, and the Rev. Mr Gibson of Petersburg, who will pay the amount received by them to the Treasurer of the Society for the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Clergymen, to be expended by that society on the support and education of said William Chisholm. In the event of his death before coming to the age of twenty-one, should there be anything, whether of principal or interest, left in the hands of the treasurer, the same to be held liable to the order of the Convention of the Episcopal Church of Virginia, for the benefit of some orphan child or children of deceased clergymen, otherwise to be paid to him when reaching the age of twenty-one.

WILLIAM MEADE.

Bishop of the Episcopal Church of Va.

The citizens of Clarke County, Virginia, have contributed nearly $2000 for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers, and are now engaged in raising the sum of $5000 with which to support and educate the son of Mr. Chisholm.

"FOR MOTHER'S SAKE" A father and son were fishing near New York city recently. The boat was suddenly capsized, and they were thrown into the water. The father, who was not an expert swimmer, while his son could not swim at all, at once commenced to aid the lad. He, seeing that his father was becoming exhausted, calmly said to him, "Never mind me; save yourself for mother's sake." God bless that boy, and God be thanked that both his father and himself were rescued from the peril in which they were involved.

"For mother's sake." There spoke a true son and a true hero. He knew that his tender years ill fitted him to support and sustain her who bore him—that if his father perished she might be reduced to want as well as steeped in sorrow—that if the oak fell the ivy would fade and die. So he bid his soul be quiet amid the troubled waters, amid the excitement and apprehension that such a scene must engender, and resolved to die for his mother, unless, indeed, some hand was stretched forth for his safety and the safety of his father. It was all right, because it was done "for mother's sake."

Would we say the same thing under the same circumstances? Would you, boy? you young man? you, man of years and sorrows? While you admire the young man for his intrepidity and affection, do you feel that you would imitate his example if occasion required? Do you love, do you prize your Mother? He who propounds these is motherless.—Years twain have passed since the wrinkled, gray-haired matron, who called him son, laid off the dusty vestments of earthly travel and was clothed in the garments of the saints. He tells you—and his words are wrung from suffering experience—that if you love not your Mother, do not prize your Mother now, you will hereafter. Death opens the fountains of surviving hearts, and loss shows us how little we esteem possession.

It is well to hold up an example like the one we have quoted to the public gaze, for, by so doing, some hard heart may be softened, some vacillating heart confirmed, some warm heart made warmer. A man is safe who inscribes this motto upon his phylactery—"For Mother's Sake."—Buffalo Express.

A terrible gas explosion occurred in the house of F. D. Sewall of Bath, Me., on Monday morning. A boy was searching in one of the front chambers of the house for a leakage in the pipes with a light, when the gas which had collected between the partitions suddenly caught and exploded with a loud report. The boy was thrown across the room but was only stunned. The heavy furniture of the room was thrown about in great confusion, the house injured, and the concussion was so great as even to start the piazza off from the front of the house.

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum.—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be THE Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

Self-Feeding Hay Cutter.

WHITE'S Patent Self-feeding Hay Cutter stands unrivaled in several important particulars. The knives are so fixed as to be easily adjusted and sharpened. The power, by means of a balance wheel, is sufficient to carry the knives through hay or corn stalks, the thickness of 24 square inches, with a very rapid motion. A boy, 10 years of age, can operate it with ease. Attached to the machine is a Feeding Apparatus, which can be set so as to cut at equal distances of from 1-2 to 5 inches in length. One other advantage which this machine has over others in the market is, that corn stalks and like heavy fodder, can be cut with perfect ease. The manufacturer would assure the public that this is THE BEST MACHINE IN USE.

Morning Chronicle.

A TOUCH OF CHIVALRY.

Rev. Wm. C. Clark, of Eliot, was attacked and beaten on board a Missouri steamboat under the following circumstances. He was in a steamboat which was carrying a number of the members of the Missouri Legislature, who were discussing the physiological and theological question, of the Unity of the Human Race in its origin. Some maintained one side, and some the other. The man, the only one, who maintained the ground that the negro is a man, did not display any great ability, and when an opponent declared that no black man's intellect could be cultivated highly, Mr Clark named some well known instances to the contrary. Some of the company then said,—from your interest in this subject, we should judge you to be an abolitionist. Mr Clark answered that he was a northern man, and entertained the common opinions of the north.

Some time afterwards, at dinner, the table was full, and when a lady came for a seat, Mr Clark gave her his, and went into a baggage room, where a number of the baser sort were discussing Kansas matters, and some of them who had been present at the former talk, were particularly positive about some future matter in regard to Gov Reeder. Mr Clark's only reply was, Wait and see. One of them asked, What did you say? Answer again, Wait and see. On this, the rummy ruffian struck him in the face with his fist; another instantly felled him to the floor with a blow from a slung shot, and struck him twice after he was down; the first assailant pounding him still in his face. Mr Clark regained his feet and backed into a corner. By this time, the captain appeared, and Mr Clark claimed his protection; but he only ordered silence or stillness, and told Mr Clark to leave the boat at the next regular landing place. In a few minutes, however, the boat touched at a wood wharf; and Mr Clark secured his valise and slipped away voluntarily out of sight, till the boat left.

The captain was not to blame for his being left in a by-place, but he went on shore for his own safety. The miscreants, however, had told the captain that Mr C. had been preaching abolitionism to the boat's crew, which was not true. Hence, probably, the order to go on shore. The attack was brutal and unprovoked; the natural result of a chivalrous fusion of rum and slavery.

Mr C. spent several days in the neighborhood among the poor white people of a slave state, a despised and deplorably ignorant class of people—more ignorant and more oppressed than any whites in these States, of which he had previously any idea.

He is still suffering from his bruises; and will no doubt feel the effect of them all his days, but it is hoped he will shortly be able to preach. He ought to be employed, at a good paying rate, to go round and tell his own story in the form of a lecture.

Found and Buried. — On Wednesday and Thursday, in Newbury, Mass., at least an hundred men were searching for Mr Daniel Davis Floyd, who been missing since Monday, at which time he started on a gunning excursion. On Wednesday afternoon, his body was found by some persons who were in search of him, lying in a creek half way between Kent's Island and the Turnpike in Newbury. There was a severe wound in the left eye. He probably attempted to cross the creek on a log placed there for the purpose of crossing, and by some means fell, striking his eye on the muzzle of his gun, as a portion of the eye brow was adhering to it when found, the blow must have stunned him, and as he fell into the water, drowned. Both barrels of his gun were charged, capped, and cocked when found in the creek near the log; the body was about fifteen yards from the log, one hand grasping the thatch so tightly that the thatch had to be cut before the body could be removed. He was buried on Friday; funeral services at the meeting house in Oldtown, by Rev. Dr. Withington. The deceased was 26 years of age.

Judge Kane's Sons.—The N. Y. Post, alluding to Judge Kane's two sons, both of whom are strongly anti-slavery in their views, one being the distinguished Dr Kane of the Arctic exploring expedition, says:

"It is a little remarkable that the young people of the present day, who do their own thinking, are frequently strongly progressive (to use an expressive term) upon the moral questions of the day, while their parents are as decidedly conservative 'old hunkers.'"

Rev. F. W. Strait, of Rockport, N. Y., has accepted the invitation to become pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church of Manchester, N. H.

AMOS LAWRENCE.

The diary and correspondence of this generous merchant and good citizen, contains much that should interest the old and the young.

Speaking of the country store which he first entered at Groton, he says,—The quantity of rum and brandy sold would surprise the temperance men of modern days. At eleven o'clock, each forenoon, some stimulating beverage, according to the taste of the clerk who compounded it, was served out for the benefit of clerks and customers. Mr Lawrence partook with the others; but soon finding that the desire became more pressing at the approach of the hour for indulgence, he resolved to discontinue the habit altogether.

"His mind was soon made up. Understanding perfectly the ridicule he should meet with, and which for a time he did meet with in its fullest measure, he yet took at once the ground of total abstinence. Such a stand, taken at such an age, in such circumstances of temptation, before temperance societies had been heard of, or the investigation had been commenced on which they are based, was a practical instance of that judgement and decision which characterized him through life."—President Hopkins Sermon in commemoration of Amos Lawrence.

In regard to this resolution, he writes, many years afterward, to a young student in College:

"In the first place, take this for your motto at the commencement of your journey, that the difference of going just right or a little wrong, will be the difference of finding yourself in good quarters, or in a miserable bog or slough, at the end of it. Of the whole number educated in the Groton stores for some years before and after myself, no one else to my knowledge, escaped the bog or slough; and my escape I trace to the simple fact of my having put a restraint upon my appetite. We five boys were in the habit every forenoon of making a drink compounded of rum, raisins, sugar, nutmeg, &c., with biscuit,—all palatable to eat and drink. After being in the store four weeks I found myself admonished by my appetite of the approach of the hour for indulgence. Thinking the habit might make trouble if allowed to grow stronger, without further apology to my seniors I declined partaking with them. My first resolution was to abstain for a week, and when the week was out, for a month, and then for a year. Finally, I resolved to abstain for the rest of my apprenticeship, which was for five years longer. During that whole period, I never drank a spoonful, though I mixed gallons daily for my old master and his customers. I decided not to be a slave to tobacco in any form, though I loved the odor of it then, and even now have in my drawer a superior Havana cigar, given me, not long since by a friend, but only to smell of. I have never smoked a cigar; never chewed but one quid, and that was before I was fifteen; and never took an ounce of snuff, though the scented rappee of forty years ago had great charms for me. Now, I say, to this simple fact of starting just right am I indebted with God's blessing on my labors, for my present position, as well as that of the numerous connections sprung up around me. I have many details that now appear as plain to me as the sun at noon day, by which events are connected together, and which have led to results that call on me to bless the Lord for all his benefits, and to use the opportunities thus permitted to me in cheering on the generation of young men who have claims upon my sympathies as relations, fellow-townsmen, or brethren on a more enlarged scale."

GETTING TRAPPED.

The Buffalo Courier of the 4th inst., gives the following story of a runaway couple of criminals, and of their detection and arrest by the aid of the telegraph.

A few days since the Chief of Police received a telegraphic despatch from New York, saying that a larceny had been committed in that city by a woman, and that she had left the city for the West the same day. On the receipt of the telegraph, two policemen were ordered to the Central Depot, to await their arrival, and arrest any woman answering to the description given.

The train soon came in, and amid the crowd of passengers the person described was discovered. Policeman Crate, who has the reputation of doing things up very politely, at once stepped up to the lady, and introducing himself as an officer, desired her to accompany him, which she consented to do after looking out for her baggage. The other policeman, Reynolds, being along, observed a well dressed and gentlemanly appearing person whose behavior indicated that he was in her company, and from some things which passed, he thought it very proper to take the gentleman along as her accomplice. On arriving at the station house, they both raised objection to the character of the hotel in which it was necessary to take lodgings for the night. The lady preferred a chair to a cot, and the gentleman was directed to a cell. She explained how they became acquainted, and he protested against knowing anything of the robbery, and that the attentions which he had paid the lady were merely from a spirit of gallantry.

In the morning both persons were brought to the Chief's office to await the arrival of the New York officer. The lady who was of a very respectable appearance, declared that she had committed no crime, but was fleeing from a husband who had misused her. She begged for the gentleman who had been arrested with her, saying that his detainment was "too bad." He took the thing very coolly and laughed at the whole affair as a decidedly rich joke. In the course of two or three trains, along came the expected officer, who proved to be no officer, but the injured husband of the lady—the gentleman turning out to be a rich southern planter, who declared that he had learned a most capital lesson in gallantry, and left, after the denouement, by the first train West, while the lady and her "liege lord" made up and returned to New York. There were some rich points about the affair, which, from the position of the parties, we decline giving.

LOCAL.

☞ An alarm was raised on Friday evening, by a small fire in the back building opposite the foot of Court street, occupied by Major Hooper as a grocery store, and by Geo. O. Buzzell as a sail loft. The fire was in the stair way leading to the loft. It was put out without the aid of the engines.

Piscataqua Ferry.—A meeting of the friends of a Ferry across the Piscataqua, from Dover Point, was held on Saturday, 13th inst, at the Dover Point Hotel, kept by John P. Hanson. We were sorry to see, by the numbers present, that a thing so much needed by all classes of our citizens, as a short route to Portsmouth, should engage so little attention.

Those present, however, seemed actuated by a determination to build a Ferry, which was shown by their subscribing on the spot for one half of the capital stock, and paying in ten per cent. on the same.

Thomas H. Cushing, George H. Peirce and Thomas Stackpole were chosen directors.—Col. Stackpole was afterwards chosen Treasurer. We trust our citizens will immediately subscribe for the balance of the stock, that the Directors may go on and build the boat. —Dover Gazette.

This proposed ferry is a much needed convenience by the inhabitants of both cities, as as intercourse must be by a circuitous route through Berwick or New Market—about 20 miles; should the ferry be established the distance will be but 9 or 10 miles. The amount of capital required is but about $2000, and the business would undoubtedly pay good dividends on that sum. But, even if the ferry should pay no more than its running expenses, it would still be of benefit to those of our merchants who should subscribe to its stock, and to the city generally, by the increase of business occasioned by the opening of so direct and short a route. That it would bring purchasers to our doors we have no doubt, judging from the effect of the opening of the Great Falls Branch in connection with the Great Falls & Conway Railroad. The inhabitants of that part of Strafford and Belknap counties bordering on the Great Falls & Conway and Cochecho Railroads, are getting into the habit of coming to Portsmouth to purchase their supplies, and many others would come in their own vehicles, could a short direct route be opened to Dover.

The Credit of the City of Manchester.—We notice that some papers out of the city, on the authority of the Mirror, are passing round intimations that the finances of this city are in a bad condition—or that the City of Manchester "can't pay." The Mirror has displayed such exemplary candor respecting the present city government, that we cannot suspect it guilty of an intentional perversion of the truth in relation to them. Nevertheless the impression which it conveys is unjust towards the city government, and not agreeable to any one who regards the good name of the city.

Owing to the building of the new barn, planking the Granite Bridge, to expenses incurred for the late heavy fire, the drafts for the last month were very large, amounting to more than $13,000. It occurred too, just at a time when the Collector was obliged to render the County tax, so that no money was paid into the treasury. The consequence was that some of the bills were a little delayed.—Among these were those of the firemen. Their bills were rendered up to the 24th of September, and in the ordinary course would have been paid about the first of October, but were, for the reasons above stated, delayed about ten days. These were the semi-annual drafts of the firemen, and were somewhat heavy in the aggregate. It was an occurrence about which there was no necessity of making a newspaper flourish. The fact is, that all things considered, the finances of the City of Manchester were never in a better condition than now.—American.

A Horse at Gymnastics.—On Monday a tandem team going up Park street, Manchester, encountered a farm cart coming down. By some means the rear horse was flung over the wheel, and dropped down between the wheel and the body of the cart. A dozen men exhausted their wisdom in unsuccessful attempts to relieve the animal,—whereupon he took the matter in his own hands, made a powerful spring, and fairly loaded himself in the cart. The cart was then "dumped," and the horse, having shot safely out upon the ground, was led away to his stable but little hurt, with the reflection in his head—that it is much easier to get into a scrape, than to get out of one, and that in future he would "wait for the wagon" to pass.—American.

Towed Him Ashore!—While Mr. R. T. Downing, of Sullivan, was out on a fishing excursion a few days since, accompanied by two lads about ten years of age, in attempting to adjust the boat's sail he fell overboard. He succeeded in getting hold of the boat, but being a large, heavy man, it was not in his power to get on board, although assisted by the lads to the extent of their ability, and they very prudently took Mr. D. in-tow and started for the nearest land. some three miles distant, where they safely landed, though quite wearied from over-exertion.—Machias Union.

Disappointed in marriage, Mrs. Elizabeth Sheldon hung herself on Sunday, in Lisbon, N. Y., by bending down the top of a young tree, fastening herself to it with a cord, and letting it spring back.

☞ In Dr. Alexander's church, Fifth avenue, New York, the choir has been dismissed, the fine organ has been removed so as to face the people, and the singing is performed by the congregation.

Tunnel under the Niagara River.—A project has been started in Buffalo to construct a tunnel under the Niagara river. A correspondence between Eli Cook, the Mayor of Buffalo, and Mr Wm. Wallace, an engineer, on the subject, is published in the Buffalo Courier. Mr Wallace says "that the project is entirely feasible, is a settled question, and you will see by the accompanying estimate, that the amount of capital required is comparatively small." He estimates the cost of the tunnel under the river $629,204; under part of the city $94,543; railway through the city $100,000. Total $823,747.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people,—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

Agents in Portsmouth, W. R. Preston, J. H. Hacker, and D. Kimball, and sold by the Druggists throughout the United States. 2m ol d&w

NAVY DEPARTMENT, Oct. 13, 1855.

Sir:—I have just received your communication of the 11th inst., informing me of the safe return of your party, accompanied by Dr. Kane and his party. The despatches enclosed with the communication, have been perused with much interest. You have discharged the arduous duty for which you so nobly volunteered, with fidelity, skill and indomitable energy. Your brother officers, who feel a pride in the service, will hail your success with generous applause, and your countrymen will join in the admiration of this display of self-sacrificing courage. The promptness with which you, after a few days' notice, embarked in this philanthropic adventure, is only known to the Department. And now, after the lapse of less than five months, you have penetrated further into the dangerous regions of the Arctic than any navigator, (save only Dr. Kane himself,) triumphing over the shocks of icebergs and the dangers of that inhospitable part of the globe, and you now return, having accomplished what you undertook. Be pleased to accept yourself, and present to those who were your companions, my sincere congratulations and thanks for this successful effort in the cause of humanity. I am, very respectfully, your obd't servant,

J. C. DOBBIN.

DOUBLE MURDER.—Dr. Hadell, of Cumberland, and his clerk named Graff, were murdered on Sunday last, near that place by a German. They were enticed out to attend a sick woman, and their bodies were found Tuesday morning horribly mutilated. The murderer has been arrested, and the clothing, watch, and pocket-books of the victims were found in his possession. The doctor was formerly commissioner of health in Baltimore.

The murders at Cumberland created great excitement. The head of Doctor Hadell was found buried at some distance from the body. It seems that after the murder of the doctor, the murderer enticed his student Graff away, and then murdered him, so as to be able to rob the office, which he did on Sunday night. The murderer is a German pedlar who broke jail recently at West Alexander.

ARREST OF "FREE LOVERS."—New York, Oct. 19.—At 555 Broadway last night, there was a wholesale arrest of the disciples of the new doctrine of free lovers, many of them are apparently highly respectable. Albert Brisbane was among the arrested. In consequence of rumors in the streets that the Police were watching the premises, a large crowd was gathered in front, and when the prisoners were brought out they were greeted with hoots and yells, and a mob of rowdies followed them to the station house. Four men were committed to the cells, namely: Albert Brisbane for disorderly conduct; Thomas Harland, assault and battery on an officer, and keeping a disorderly house; John Henderson, interfering with the Police; Benjamin Henderson, attempting to rescue a prisoner.

SAD DISASTER.—A fire occurred early this morning in a dwelling house in State street occupied by Irish families. Two women and three children were burned to death. One woman leaped from a window in the third story, and was, it is feared, fatally injured. Another was rescued and carried to the hospital in a dying condition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—At a special election to-day, to fill a vacancy in the 19th ward, occasioned by the death of a Councilman, the American candidate was successful. There was considerable rioting at the polls, and one person, a notorious rowdy named King, was shot by the police. It is thought he was fatally wounded. Several others were wounded, but not dangerously.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—The Lexington, (Mo) Express of Saturday publishes a rumor that Ex Gov Reeder had been murdered at St Josephs. The editor announces it as a hoax, but says there is a rumor that Reeder had been fighting somewhere in the territory, but was not injured.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18.—There is some trouble upon the Brantford Railroad; a body of armed Irishmen tore open a bridge yesterday, and will not allow the trains to pass. They made an attempt to-day on the upper side of the bridge to prevent the trains going west. More trouble is expected.

Hertz, who was convicted of enlisting men for the war in Europe, says that all he did in the matter of enlisting men for the foreign legion, was done at the advice and recommendation of Mr Crampton and others connected with the English government.

Pronouncing Gazeteer

OF THE WORLD, or Geographical Dictionary, containing a greater amount of matter than any single volume in the English Language. Edited by J. Thomas, M.D., and T. Baldwin, assisted by several other Gentlemen.

The Publishers say—in undertaking the publication of the present work, upon which over five years of continued labor and research, with a large outlay of money have been expended, with a view not merely to the deficiencies of existing Gazeteers, but to furnish a Geographical Dictionary which should be as comprehensive in its design, as perfect in its arrangement, and as complete and accurate in its execution, as the best Dictionary of the English Language.

Among the many other claims to superiority which this work has over all others of the kind, are the following:

1st, It is a Pronouncing Gazeteer, a feature as essential to its completeness of a Geographical Dictionary as to a Dictionary of the English language.

2d, It contains over 2000 more names of Places than any other Gazeteer of the World. And the notices of all important places in our Gazeteer will also be found more full and satisfactory.

3d, In regard to accuracy and recentness of information, this Gazeteer will be found incomparably superior to every other.

We might have hurried our Gazeteer through the press to forestall others commenced long after ours was in progress, but we could not be tempted to give a single feature of excellence requiring time for its perfection.

NEW ENGLAND BLACKING and Brush—as good as any—sold by J. BUZZELL & CO.

While the men were helping the females of the wrecked steamer Sebastopol, up to the bluff from hand to hand, there was seen a little bundle wrapped in flannel, tossing from man to man, as if a piece of apparel belonging to some one who had gone up, or perhaps mere like the hasty manner in which a bucket is handled in a fire line. The last man who took it at the top of the bluff felt life in it, and on unrolling several layers of flannel, out peered two great blue eyes from the sweetest baby face that could be imagined. The little stranger took his harsh handling kindly, and smiled as sweetly as if in its crib at home. We need not mention that it was not long in want of a mother to claim it.

THE COAL TRADE.—As low as anthracite coal now is, compared with last year's prices, there is every prospect that it will be lower next year. New mines are opening, and the facilities for bringing the produce to market are daily increasing. Among the many recent developments, we hear most flattering accounts of those of the Mahanoy region.—The supply of coal is large, and the quality said to be at least equal to the best coming to this market. All this adds to the wealth and importance of our State.—Phila. Ledger.

OR

Family Physic,

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates mildly and effectually upon the whole system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It not only produces all the effects where physic is required, but completely removes habitual costiveness. It purifies the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels: Dysentery, Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—it needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. The Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with Scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from Habitual Costiveness—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the blood by the use of from one to six bottles. In short, if you require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

PRICE $1.00.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

August 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manuactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for delicacy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we will be ready to wait upon them when we have to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Nixson.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from T. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

HEROISM OF A DOG IN THE CRIMEA.—The following account of the exploits of a dog in the Crimea, translated from the Gazette of Trieste, surpasses everything heretofore recorded of the devotion and bravery of this noble animal:

A great sensation has been caused in the camp of the allies by the heroic deeds of a dog belonging to Colonel Metmann, of the 73d Regiment of the Line. On the 16th of August, during the battle of the Tchernaya, the quadruped broke his chain, fought in the ranks of the army, saved the life of a sergeant and a soldier, and took three Russian prisoners. A ball struck his foot, but the wound only embittered the animal the more. He threw himself upon a Russian officer, flung him to the ground, and dragged him prisoner by his coat collar to the French. A physician has bound up the wound, and the four footed hero is convalescing. He will probably receive some mark of honor, as another dog in the English army had been rewarded with a medal for his devotion to his master.

Horses that are horses, are as rare as books that are books, though of "making many books there is no end," and horses count up in the census more numerous than their owners. One that is a horse was sold last week at the Bar Mills by Mr Richard Palmer, for the sum of $600, to be carried to New York city. For lofty elegance of carriage, he will find few equals, and will be surpassed by none in the number of fancy and trained steeds in that city. He is seven years old this autumn, being a late fall colt, a shining black in color, with one white fore foot, and a white striped face, distinguishing marks, in color and bold contrast, and weighs about ten hundred lbs. He is purchased, not for public hire, or the trotting course, but for a private gentleman's use, and already, in his owner's scale of value, has risen to a thousand dollars. "Fancy" will make yet several considerable additions. —Saco Democrat.

A HINT ON HOUSEHOLD MANAGEMENT.—Have you ever observed what a dislike servants have to anything cheap? They hate saving their master's money. I tried this experiment with great success the other day. Finding we consumed a vast deal of soap, I sat down in my thinking chair, and took the soap question into consideration, and I found reason to suspect we were using a very expensive article, where a much cheaper one would serve the purpose better. I ordered a half dozen pounds of both sorts, but took the precaution of changing the papers on which the prices were marked, before giving them into the hands of Betty. "Well, Betty, which soap do you find washes best?" "Oh, sir, the dearest, in the blue paper; it makes the lather as well again as the other." "Well, Betty, you shall always have it then;" and thus the unsuspecting Betty saved me some pounds a year, and washed the clothes better.—Rev. Sydney Smith.

A SOURCE OF SMILES.—Dr. Franklin having noticed that a certain mechanic who worked near his office was always happy and smiling, ventured at length to ask him for the secret of his constant cheerfulness:—

"No secret, Doctor," he replied; "I have got one of the best of wives, and when I go to work she has always a kind word of encouragement for me; and when I go home she meets me with a smile and a kiss, and the tea is sure to be ready; and she has done so many little things through the day to please me, that I cannot find it in my heart to speak an unkind word to anybody."

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required.—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desirable article,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. G. W. STONE'S

LIQUID CATHARTIC,

Family Physic,

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, has been obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. It not only produces all the effects where physic is required, but completely removes habitual Costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels; Dysentery, Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT!—it needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—Relief is now at hand. Are you suffering with Scrofula, six bottles of my Liquid Cathartic will cure you. Would you be relieved from habitual Costiveness?—three bottles will effect all that you desire. If you are afflicted with Rheumatic, Neuralgic, or other local pains, two bottles will free you from them. All humors will be eradicated from the blood by the use of from one to six bottles. In short, if you require a physic for any purpose, this is the most reliable, safe and agreeable to the taste that has ever been placed within the reach of the public.

DEATH OF JAMES NUTTER.

Died in Newington on Friday, Oct. 19, Rev. James Nutter, aged 80. He was in this city only a few days since, and appeared to us, as we conversed with him, in his usual full health; and he was, we understand, abroad in his field on the afternoon of his death, as cheerful and bright as ever, with a gentleman and lady, visitors from this city, whom he accompanied to their carriage, and then went into his house, where he sat down dying and helpless, expiring in a few moments.

He had been well known for a number of years, in this vicinity, as a Methodist Local Preacher; and in early life as one of the best mechanics, (a house joiner,) in the neighborhood. He was also in his youth of a decidedly military and convivial turn. Our earliest recollections of him are as Captain of the Portsmouth Light Infantry Company, and as a splendid tenor singer. The ring of his voice, as he gave the word of command, was music to our boyish ears, and his erect and substantial form, full face and glowing cheek were to our eye the beau ideal of manly beauty.

Becoming a religious man, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, more than forty years ago, he laid aside his commission; but the title of Captain was always bestowed upon him through life;—and it was common to say "Captain N. will preach to-day."

He was, as a joiner, employed on many of our best buildings, after the fires of 1802 and 1806; and he was one of the two master joiners who finished the interior of St. John's Church. This, we believe, was his last large job: for having his own peculiar ideas of religious duty, he never entangled himself with worldly affairs after he professed to renounce the world and its vanities. He did a great deal of work after this; particularly for the late Mr. James Sheafe, on his mansion house, on other houses, and on the Exchange Buildings, but he would never confine himself beyond his own ideas of duty.

From the date of his conversion, which was to him a marked period, to the day of his death, he always made religion his primary pursuit. He was not, however, in any sense, an idler, a dreamer, or a recluse. He worked with a will, at his trade; but if he felt it his duty to take a day or a week, to preach or exhort, to visit the sick, the afflicted or bereaved, he laid down his tools, and labored in his spiritual vocation as earnestly as in the mechanical.

He was one of the early members of the Methodist Church in this place; and their manners and customs, at that time, suited his turn and temperament exactly. He sung their hymns and others with a spirit and understanding, or rather feeling, that fastened them on the hearer. In particular we have heard him sing, in the chorus, as we never heard any other man.

"Shout, shout! we're gaining ground,
Satan's Kingdom's tumbling down"—

Late in life, apparently, and as he thought, he retired to his paternal acres in Newington, where yet he lived many years; representing his native town once or twice in the legislature; laboring with his hands moderately but sufficiently for bread and health, not for wealth; acting as a good citizen, an occasional preacher at home and abroad; and as a sort of pastor general. His life was thus, though always within a limited sphere, sufficiently diversified, to interest for a moment in the description, the reader who never knew him. Much more will it interest the many, who, with us, knew and honored him.

He was a noble man: honest and benevolent, conscientious, bold, fearless,—he had the strong virtues, and the appropriate defects which belonged to such a cast of character.—He comforted the mourner, as he shed the tear whose true sympathy no one doubted; he pitied the wanderer and invited him to return God whose mercy he adored; but against the transgressor he was sometimes a "son of thunder," almost of lightning.

Of course some would be offended at such a man;—but yet in the long run he made no enemies. His Christian character grew, matured, endured, ripened: it was acknowledged, felt, and finally revered by his neighbors: his vessel was filled and his lamp trimmed and burned steadily and clearly till the bridegroom came.

His spirit has returned to God who gave it. His earthly remains will be committed to their parent dust, this day at one o'clock, at his home in Newington.

Resolved, That the American party reverently thank God that it is rid of the wire-pullers and the politicians by trade.

That must be a most remarkable party, which has no wire pullers. There is no precedent for it in the history of this country—probably not in any country.

For the Chronicle.

YOUNG MEN.

The idea is too prevalent in some communities, that young men are fit neither for generals or statesman, and that they must be kept in the back ground until their physical strength is impaired by age, and their intellectual faculties become blunted by the weight of years.—Let us look into the history of the past, and from the long list of heroes and statesman, select some who have distinguished themselves, and we shall find that they were young men when they performed those acts which have won for them an imperishable meed of fame, and placed their names high on the page of history.

Alexander, the conqueror of the then civilized world, died at 39; Bonaparte, was crowned Emperor of France when 33 years of age; Pitt was but 20 years of age, when, in Britain's Parliament he boldly advocated the cause of the American colonies; our own Washington was but 20 years of age when he was appointed commander-in-chief of all the Virginia forces; Alexander Hamilton at 20 was a Lieut. Colonel and Aid to Washington, at 25 a member of Congress, and at 32 Secretary of the Treasury; Thomas Jefferson was but 33 years of age when he drafted the memorable Declaration of Independence; at the age of 30 Sir Isaac Newton occupied the mathematical chair at Cambridge, having by his scientific discoveries rendered his name immortal.

We might continue the list to a greater length, but enough has been said already to show that the idea that young men are not capable of performing great and ennobling actions, or of taking high positions in the councils of a nation, is visionary. What has been said, may well serve to encourage the young to set up a high standard, and to press toward it with ardor, suffering nothing to discourage them from soaring onward and upward in the paths of fame, or in the pursuit of science.

A GOOD OPINION.—The following letter to Messrs. Hallett, Davis & Co., speaks volumes in their favor and we give it entire.

"It is with sincere feelings of pleasure and gratitude that I improve the present opportunity to thank you for the use of your two Grand Pianos at my late concert in this city. After the many severe tests that I have given your instruments, I unhesitatingly pronounce them eminently superior in action, elasticity of touch, and power of tone, to any I have ever used, either in this or the old country.—Another striking feature in both your Grand and Square Pianos (and where others too often fail) is their remaining in tune under the heaviest and most difficult playing—not a string shattering or flatting, and the action remaining so perfect that the performer is enabled at all times to give instantaneous effect to emphatic passages.

I am, Gentlemen, yours very sincerely,
GUSTAVE SATTER."

Boston, Sept. 1st, 1855.

A FUGITIVE SLAVE SENT BACK.—The Times states that a colored boy named 'Jack,' nine years of age, claimed by Joseph Tucker of Mobile as his slave, was sent back to his master, from Boston, in the brig Selma, Capt. Rogers, on Thursday.

THE SLAVERY LECTURES.—Hon. Henry W. Hilliard, a distinguished Alabama politician, has consented to deliver an address in the course of independent slavery lectures in Boston, this winter.

☞ Mr Andrew Wind, formerly connected with the Advertising Agency of V. B. Palmer, has opened an office at No. 22 Beekman St., N. Y., for the transaction of the Advertising and Subscription business, which he promises will be conducted on the principle of honor and promptness, to publishers and patrons.

☞ Our legal friends and others are referred to a special notice in another column, of a new work, on the Law of Bailments. From the table of contents we should judge it to be valuable book.

N. H. STATE REFORM SCHOOL.—The Manchester American says it is pretty well understood that the Reform School is to be located in that city.

LOCAL.

SINGING SCHOOL.—An excellent opportunity to acquire a knowledge of music, and at the same time enjoy a series of several and agreeable "sings," is offered at Mr. Pearson's evening Class, which opens to-night at Exchange Hall. The room is a fine one, the piano used for accompaniment is unexcelled, and the teacher courteous and agreeable, as well as competent and faithful. Besides this, the term is to close with a grand Musical Convention—which will doubtless be one of the largest and most interesting gatherings of the kind ever held in this State—to which members of this School will be admitted free. See advertisement.

FRUIT.—We have received from Moses Noyes of Greenland, specimens of large and beatiful apples, which he calls the Hubbardstown Nonesuch, and Vermont Greenings. Those before us girth 12 inches each. From one Baldwin apple tree, Mr Noyes gathered 18 barrels and one bushel of good merchantable apples, which is a very large yield, as this is not the regular Baldwin year.

☞ A Lizard measuring about 1 1-2 inches in length, was drawn out of one of the uprights of the Aqueduct in this city on Saturday. The little fellow appeared to be in very good spirits as he moved round pretty lively in the tumbler. We would caution all persons against drinking without looking to see what may be in the water.

MUSICAL.—By posters at the corners of our streets, we notice that we are to have the privilege of hearing the charming Parodi sing here. Strakosch, the celebrated pianist, who is well known to many of our citizens, is with her. The day of her concert is not yet announced, though her agent informs us that it will probably be on Wednesday evening of this week.

The Boston Transcript says that "Mrs. Emma A. Wentworth, accompanied by the Mendelssohn Quintette Club, has just returned from a highly successful concert tour in Maine. During the past fortnight, she has sung at ten concerts in six of the principal cities, and has met with a degree of favor, such as is seldom accorded, and never follows anything but appreciated talent. There is so much of the real lady, united to a pleasing person and rare musical powers, in Mrs. W., that she cannot fail to receive the ovations of her hearers wherever and whenever she is heard. The artistic and beautiful performance of the Quintette Club aided in the general effect, and the members each shared in the applause." We hope to hear Mrs. W. in this her native city this season at least once.

TRE ROCK OF LIBERTY.

(Composed and arranged to music by JAMES G. CLARK, manager of "Ossian's Bards," and sung by them at their concerts throughout the country.)

That braved the blast and the billows' shock;
It was born with Time on a barren shore,
'Twas here that first the Pilgrim band
Came weary up to the foaming strand;
And the tree they rear'd in those days gone by,
It lives, it lives—and ne'er shall die!

Are the hardy sons of the Pilgrim stock;
And the tree they reared in the days gone by,
It lives, it lives—and ne'er shall die!

Then rest, old rock, on the sea beat shore—
'Twas here that first their hymns were heard,
But the tree they reared in the days gone by,
It lives, it lives—and ne'er shall die!

The Anniversaries of the benevolent Societies, of Free Will Baptist Denomination, which were held in Dover, passed off in the most satisfactory manner. The weather was fine, the attendance larger than on any former occasion of this kind, and the various reports and speeches good, some of them excellent. About $1600 were subscribed towards filling up the $10,000 Fund for the endowment of the New Hampton Institution—and considerable sums were raised and pledged for other benevolent objects.

THE WHALING FLEET.—The Honolulu Polynesian of Aug. 25 says:

"The fleet of whalers at the North this season is not quite as large as the past two years, but the large portion are expected to recruit here as in previous years. The number of whalers expected is not far from 250. Not so many supplies have been shipped out this season by the owners of whaleships, owing, no doubt, to the high prices ruling in the States. Still, about 2500 tons of whalemen's supplies are known to be on the way out. The trade during the summer has been very depressed, and confined to the local supply."

MURDER AND SUICIDE IN ST. LOUIS.—A few days since a German shoemaker of St. Louis, stabbed his wife in five places with a sharp pointed knife, and then fled to the river and drowned himself. When he first jumped in he was dragged out by a large Newfoundland dog, belonging to him, who followed him to the river. In reward for his noble act his master plunged a knife into the animal and killed him on the spot. He then made a second and successful attempt at self-murder.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday, at Waltham, a young man of Newton Corner, named Damel Merrill, was engaged in gathering fruit from an apple-tree, when he lost his footing and fell headlong to the ground, striking his head upon a sharp stone and fracturing his skull. After lingering a few hours he died.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—The ship Maury, arrested a few days since on suspicion of having been fitted out for the Russian service, was released yesterday, after an examination of her case in the District Court.

The two Republican organizations met last evening, and permanently organized as one body. They afterwards nominated a city ticket, headed by Azariah Flagg, the Soft candidate for comptroller.

CHINA.—Capture of Chinese Pirate Junks by an American and British Force.—The steamer Eaglet, Capt. Caldwell, of the English navy, had cut off from her convoy, by pirates, ten lorches and five junks, near Kulan, in the Chinese waters. Not being able to attempt to recapture them, application was made to Her Majesty's steamer Rattler, and the United States steam frigate Powhattan lying at Hong Kong. The depth of water into which the pirate fleet had retired, only allowed the crews, marines and boats of the Rattler and Powhattan to engage; neither was the Eaglet brought up nearer than long range.

This pirate fleet, with their prizes, consisted of thirty-six sail, out of which only sixteen of the small ones escaped. They would all have been taken, had their number been discovered earlier, but the Rattler's pinnaces and the Powhattan's cutter had been detached before the fight commenced, to intercept a lorcha, and could not be brought up until the close of the action. From the confused account given in the London papers, we infer that the real contest lasted some hours in the forenoon, preparations having been made the night previous, and was mainly performed by the marines and men of the Eaglet and Powhattan in boats, with howitzers in their bows. The junks fought hard, repeatedly firing broadsides, and all manner of offensive weapons, but were finally carried by boarding in the most gallant manner, the marines carrying all before them the moment they got foothold on the decks. One of the largest junks was blown up, causing the loss, in killed, of four of the attacking force. Five of the junks taken were built and armed for war purposes; they carried 32, 24 and 12 pounders, and in one there was a 68 pounder. One of them had 21 guns mounted. Nine prizes were released. The w r junks had on board large amounts of treasure; on one was $100,000, on another $200,000. In all, 200 cannon were captured, and 500 pirates, with 500 more killed in action, or drowned. The British loss, in killed, was 4; wounded 7. The American, 2 killed, both landsmen, and 13 wounded, one of whom have since died. Lt. R. B. Pegram, who commanded the American force, and Lt. H. Rolando, were both wounded, the former in the hand. Three boats, and a hundred officers and men from the Powhattan formed part of the expedition.

Pronouncing Gazeteer

OF THE WORLD, or Geographical Dictionary, containing a greater amount of matter than any single volume in the English Language. Edited by J. Thomas, M.D., and F. Baldwin, assisted by several other Gentlemen.

The Publishers say—In undertaking the publication of the present work, upon which over five years of continued labor and research, with a large outlay of money have been expended, with a view not merely to the deficiencies of existing Gazeteers, but to furnish a Geographical Dictionary which should be as comprehensive in its design, as perfect in its arrangement, and as complete and accurate in its execution, as the best Dictionary of the English Language.

Among the many other claims to superiority which this work has over all others of the kind, are the following:

1st, It is a Pronouncing Gazeteer, a feature as essential to its completeness of a Geographical Dictionary as to a Dictionary of the English language.

2d, It contains over 2000 more names of Places than any other Gazeteer of the World. And the notices of all important places in our Gazeteer will also be found more full and satisfactory.

3d, In regard to accuracy and recentness of information, this Gazeteer will be found incomparably superior to every other.

We might have hurried our Gazeteer through the press to forestall others commenced long after ours was in progress, but we could not be tempted to waive a single feature of excellence requiring time for its perfection.

Cough, Consumption, and Bronchitis

ELIXIR.

THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all affections of the Throat and Lungs; and large of those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXER a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal.—It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion that no family should be without this Medicine: let all others give it to their Children who have Hooping Cough or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones. Price 50 cts.

Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name, and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass, are blown upon the Bottle, without which none will be genuine.

THIS Wonderful Medicine for the Sick and Nervous (HEADACHE, as well as for Tic Doloreux, Neuralgia and all forms of Nervous Diseases, after an impartial trial of more than six years, has established its reputation as a Standard Remedy. Other Headache Remedies have been "waxed and waned" since this was introduced to the public, but the Genuine DR. POLAND'S HEADACHE KILLER has been, and is now increasing in sales every month.

Within three months, more than seven tons in weight of the Headache Killer have been sent over the Rails to fill orders for it.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup

will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it sends itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are true, when there is so much humbugery in advertisements? We will tell you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 13, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as a valuable article, and the same are known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. MCKEEN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and perfect ease of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Piano.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

BREAD, GOLD AND WAR.

The Boston Courier, in reviewing the Foreign News by the last steamer, speaks of the uncertain state of business and money in England and France; and offers the following remarks:

"Monetary affairs are not very cheering in England, the financial state of France, and the continued export of specie, and the demand for money combining to keep a constant fear, notwithstanding a million pounds sterling of gold were daily expected from Australia. By the latest return of the Bank of England, it is stated that the amount of notes in circulation is £20,162,685, being an increase of £754,250, and the stock of bullion in both departments is £12,938,928, showing a decrease of £329,699, when compared with the preceding return. The dealers in money of every kind and degree operate with extreme caution.

The food question is more important in France than the war; and government encounters it by means which all sound political science reprobates. It reproduces the expedients of barbarous ages; and, despite modern knowledge and historical experience, has fixed the price butchers are to charge for beef and mutton. The government finds it necessary to adopt very prompt measures in order to check the unfavorable growth of money matters in Paris. In addition to the assistance it has already rendered to the Bank of France and the Credit Mobilier, it has now announced its intention to grant no more concessions of any kind for the present, and has prevented the latter institution issuing obligations it had resolved upon getting into circulation. All this, however, does not suffice for the emergency. And it is believed that it is now intended that the capital of the Bank of France shall be doubled, by which it can issue a larger amount of notes, and that it shall not in future be compulsory with it to pay its circulation in gold. This amounts to an attempt to make credit supply the place of money. A more fictitious and dangerous process to arrest a pressure or curtail embarrassment cannot well be imagined. It is an extension to the Bank of France of the policy which called into existence the Credit Mobilier. Its immediate effect, however, is to arrest the panic feeling, and avert the crisis which imperils the country. For the time being the effect produced will be beneficial, but it remains to be seen what will be the final result. The French government, no doubt, anticipates that, before the reaction takes place, matters will have righted themselves by some as yet unforeseen favorable turn in affairs. The government is evidently resolved that no panic shall take place if it can by any possibility be avoided.

A private letter from Cologne, received in this city from an important mercantile source, says:—"Generally speaking we are going on pretty well, although the wretched oriental war has put a check on many an undertaking, and casts gloom wide around. We shall want much of your breadstuffs this year, and trust to find you decent chaps for prices."

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—The Atlas announces that Capt. Griffeth Morris, of the steamer R. B. Forbes, has discovered how to detect and measure the deviations of the compass from local attraction in any ship, and how to overcome it with absolute correctness, so that the compass may be relied upon under all circumstances. For six years, his steamer which he commands, and which is of iron, has been run by compasses adjusted by him, and they have never varied, even the eighth of a point, during the whole of that time. The captains of the steamers Joseph Whitney, William Jenkins, and Palmetto, bear testimony to the value of Capt. Morris's discovery, having thoroughly tested it on board their respective vessel. Such a discovery as Capt. Morris is said to made, has ever been one of the great desiderata of the navigator, and it fully realized will prove of inestimable value to the vast multitude who "go down to the sea in ships, and do business upon the great waters."—Boston Journal.

NEW YORK OFFICIALS.—A New York correspondent of the State of Maine says:

You have perhaps noticed that several of our Aldermen, Police, Judges, &c., have recently been indicted for fraud and dishonesty in many particulars. You would not wonder that such is the fact if you but knew who and what they are. Having recently an "acknowledgement" to make before a Justice of the Peace, with some difficulty I got upon the track of one, and was told that if I did not find him at home he would be at a certain porter-house, "for he was about always to be found there." I did however find him at home, but so ill with delirium tremens that he could scarcely guide his pen, and was willing to write just what I dictated. He is one of the indicted.

One of the candidates for City Inspector—an officer who has the important charge of the health of the city—is the keeper of a Broadway Grog Shop, and the husband of the owner and manager of a most noted house of ill repute in this city. His associates are certainly not of the purest character; is it probable that his hands will remain clean in such a position? As for the Coroners, not only are the candidates and present incumbents many of them pot-house keepers of the lowest grade. Can you expect high refinement, morality, or proper notions of right and wrong, meum and tuum, from persons thus educated and thus situated?

BIRTH ON THE CARS.—On Capt. Dukehart's passenger train between this city and Baltimore, one more passenger than had gotten on at any particular station suddenly made his appearance into this "breathing world," in the ladies' car. The lady and the lady's husband, who had a particular claim on the young adventurer, and were from New York, were very kindly cared for by Capt. Dukehart, and the baggage master, Mr James Young. The name of the locomotive attached to the important train, was "Reindeer," and the little fellow, in honor of the peculiar occasion and circumstances, was christened Reindeer Dukehart Monroe, and we understand is now doing well.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

Sunny Side Parlor Cook.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. With these facts in view, the proprietor of this patent has, this season, perfected and brought into the market, a Stove that proves to be THE Parlor Cook wanted. The demand for this Stove exceeds the supply, and all who desire the handsomest and best Stove in the market, are invited to examine the "Sunny Side" of the picture here so imperfectly portrayed.

NOTES OF A PLEASURE TRIP—No. 8.

PLYMOUTH, MASS.

The township of Plymouth was formerly much larger than at present, though it is now one of the largest in point of territory in the State. It extends on the coast about sixteen miles from north to south. The land is generally hilly, barren and sandy; though that bordering on the seaboard is better. Numerous small streams cuts the township in different directions, and there are more than fifty permanent ponds, and more than three thousand acres are covered with water.

The Indian name of Plymouth was Umpame, written Apaum in the old records, and still sometimes so-called. It was also called Patuxet. The population is now about 7,000.

The harbor of Plymouth is large, but not of sufficient depth for vessels of the largest class. It is formed partly by a beach extending three miles from north to south, which serves to break the waves rolling in from Massachusetts Bay. Large appropriations have been made by the town, as well as by the State, and recently by the general government, for the repair and preservation of this beach, as essential to the preservation of the harbor. This harbor ordinarily affords the means of safety to mariners, and the number of shipwrecks which have occurred here since the landing of the Pilgrims, has been smaller than might be expected by many. The annals of the port present no instance of a disaster so trying in its circumstances, or involving so large a loss of lives, as that of the private armed brig General Arnold, on Christmas Day, 1778. The brig sailed from Boston, with twenty guns, and officers and crew numbering one hundred and six; put into Plymouth harbor on account of an approaching storm, and anchored in a place called the Cowyard, from the fact that the Pilgrims caught a cow-whale there. In the night she dragged her anchors, struck and bilged; and seventy-two of the men perished, under the most appalling circumstances. A monument to their memory is erected on Burying Hill.

Cole's Hill, an open green spot near Forefather's Rock, was the first burial-place of the Pilgrims. About fifty of those who came over in the Mayflower were interred here, including the first Governor, (Carver) and Rose, the wife of Miles Standish. The graves here were all smoothed over, and the ground above them cultivated, that the Indians might not find them. The bodies were placed looking toward the rising sun.

Burying Hill, (originally called Fort Hill, from the fact that a fort of defence was first built there,) is farther from the water, and a spot of interest. It is "the most venerable, if not the most beautiful necropolis, to be met with on the soil of America." This hill is the most remarkable spot in Plymouth. From whatever side we approach the town, it rises conspicuously above all its buildings; a lofty green mound, covered with dark gray tombstones, the first place to receive the rays of the sun, and the last upon which they linger. The view from its top is truly grand. The first measure of precaution, on the part of the Pilgrims, after their first encounter with the Indians, (which was a successful one,) was the erection of a platform on this hill, on which their ordnance was placed, as a protection to their dwellings. The site of this ancient fort is distinctly marked, on the southeast part of the hill which overlooks the bay and surrounding country in every direction—a point no doubt exactly suited to the military eye and practised taste of Capt. Miles Standish. This fort was roofed flat, and served also for a meeting house.

It is not known at what time Burying Hill was first used as a place of sepulture, though probably about 1622, when the fort was built. But no grave stones were placed till many years after this, owing probably to more pressing matters demanding attention. A white marble pyramidal monument has been erected to Gov. Bradford and family; a stone to Thomas Clark, supposed by many to have been the Clark who was mate of the Mayflower; stones to several of the earlier ministers and elders of the Pilgrim Church; to Dr. Judson, the well-known American Baptist Missionary to Burmah; and to the seventy two seamen lost in the brig above mentioned.

There are on the road to Sandwich, in the woods, two rocks, called Sacrifice rocks. They are covered with sticks and stones, which have been accumulating for centuries. It was the constant practice among the aboriginals, to throw a stone or stick on the rock in passing. It is conjectured that this was an acknowledgement of an invisible Being, the unknown God whom this people worshipped. This pile was their altar.

Pilgrim Hall was built in 1824, and is fitted up in a manner convenient and appropriate for the reception of interesting memorials connected with the Pilgrims. Among these are many splendid and valuable paintings, busts, &c. The sword, a pewter dish, and an iron pot, which belonged to Capt. Miles Standish, are here. This sword has recently attracted much attention from scientific and antiquarian gentlemen, on account of the peculiar and yet undeciphered inscriptions on its blade; none of whom, however, seem able to determine the place of its manufacture, or the significance of the figures. With a view to ascertain the matter, a fac simile of the sword was lately taken, indicating the inscriptions, which was sent to the University at Gottingen, in Germany. It was submitted to the inspection of distinguished scientific men in that quarter, and to the celebrated Baron Humboldt; but, thus far, no interpreter has appeared to expound the mysterious characters of this antique memorial of the military chieftain of 1620. The whole length of the sword is 39 3-4 inches; the average width, 1 1-4 inches; the hilt or handle, 5 1-4 inches; the cross at the hilt, 4 3-4 inches, and the cross and guard are of brass. It has but one edge, the blade being slightly curved, and nearly through its whole length is fluted, having three rather narrow and shallow channels. Within the space of ten inches from the hilt, on both sides of the blade, several inscriptions appear, among which the figures 1149 are perfectly distinct.

Here also is the gun-barrel with which King Philip was killed; and the original letter of King Philip to Gov. Prince, in 1662. One of the most interesting relics, to us, is a piece of ingenious embroidery, executed by Lores Standish, daughter of Miles, which was presented by Rev. Mr. Alden, now of New Castle, who is a direct descendant of the old Pilgrims, and a persevering antiquarian. An ancient deed and a bond, having the signature of Peregine White, the first Englishman born in New England, are also here, and a deed acknowledged before Miles Standish. A commission from Oliver Cromwell to Gov. Winslow, a chair which belonged to Elder Wm. Brewster, and others of much interest.

There must have been giants in those days, for there is a gun near Plymouth, about a couple of centuries old, which is seven and a half feet long, and weighs about 21 pounds; the barrel is six feet, and carries balls twelve to the pound;—also a sword three and a half feet long. The arm-chair which belonged to Gov. Bradford is in good preservation; and the swords of Gov. Carver and Col. Church, with the lock of the gun which killed King Philip, are deposited with the Mass. Hist. Soc. in Boston.

This Pilgrim Hall is a plain, neat building of unwrought granite, located near where the Mayflower's boat-crew landed. In the front yard is half of the Forefather's Rock, enclosed by a handsome iron railing, with forty-one festoons, on which are the names of those who signed the Compact before landing from the Mayflower. This ornamental and monumental fence cost upwards of $400, and protects this portion of the "rock of liberty" from the depredations of man—but old Time has made a rent in it, which is filled with cement.

We had thought to write only one letter concerning Plymouth: but the subject grows as we review it, and we must look at other objects of interest here at another time. F.

☞The third annual Exhibition of the United States Agricultural Society, opens at the spacious show grounds on the east side of Harrison Avenue, in Boston, this morning—to continue through the week. $10,000 are to be given in premiums. Seats for 6000 persons have been erected, facing the track. The whole is under charge of that prince of agricultural fairs, Marshal P. Wilder; and is expected to eclipse all former shows of the kind.

TWICE MARRIED.—We are indebted to Fetridge & Co., Boston, for a copy of this romance, republished in book form by Dix & Edwards, New York, from Putnam's Monthly. "Its very kind reception in its monthly numbers, not merely by the critical authorities of the press, but by the public at large, has induced the publishers to present it in the new form, in which they confidently trust it will meet the same generous appreciation as heretofore. For sale in Portsmouth by Jas. F. Shores.

☞Br. Fogg, the new publisher of the Great Falls Journal, makes up a spicy weekly sheet for his readers; and we are pleased to learn from himself that he is meeting with good encouragement. Over his list of marriages he has the line, "Mistaken souls who dream of bliss," which we consider rather a sneer at the institution— and would warn him to look out that he is never "miss-taken."—For the obituary head he has, "Passed on;" and underneath it the line, "Death is swallowed up in victory," which we consider as peculiarly appropriate.

The Journal tells of a flat English turnip raised in Berwick, three feet in circumference, and weighing upwards of 17 lbs.; of a Potato raised in Lebanon, 2 feet in circumference, and weighing about a pound; and a Duchess D'Angouleme Pear weighing 14 ounces.

LOCAL.

PORTSMOUTH & CONCORD R. R. CO.

There was quite a spirited meeting held yesterday at the Court House by the Bond Holders of the above Road with a view to take some immediate action for the protection of their interests. Speeches were made by Charles L. Woodbury, Esq., of Boston, and Charles L. Frost, of New York, who for themselves and friends represent about $150,000 of the Bonds of the Road. Great dissatisfaction was expressed as to the course being pursued by the Trustees of the Road, who it is alledged are creditors of the corporation to a very considerable amount,—and that they are consequently operating the Road with a view to extricate themselves and their co-directors of the corporation from liability, rather than to benefit the Bond Holders, for which purpose they were elected trustees. Mr Geo. Minot of Concord, Thomas Clough of Canterbury, S. Plummer Dow of Newmarket, Charles L. Frost of New York, Charles L. Woodbury of Boston, and Aaron H. Hill and Henry F. Wendell of Portsmouth, were elected a Committee to confer with the Trustees and Directors of the Corporation, with a view of coming to some understanding in settlement of many disputed points, and to take some final action to foreclose the mortgage. Bond Holders are requested as per notice in another column, to send in their names with their residence and amount of bonds held, to the Committee appointed, in order to prepare for some decided action.

PARODI'S CONCERT.—We have in type a fine long advertisement which was intended for insertion this morning, and bills are posted all over the city, announcing Mad. Parodi's Concert for Wednesday evening. But just as we were closing up the "form" we received a telegraphic despatch from her agent to "take out the advertisement—stop everything." The cause of the postponement, or the time when the Concert will take place we are now unable to state.

DEDICATION AND INSTALLATION. — We learn that the North Church will be dedicated by suitable religious services on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 1st. The sermon will be by the pastor elect.

In the evening of the same day the Rev. Lyman Whiting will be installed as Pastor. The sermon will be by Rev. A. L. Stone of Boston.

The churches were represented by fifteen ministers and seven delegates. Revs. Wm. Clark, Agent of A. B. C. F. M., Isaac Willey, Agent of A. B. S., A. H. Quint of Jamaica Plains, Mass., and Mr. Moore, supplying in Lee, were invited to sit as corresponding members. In the temporary absence of Rev. Mr. Tappan, who was the appointed preacher, the opening sermon was preached by Rev. William Clark, from Acts 26: 16, 17, 18.

Rev. J. G. Farwell was chosen Moderator pro tem. The narratives on the state of religion in the churches were given on Tuesday afternoon and continued a part of the evening and a short time on Wednesday morning.—Appeals for benevolent objects, and resolutions in favor of temperance, &c., occupied the remainder of the day. Sermons were preached each evening.

On Thursday a sermon was preached by Rev. J. H. Merrill, and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered, the Rev. A. K. Young and Rev. Theodore Wells officiating, and the Convention adjourned.

Next meeting to be held at Barnstead.

STATE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION. — The New Hampshire Baptist State Convention convened at Newton on Wednesday morning, Oct. 17th, at 10 o'clock, A. M. The attendance was large from nearly all parts of the State. The following account is given of it in the Great Falls Journal, by a gentleman who attended the meeting.

The Convention was opened by prayer and after the appointment of several committees, a sermon was delivered by Rev. Mr. Ayer of Claremont. The subject was "Joy in the Lord, an element of moral power both in the Church and the Ministry." The sermon was timely and good.

In the afternoon the report of the Secretary was read, giving an account of the operations of the Society in the State, a part of which is to assist the feeble churches in sustaining pastors among them, and also the sending of missionaries where they are unable to sustain pastors. It appears by the report that there are a great many towns in the State without any Baptist preaching, and several without preaching of any kind, but Sabbath breaking & intemperance reign triumphant. The income of the Society the past year was more than any former year; seventeen hundred and fifty dollars were raised for the purposes of the Convention.

During the Evening session the reports from the different associations in the State on the subject of religion, which showed a low state of piety in many of the churches, after which we listened to an excellent address from the Rev. Mr. Warren of Boston, on Foreign Missions, after which the Convention adjourned to Thursday morning.

Thursday was occupied in celebrating the centennial anniversary of the Church in Newton, it being one hundred years since this church was established. It is the oldest church in the State, of the Baptist denomination. Excellent sermons were preached by the Rev. Mr. Lamson, of Portsmouth, and Dr. Stowe of Boston. The Convention adjourned to hold its next meeting in Pittsfield.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public can no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested, and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

New York, Oct. 21.—The City Hall was yesterday the focus of an intense excitement, caused by floating rumors that the Grand Jury had found bills of indictment against certain public functionaries. The chamber of the Court of Sessions was filled with anxious officials and others intensely curious to witness the developements. In the course of the afternoon the Grand Jury entered the Court room, and delivered to the Court a paper, which set forth that knowledge had come to the Jury, of corruption in several of the heads of departmentss sufficient to justify the presentment of the Street Commissioner, the Collector of Taxes, the City Inspector, the Commissioner of Repairs and Supplies, and the Commissioner of Streets and Lamps. Recorder Smith, however, declined to receive the presentments or allow them to be read, on the ground that their publicity might influence the public mind.

Last evening, which terminated the engagement of the Rachel Troupe in this city, drew to the Metropolitan one of the most crowded audiences of the season.

Baltimore, Oct. 20.—By the arrival of the Southern mail, as late as due, we have New Orleans papers containing the details of late Mexican news, confirming the accession of General Alvarez to the Presidency. Alvarez received 16 votes; Comonfort 3; Orampo 3; Vidaurri 1. Vidaurri has published a communication, denying the reports that he was an Annexationist. He also publishes accounts of several offers of assistance which he received from Americans, and which he had declined, and says he recommended some Texans, who had proffered him their services to retire to the other side of the river, threatening them if they did not do so.

Jose Santa Anna, son of the Ex-President, has written a letter from the fortress of San Juan de Ulloa, denying the accusations made against him.

Washington, Oct. 20.—From what can be ascertained, nothing will be done with the Governorship of Utah until the meeting of Congress. It is the opinion of those most conversant with affairs, that it will be necessary to station a strong military force there.

Brevet Brigadier General Hitchcock has resigned his position in the army, and his resignation has been accepted by the President.

The Star says private letters represent Minister Mason's condition much worse than the public imagine, he being so feeble as to require to be propped up when sitting at table.

Kansas Election.—Returns of the Congressional election of the 2d of October from all the counties in Kansas, give Whitfield, pro-slavery, 2504 votes, and Reeder 36. The election on the 9th of October passed off quietly. In Leavenworth city Reeder got 530 votes; in Lawrence 325. These two precincts gave Reeder more than twice the number of votes they gave to Whitefield at the election of the 2d of October.

Court at Lawrence, Mass:—Judge Briggs (late Governor of Mass.) presiding. Fourteen persons plead guilty. The Salem Register says:

Most of the trials have resulted in verdicts of guilty. The trial in which the deepest interest was felt and manifested was that of Patrick Connell, of Lawrence, who was charged with being a common seller of intoxicating liquor. Many of the friends of the traffic had stated, that no jury would be found willing to convict the dealers in ardent spirits, under present circumstances, and the court room was thronged with the compatriots of the defendant, and other citizens who felt interested in the decision of the case. * * * The jury, after a patient consideration of the case, brought in their verdict that Patrick Connell was guilty.

JANE EYRE.—A correspondent of the Living Age, in an article on "Jane Eyre and the school at Cowan Bridge," says that Charlotte Bronte has done a good and useful institution a deal of injury by her misrepresentation of scenes that occurred there during her childhood. The writer was a teacher in the school at the time the Bronte children were there, and says the whole statement of bad treatment, improper food, sickness and want bordering on starvation, is a fabrication, and can only be accounted for by the fact that the girl had a vivid imagination which could not be curbed down to a plain rehearsal of what actually fell under her observation.

This is about equal to the Yorkshire school master who threatened to go up to London and flog Dickens, for exposing his school by the representation of "Dotheboys Hall." We are inclined to the opinion that if the coat did not fit in some particulars, the conductors of the Living Age would not be so sensitive in regard to it. It is absurd to suppose that any particular school was referred to in Jane Eyre; and we think there are few children who do not come away—rightly or wrongly—from a Boarding School with a very different impression from that which is stamped on the mind of the teacher. The school at Cowan Bridge, probably, is not perfect; and we would not give much for the child who did not have some disagreeable—as well as agreeable—reminiscences of school days.—State of Maine.

NATIVE WINES.—At the late fair of the Greene County (N. Y.,) Agricultural Society, Jas. Powers, Esq., of Catskill, exhibited specimens of domestic wine, which were pronounced by competent judges to be equal, if not superior to Madeira.

G. W. STONE'S

ELIXIR.

THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all Affections of the Throat and Lungs and begs of those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXER a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs: it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal—It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion that no family should be without this Medicine: let Mothers give it to their Children who have the Whooping Cough or Croup, and they will see at once the sufferings of their little ones. Price 50 cts.

Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name, and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass., are blown upon the Bottle, without which none will be genuine.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manuactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by there Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are indeed splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skillful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,
PASSED JUNE SESSION, 1855.

AN ACT to establish the city of Dover.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That the inhabitants of the town of Dover, in the county of Strafford, shall continue to be a body politic and corporate, under the name and style of Dover, and as such shall have, exercise and enjoy all the rights, immunities, powers and privileges, and shall be subject to all the duties and obligations now appertaining to and incumbent upon said town as a municipal corporation.

SEC. 2. The administration of all the fiscal, prudential and municipal affairs of said city, and the government thereof, shall be vested in one principal officer, to be styled the mayor, who shall be chosen by the inhabitants of said city, at its annual meeting; and thereafter, a council to be denominated the board of aldermen, and one council to be denominated the common council, which boards shall, in their joint capacity, be denominated the city council; a majority of each board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; no member shall receive any compensation for his services, and no member shall, during his continuance in office, be eligible to any office, to be elected by the city council, except that of superintending of school committee.

SEC. 3. The city of Dover is hereby divided into four wards, which shall be constituted as follows:

Ward No. one shall contain all that part of the town of Dover which is north of a line commencing where the Boston & Maine Railroad intersects the easterly line of the town of Madbury, and running on the line of said railroad to Cocheco river, thence up said river to the centre of the bridge which crosses said river and connects Fourth street with the new road leading to the Toleno road, thence to the intersection of the Fresh Creek road with the main road leading to Dover village to Rochester, and thence by said Fresh Creek road to the line of the town of Rollinsford.

Ward No. two shall contain all that part of said town which lies northerly and easterly of Cocheco river, and between the boundaries of ward one and the following described line, to wit: beginning on said river where the Boston & Maine Railroad crosses the same, thence down said river to the centre of the Central street bridge near Cocheco falls, thence to the centre of School street where it intersects with Main street, thence down the centre of said School street to its intersection with Portland street, thence across said street and down Cocheco street to a brook near the Gas Company's works and southerly of the same, thence down said brook to Cocheco river.

Ward No. three shall contain all that part of said town embraced within the following limits: beginning at Cocheco river where the Boston and Maine Railroad crosses the same, thence running westerly on the line of said railroad to the Toleno road, thence southerly on said Toleno road to its intersection with Silver street, thence to Bellamy river at the point where the main road from Dover to Portsmouth crosses said river, thence down said river to the dam of Moses' mills, thence from the easterly end of said dam to the Cocheco river where it intersects the centre of the highway leading thereto by the house of Amos Burrows at Perkins' landing, thence up Cocheco river to a point where the southerly line of ward two intersects said river near Cocheco street, thence by the line of ward two to the railroad bridge and point of beginning.

Ward No. four shall contain all that part of the town of Dover which is not included in the other wards.

The city council may, from time to time, whenever the public convenience requires, revise and change the division, and alter the boundaries of the wards, and increase or diminish the number thereof. Provided, no such alteration shall be made except by a vote of two-thirds of the members of each board.

SEC. 4. At the first election of the city council, under this act, the first and fourth wards shall each choose one alderman, and three members of the common council, and ward two and three each two aldermen and six members of the common council; and afterward each ward shall choose as many aldermen and three times as many members of the common council, as they are entitled to representatives to the State legislature; but each ward shall be entitled to choose one alderman and three members of the council.

SEC. 5. Each of the city wards shall be a town for the purpose of electing governor, councillor, senator, representatives to the general court, county officers, representatives to congress, and electors of President and Vice President.

SEC. 6. Three selectmen, a moderator and town clerk shall be annually elected in each of said towns, who shall have the powers and perform the duties, and be subject to the liabilities of those officers in other towns, so far as relates to warning meetings, regulating, correcting and posting up check lists, deciding upon the qualifications of voters, conducting elections, declaring the votes and recording the same, returning votes to the Secretary of the state, or other officers to whom returns are by law to be made, making certificates of election, and all other matters relating to elections as fully as if the same were herein specially enumerated.

SEC. 7. The annual meeting of the inhabitants for the choice of city and ward officers shall be holden on the second Tuesday of March, and all city, ward and town officers, who are chosen by the people, shall be chosen by ballot, and shall hold their respective offices for one year from the fourth Tuesday of March, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead, and the election shall be used at all ballotings; and in case the choice of alderman, common councilmen or town or ward officers, cannot be made or completed on that day, the meeting shall be adjourned from day to day, till the choice is completed; no balloting shall be commenced after sunset and before sunrise. The clerk shall, within twenty-four hours after such choice, deliver to each person chosen alderman or common councilman, or leave at his usual place of abode, a certificate of election, signed by himself, moderator, and a majority of the selectmen present at the meeting.

SEC. 8. In addition to the other qualifications of a voter, a residence of thirty days shall be necessary in the ward where he proposes to vote.

SEC. 9. The ward clerk shall, within twenty-four hours after every meeting for the choice of mayor, deliver a copy of the records of the vote for mayor to the city clerk. The city clerk shall, immediately after receiving such copies, enter the same on the city record and then lay said copies before the mayor and aldermen, who shall, without delay, examine the same, and cause the person who has been chosen mayor by a majority of the votes, to be notified in writing of his election: and in case the people shall fail to elect a mayor, the city council shall, in convention, by ballot, elect from the two highest candidates voted for, a mayor for the ensuing year.

SEC. 10. Whenever the office of mayor shall become vacant by death, resignation or otherwise, the boards of aldermen and common council shall, respectively by vote, declare the same and the cause thereof, and the city council shall, in convention, elect a mayor to fill said vacancy, so long as such cause shall continue, or until a new election.

SEC. 11. The mayor, aldermen and common council, shall meet in convention for the purpose of being qualified, on the fourth Tuesday of March, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and the oath of office may be administered to the mayor, by any justice of a court of record, or justice of the peace, and to the aldermen and common council by any such officer, or by the mayor; a record of the said oaths of office shall be made upon the journal of the board of aldermen and of the common council, by their respective clerks.

SEC. 12. The mayor shall be the chief executive officer of the city, and for the preservation of the peace, shall have all the powers of a sheriff, and conservator of the peace. He shall cause the laws and ordinances and regulations of the city to be executed and enforced. He shall exercise a general supervision over the conduct of all subordinate officers, and cause their neglect or violation of duty to be punished. He may call special meetings of the city council, or of either board, by causing a notification to be left at the usual dwelling place of each member of the board, or boards to be convened. He shall, from time to time, communicate to the city council such information, and recommend such measures as the interests of the city shall, in his judgment require. He shall preside in the board of aldermen, and in convention of both branches, but shall have a casting vote only. He shall receive for the first year, a salary of two hundred dollars, and after that time such sums as the city council shall determine.

SEC. 13. In the absence of the mayor at any meeting of the board of aldermen, they may choose a chairman for the time being; they [may] make, alter, repeal, or amend rules and orders for the government of the board; whenever a vacancy shall occur in their board, they may order a new election, and shall be final judges of elections of their own members. All their meetings shall be public, when not engaged in executive business; the yeas and nays shall [be] taken on any question, and recorded on motion of any member.

SEC. 14. The executive powers of the city, and administration of police, with all the powers heretofore by law vested in the selectmen of the town of Dover, shall be vested in the board of aldermen, except where it is herein otherwise provided, as fully as if the same were herein specifically enacted, and they shall do and perform all the duties which the selectmen of towns are by law authorized and required to do and perform within their respective towns, unless otherwise provided in this act; they shall have exclusive power to appoint a city marshal and assistants, police officers, watchmen, superintending school committee and collector of taxes, and to remove the same for sufficient cause; and all other officers whose election or appointment is not otherwise herein provided, shall be elected by the city council in joint ballot, and all vacancies in such offices shall be filled in the same manner.

SEC. 15. The common council shall sit and act as a distinct body, except when required to convene in convention with the board of aldermen; they shall choose one of their own members as president of the board, and in case of his absence, shall choose a president for the time being; they shall also choose a clerk, who shall be sworn, and hold his office during their pleasure; such clerk shall attend all meetings of the board; shall keep a journal of their acts, votes and proceedings, and perform such other services in said office as the board may require; all sittings of the common council shall be public; they shall be final judges of the election and qualifications of their own members; and may order new elections to fill vacancies which may happen in their board, and they may make, alter, amend and repeal rules and regulations for their own government, in the transaction of business.

SEC. 16. All the powers now vested by law in the town of Dover, or the inhabitants thereof, as a municipal corporation, shall be vested in the city council, composed as provided in the second section of this act, and shall be exercised by concurrent vote, each board having a negative on the other, and they may in the same manner, make, amend and repeal joint rules and orders for the orderly management of business, and for the government of the two bodies in convention.—The city marshal [shall] under the mayor, have the control and direction of the police of the city, and shall attend upon the mayor and aldermen when required, and shall be by virtue of his office, constable and conservator of the peace, and shall give bond to the satisfaction of the board of aldermen, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

SEC. 17. The city council shall have power to make all such salutary and needful by-laws, as towns, the police officers of towns, the engineers or firewards or boards of health, have power to make by the laws of the State, and they may annex penalties not exceeding twenty dollars for the breach thereof, and they may make, establish, publish, alter, modify, amend, or repeal ordinances for the following purposes among others:

And all such by-laws, regulations and ordinances shall be duly published in such newspaper or newspapers in the city, as the city council shall direct. The city council shall have the care and superintendence of the city buildings and other city property, and the power to let or sell what may be legally let or sold, and to purchase property, real and personal, in the name and for the use of the city, whenever the interests or convenience of the city requires it. The city council shall, once in every year, at least, publish for the use and information of the inhabitants, a particular account of the receipts and expenditures of the city, and a schedule of the property and means, and of the debts of the city.

SEC. 19. The city council shall have power to construct drains and common sewers through any highways, streets or private lands, paying the owners such damage as they shall sustain thereby, such damages to be assessed by the mayor and aldermen, in the same manner, with the same right of appeal, as is provided by law in regard to the laying out of highways, by the selectmen of towns; and to require all persons to pay a reasonable sum for the right to open any drain into such public drain or sewer.

SEC. 20. All power and authority now by law vested in the board of health for the town of Dover, shall be vested in the city council, to be carried into execution by the appointment of health commissioners, or in such other manner as the city council shall determine. SEC. 22. The legal voters in wards No. 1 and No. 4, shall each, annually, choose one person, and in wards No. 2 and 3, shall each choose two persons to be members of the board of assessors; and the assessors so elected shall perform all the duties relative to taking the inventory and appraisal of property for taxation, and in regard to the assessment and abatement of taxes, and issuing warrants for the collection of the same, as are now or may hereafter be required by law of selectmen and assessors in towns, and shall have all the powers in regard to those duties which selectmen and assessors now or may hereafter have.

SEC. 23. [23.] Within three months after the passage of this act, the selectmen of the town of Dover shall issue their warrant for a legal meeting of said voters of said town, at which meeting the sense of the legal voters present shall be taken by ballot upon the adoption of this act, and the votes shall be sorted, counted, declared and recorded as in other cases; and the polls shall be open for receiving the ballots on said question, for the space of five hours at least; and if a majority of the ballots cast at such meeting, shall be in favor of the adoption of this act, the same shall be in force from and after the day of such meeting—Provided, that in case of the adoption of this act, the present officers of the town of Dover shall hold their offices and perform the duties thereof until the first Tuesday of March, 1856, and until the organization of the city government, except such of their duties as are provided for in the following section.

SEC. 23. [24.] After the adoption of this act, and before the first day of December next, the selectmen of Dover, shall call a meeting of the legal voters of each ward, at some convenient time and place, to be designated in their warrant; said meetings shall be called in the same manner as town meetings are now called by selectmen; the selectmen of Dover shall prepare, post up, and correct for such ward, a check list, in the same manner as selectmen are required to do at the meetings in towns for the choice of State officers. The meetings shall be called to order by one of the selectmen of Dover, or if none of the selectmen are present, by any justice of the peace for the county of Strafford, who shall preside until a moderator is chosen. At said meeting in each ward, a moderator, town clerk and three selectmen shall be chosen by ballot; the officers so chosen shall, from and after that time, and until others are chosen in their stead, perform all the duties assigned them by this act.

D., 1856, and the returns hereinbefore provided, to be made to the city clerk, shall at that time be made to the selectmen of the town of Dover, who shall perform all the duties in relation to said election, herein assigned to the mayor and aldermen.

SEC. 25. [26.] The several ward clerks shall immediately, after the election aforesaid, deliver to the selectmen of said town, a certificate of the election of the aldermen and common councilmen in their respective wards; and the selectmen shall select and provide suitable places for the first meeting of the members of said aldermen and common councilmen, and shall seasonably, before the fourth Tuesday of March next, notify such members of the place so selected.

SEC. 26. [27.] The police court of the town of Dover now existing and established, is hereby continued and established as the police court of the city of Dover, and shall hereafter be denominated the police court of the city of Dover. And all precepts, civil or criminal, which by law are made returnable, or which shall be instituted and pending before said police court of the town of Dover, when this act shall take effect, shall be heard and determined before said court, under the name of the police court of the city of Dover; and all monies payable by said police court of the town of Dover, to said town, shall be paid by said city of Dover.

SEC. 27. [28.] This act shall take effect from its passage, but shall become null and void, unless the town of Dover shall, at a meeting called for that purpose, vote to adopt the same before the first day of November next.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1855.

A FIRST RATE NOTICE.

The N. H. Patriot of the 17th, gives, under the head of "How the Maine [N. H.] Law Operates," an extraordinary puff for Uncle Toby, which we copy in full, at the old man's request, with a few notes and comments.

Uncle Toby of the Portsmouth Chronicle must either be a knave or a fool; (1) for after repeatedly declaring that the mass of the people were very decidedly in favor of an intensified Liquor Law, such as we now have in this State, he now promulgates his contra-declaration that "the state of public morality is low," and that the liquor law is daily violated in consequence.(2) If Uncle Toby asserted that the people were universally, almost, (3) in favor of the passage of the law, and did this for merely political purposes—as it is more than reasonable to infer that he did—then he acted the knave; if he made the statement in the knowledge that popular morality was so "low" that it would not sanction the law, then he acted like a fool. Which position will he choose?(4) We think the former saddle will best fit his back. Our reason for this belief is that, in his senility, Uncle Tobias has made the cunning discovery that the Maine law will work nothing but the destruction of the party who invented and supported it,(5) and that the safest step to take is to lay the blame of its inefficiency where it does not belong. In this particular he follows his party leaders(6) —the Statesman, the other Hindoo organ in this city, the Lebanon Whig, &c., &c. He declares that the city marshal and officers of Portsmouth are not unfaithful to their duty in detecting violations of the law(7)—which means, simply (and most knavishly,) that they are not expected to do anything more to enforce the politically obnoxious thing(8)—and he adds in his paltry arrogance, an insult to the public character which every honest man scorns, and will contemp the villifier as he ought to be contemned. When such a heart as his is unrobed before high Heaven the smallest of its virtues must be charity.(9) An honest man, instead of bringing such a sweeping charge against thousands infinitely superior to himself in intelligence and morality—and thousands his equals in both respects—would have owned at once that the fated tool of a horde of unprincipled demagogues, previous to last election, was an utter failure, and carried within itself the organic disease of moral inefficiency.(10)

1. Much obliged by the compliment—and give it the benefit of our circulation, as a specimen of the courtesy in the Patriot school.

2. We declared, before the law passed, that a majority of our people were in favor of a liquor law; and it was certainly true, or they could not readily have got it: but we said nothing about an intensified law. We suppose now, that a majority, we think a large one, are in favor of the law, nearly or exactly as it stands; but we do not know. Both sides of what we did say, are true,—viz: that the public opinion called for the law—and yet it is often violated.

3. If!—If! With our if we can put Paris in a bottle. But Uncle Toby never asserted this, nor any thing like it—but on the contrary he has always warned temperance law makers to expect opposition and circumvention. Destroying this if, destroys the whole sentence, down to the word fool.

4. He will choose neither; but hand them back, as politely as he can, to the gentleman who first builds up a man of straw which he calls Uncle Toby, and then valiantly knocks down his own image.

5. Uncle T. in his senility, i. e. his old age, has made no such discovery; don't believe any party invented it; and is quite resigned to the destruction of any and all parties.

6. He acknowledges no leaders, belongs to no party, and presumes that no party either claims or acknowledges him.

7. This is the simple truth—no more—no less.

8. It does not mean any such thing, either knowingly or otherwise. We know they endeavor to do their duty.

9. If the writer can make any capital out of such matter as this, he is quite welcome to it. At home, where Uncle T. is known, this grave charge will be laughed at: and our politicians, of all stripes, will make themselves merry with the idea of the old man's being dreadfully damaged by the contumely of a newspaper squib.

10. Really Uncle T. has nothing of the sort to own. He does not believe the statement. On the contrary he knows that a law very much like the present, passed the House two or three years ago;—and that the old law, as amended in 1845, '48 and '49, embraced the same general principles,—and with the addition of search, seizure and imprisonment, would have been, practically, about the same thing.

His sweeping charge happens to be true! He acknowledges with great pleasure and entire sincerity, the virtues of honesty, kindness, sympathy and charity, in many men, who yet are the slaves of intemperate appetites, sottish habits, and sensual aims. These men, are among those, whose moral tone is too low to obey a restrictive law. With them is another class, larger, and lower, who are no less sordid, sottish and intemperate; but not so honest, kind or charitable.

These two classes, being confined to no party, no sect, no place, hang like so much dead weight or something worse, to impede the progress of the temperance cause, whether that cause be aided by law or gospel.

They are mingled with the mass of the people; they lower the tone of public morals generally;—and their influence, for evil is constantly felt. These things the writer, (we suppose not the proprietor himself but an editor pro tem.,) of the Patriot, will not deny. We do not expect him to confirm or acknowledge them. But we call upon him,—if he has one spark of the honesty which he commends to Uncle Toby—to publish in his paper, some extract from Uncle T. of the kind he charges, viz: "that the people universally, almost, were in favor of the passage of the law,"—or to say that Uncle T. denies that he ever said so, and that if so,—then the honorable titles of knave and fool belong elsewhere. Common justice demands that he shall do one or the other.

MR. GOUGH AND THE MAINE LAW.—Everybody has heard of Mr. Gough, the Demosthenes of Temperance, whose eloquence has given him a reputation abroad as well as here in the country of his adoption. It perhaps may not be uninteresting to our readers to learn that this able and zealous champion of the Temperance cause is an uncompromising opponent of prohibition, or, in other words, of the Maine Law.—Boston Chronicle.

Will the Chronicle please to quote some saying of Mr. Gough, in which he avows this opposition, and tell when and where it was said? Just as we had written these questions, our eye fell on a brief abstract of Mr. Gough's speech at the Tabernacle in New York, reported in the Tribune, from which we make an extract:

He was a true-blue Prohibitionist; but in this country, where every political party was ready to take hold of temperance or religion to assist their aims, he thought it was necessary to get a solid sentiment in favor of a total abstinence before a prohibitory law could be carried out.

This does not look exactly like opposition; but rather like Uncle Toby's idea that it requires moral force no less than legal or muscular, to carry out a reformatory process; and that without elevated morality in a community, the best code of laws can do but little good.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—Passmore Williamson.—In the District Court, to-day, a petition was presented from Passmore Williamson, and partly read, when Judge Kane said: —That Williamson had a right to apply to the Court to purge himself from contempt, but this must be the first step. The petition not being such purgation, but apparently a kind of remonstrance against his imprisonment, he could not receive it, but upon reasonable notice would hear counsel upon any preliminary question. After an argument by Mr. Meredith, in behalf of Williamson, to which the District Attorney replied, Judge Kane reiterated that he could receive no communication from the party in contempt; the first step must be an application for leave to purge himself of contempt,—that done, he would be reinstated before the Court, and have the same rights as before commitment.—If counsel differed with the Court, it will willingly hear any argument on that point.

That is to say—Passmore Williamson in his answer told the truth—Judge Kane called it a falsehood, and sent Williamson to jail for it.

It has been plainly proved to be true—but Kane shuts out the evidence—and tells Williamson,—Now if you will tell a lie instead of that truth, I will let you out!

If the learned judge will but keep on a little while longer, he may commit almost any decent man he meets, for contempt—as he is making himself and his court as contemptible and hateful as possible to every honest freeman.

GREAT FALLS AND CONWAY RAILROAD DIRECTORS' MEETING.—The Board of Directors held their meeting on Tuesday night last, at Great Falls, and elected, as President of the Road, Oliver Hill, Esq.; Superintendent, Treasurer, and Secretary, A. A. Perkins, Esq.

GOOD IDEA.—The 27th course of the Salem (Mass.) Lyceum, is to be opened with a concert, under the direction of J. Mozart, with the same company which lately sang in this city.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.—The Rockland (Me.) Gazette states that one of a party of four men, all of whom were inebriated, and who stopped at Dix Island on Sunday, 14th inst., to settle some difficulty which had arisen between them, is now missing, and strong suspicions are entertained that he met with foul play at the hands of his companions.

A BAD PLACE TO DRESS.—One William Sullivan, on Saturday evening, succeeded in stealing an entire suit of clothing from a store in Hanover street, Boston, but then foolishly proceeded to change his raiment in the open street, which singular proceeding attracted the notice of the police, and led to his arrest. William's old suit was much dilapidated, and the change he endeavored to effect did more credit to his taste than to his honesty.

LOCAL.

☞ It will be remembered by many of our readers that Hon. Rufus Choate, of Boston, was invited to deliver a lecture before the Mercantile Library Association in this city, last year, and that his reply was of so encouraging a nature as to induce the committee to announce his name in this connection. Ill health during the early part of the season, and a press of business engagements during the latter part, prevented him from fulfilling his partial promise to appear in Portsmouth. The present committee, learning that the distinguished orator had engaged to appear in Boston the present season, determined to make one more effort to secure his services, and accordingly on Monday last Mr. Ezra A. Stevens, chairman of the Lecture Committee, proceeded to Boston for the purpose. Mr. Stevens returns, bearing the positive promise of Mr. Choate that he will appear before the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association in March next, and deliver the closing lecture of their course. There are doubtless many individuals in this vicinity who would cheerfully pay the price of a season ticket for the privilege of listening to a lecture from this distinguished gentleman.

DOOR PLATES.—Our attention was called a day or two since to some beautiful silver Door Plates, manufactured by Messrs. Whipple & Livermore, of this city. The new process by which these plates are made, enables the manufacturers to furnish pure silver Plates at a lower rate than is charged for the silver-plated article. Some of the most skillful jewellers in this city have examined these Plates, and pronounce them superior to any to be found in the market. The prices at which these Plates are sold, place them within the reach of all, and we have no doubt they will be very generally adopted.—Providence Daily Tribune.

☞ Joseph H. Barron, a French hairdresser, in the employ of Mr. Henry S. Hartshorn, took French leave on Tuesday morning in the train for Boston, with about $30 of his employer's money; but was overtaken at Boston by a telegraphic despatch, and arrested.

POTATOES.—A friend from New Castle has placed before us two Monster Potatoes, raised in that town by Wm. Mathes, Esq. One weighed 1 lb. 15 oz.—and the other 1 lb. 14 oz. when dug. They have now, after being dried three days, only shrunk about one ounce.

WHO HAS A CUT HAND?—Some person broke a pane of glass in a window of E. A. Steven's store, on Monday night, and stole several articles of no great value. As a partial recompense for his trouble, the thief undoubtedly cut his hand severely, with the broken glass, as blood was discovered on the sidewalk, next morning, for some distance from the store.

☞ We complete on our first page this morning, the publication of the Laws passed at the last June session of the N. H. Legislature.

ROBBERIES AND ARRESTS.—The houses of Dr. Shackford and T. G. Jameson, in Great Falls village, were entered on Tuesday afternoon last, and from the former were stolen two gold watches, two chains, five ear drops, one bosom pin and one ring, and from the latter, thirty-three dollars in money and several articles of jewelry. Two boys, named Peter Regan, and Timothy Foley, one 13 and the other 15 years of age, both Irish, were arrested in this village, and examined before Justice Eastman on Thursday, and committed to jail to await their trial at the March term of the Supreme Judicial Court. Began, though young in years, is old in crime, having been before imprisoned. Foley is recently from Manchester, N. H.

SPEEDY PUNISHMENT.—On Friday night a horse and wagon, belonging to Mr. John Eaton, were stolen in Dedham, Mass., and the team was traced to South Canton, where two tool chests filled with carpenters' tools, belonging to J. T. White, were stolen and carried away. The team was then traced to Boston, and the thief was arrested in Bromfield street with that and the tools in his possession. He refuses to give his name. Mr. White went to the city in pursuit of the thief, and half an hour after his arrival he found his tools and the thief in the Station House.

A NOBLE WOMAN.—Margaret M. Smith, of Burlington, N. J., died in that town on Monday last aged 64 years. This excellent woman was always noted for her charities, and after the recent railroad disasters she opened her house to the sufferers and nursed them with the utmost care. It was in her house that Mr and Mrs Gillespie died. The excessive excitement of that period of trial was too much for the weak frame of the noble woman, and when there was nothing more to do for the suffering she gave way, and is now removed to her reward. No one in Burlington was ever more mourned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Rachel company have given twenty-four performances in this city, the receipts of which amounted to nearly $87,000.

THE TUCKER CASE.—On Saturday, the jury in the case of Henry M. Tucker, indicted for arson, were discharged, not being able to agree upon a verdict. It is reported that eleven jurors were in favor of his acquittal, and one for conviction. The offence with which he is charged was an attempt to blow up his father's house by an explosion of gunpowder in July last. He was ably defended by Joseph M. Blake and C. A. Updike, Esqrs., C. Hart, Esq., Attorney General, for the prosecution.—Providence Post, Oct. 22.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people.—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

PRESENTMENT OF THE GRAND JURY.—New York, 22d.—The excitement in this city touching the Grand Jury Presentment of Saturday continues intense. The Tribune gives the following expose of a portion of the document: Mr Ebling, the Street Commissioner, is charged with having entered into a corrupt arrangement with Messrs. Smith & Seckle, owners of the street sweeping machine, by which he was to give them the contract for sweeping the streets, they allowing him all they got over $140,000. Ebling, it is said, expected to pocket $35,000 by the operation. Another charge is, that certain ex-members of the Common Council had divided $13,000 between them, and another that a contractor had made an arrangement with a Head of one of the Departments, to divide the spoils with him, in consideration of having his contract put through.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Hard Shells held a ratification meeting to-night, at the Metropolitan Theatre. The attendance was quite respectable. The resolutions denounced President Pierce for having favored a party which had just passed resolutions in favor of the Wilmot Proviso.

The whigs held a city ratification meeting to-night; the attendance was respectable, but not large. Delegates are arriving to attend the Whig State Convention, to-morrow.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—A convention of the Know Nothing party in Virginia, was held at Lynchburg last week, and finally adjourned on Saturday. Resolutions were passed fully endorsing the Philadelphia platform, especially that portion of it in relation to slavery, and recommending an open organization. It was also recommended that the nomination of a candidate for the Presidency should be postponed to a period not later than the first of June next.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Mr. Bodisco's Will.—In the Orphan's Court, yesterday, Mrs Bodisco and her brother entered into a bond of $100,000 as administrators of the Will of Mr Bodisco, late Russian Minister, so far as relates to his personal estate. Judge Purcell decided the Will bearing only his signature, and not having been witnessed according to the statute, was not sufficient to pass the real estate, which, however, goes by descent to his widow and children. All his property in this country is supposed to amount to $300,000.

KANSAS ELECTION.—St. Louis, Oct. 22.—The Kansas correspondent of the Missouri Democrat says the returns from 22 precincts give Reeder, for Congress, 1935 votes. There were still 29 precincts to be heard from, and it is thought his vote would exceed 3000. The election prssed off peaceably, and no persons were permitted to vote unless they had been actual residents of the city or town for thirty days preceding the election. The Free Soilers are getting up documents wherewith to contest Whitfield's seat in Congress. They profess to be able to prove that there were only four legal pro-slavery voters at Franklin, while Whitfield received 51 votes there; that out of upwards of 200 votes cast for Whitfield at Wyandotte, only 30 were legal; that at Baptist Mission, which gave Whitfield over 100 votes, there were but 17 legal voters, and only 13 of them cast ballots; and in fine, not 1000 legal votes were cast for Whitfield thro' out the whole territory.

Delegates to the Constitutional Convention had been chosen, that will form a State Constitution for Kansas, and will apply for admission into the Union. Mr Reeder will be the bearer of the Constitution and the petition to Washington.

MURDERER CONVICTED.—Cumberland, Md., Oct. 21.—Frederick Miller was tried on Saturday for the murder of Dr. J. F. C. Hadel, and a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was returned. The testimony indicated his guilt also of the murder of Henry Goff, for which there is a separate indictment.

WEST RANDOLPH, Vt., Oct., 22.—Mr Wilson, conductor on the cattle train, was killed here this evening by having his foot caught in the frog, the whole train passing over his head.

ELECTION IN TEXAS.—In the Eastern Congressional District of Texas, according to the official vote, Ward, democratic candidate, is elected.

I LOOK FOR THEE.

BY JAMES G. CLARK.

I know that in this world of strife,
Our paths will ever parted be,
Yet sometimes on the hill of Life
I pause, and turn to look for thee.
I trace our footsteps back again,
Down Youth's forsaken slope of flowers,
Where all we knew of hope or pain
Passed by, like April sheen and showers.

I see the glen, the grove, the rill,
Where last we sung of joys to come,
And mourn to think we're living still
Without a joy, without a home,
Without a pillow for the head
Which may not know or seek relief
Till, in the dwelling of the dead,
It finds forgetfulness of grief.

Rememb'rest thou those days of bliss—
To us, alas! forever gone—
And didst thou dream a night like this
Would dim their splendor-barning sun?
Ah! then we loved the beauteous earth,
The earth that now so lonely seems;
We left the thoughtless bands of mirth,
And told our love by summer streams.

And then the skies were brighter far—
When trust was beaming from thy brow,
The glory of the smallest star
Was more than all the sunshine now.
We listened to the wild brook's flow,
The blue-bird's chattering on the lea;
The rose looked lovely then, but oh!
It blooms no more for you and me.

The radiant June of love has fled,
With all its birds and blossoms gay;
And we, like forms among the dead,
Recalling spirits back to clay,
Still cheerlessly must wander through
The silent vaults of buried years,
Where sleep the hopes no longer true,
And Memory lives in groans and tears.

We're travelling on a lonesome road,
Deserted by the gleam of day,
And on the heart there lies a load
That death alone can take away.
Farewell! Thy soul oppressed with strife,
Will weep for scenes no more to be;
And sometimes on the hill of Life,
I'll pause, and turn and look for thee.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,

76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty as paid back by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, generally above 30 per cent less than others in the profession, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, his visits to the Patent Office, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, secured through agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY.

Late Commissioner of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq. of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

CONVENTION AT NEWMARKET.

The Temperance Convention at Newmarket on the 17th inst. was one of the best county conventions that have ever assembled in this State. Having business in that part of the State we mend it in our way to attend. We found assembled there many of the men who have long faced the fire in the temperance reform, having lost not a particle of their zeal and activity, men who have put their hands to the plough and will not look back. In point of numbers the convention though not so large as it ought to have been, was the largest that has been held in the county for several years. The best of feeling prevailed, and there war a manifest determination to buckle on the armor for a "long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together." The accounts from the several towns as to the operation of the law, are truly encouraging, even beyond our expectation. There are but few towns in the county where there is not a very markedl change for the better since the law went into effect. It is gaining friends every day. The convention will have a good effect, and those who attended it went home with the determination to go to work with greater diligence than ever. We never attended a convention which we were better pleased.—Phoenix.

The Convention passed several resolutions in favor of the law, of the Phoenix temperance paper, &c., and also the foltowing:

Resolved, That while we have strong confidence in the principle and policy of prohibitive legislation, experience and reason unite in declaring that the ultimate success of our cause, as well as the success of our law to a great extent, depends upon impressing the hearts and consciences of the people with a sense of the great evils which result from the sale of intoxicating drinks, and with a deep sense of these evils impressed on our minds. We call upon all the friends of God and humanity in this county to revive and invigorate old temperance societies and organizations, as well as to form new ones where there is a necessity. Renewed effort should be made from the fact that we are supported by the law of the State, and in using the law we will in no way relax our efforts in preaching, lecturing, praying, and especially will we do what we can to sustain a temperance press.

A TALE OF TERROR.—The Boston Courier of Monday informs us that on Sunday, at East Boston, a man, called David Merrill, made a brutal assault upon his wife, Catherine M. Merrill, attacking her with a dirk knife and inflicting many wounds upon her body, and then upon the approach of the police, turned upon himself, and attempted suicide by stabbing himself five times.

About twelve months ago, being jealous, Merrill abandoned his wife and three children, leaving them penniless, and went to California. She, with her children, resided in a house called a "Barracoon," corner of Porter and Bremen streets.

On Thursday last, Merrill returned from California, and immediately upon entering the house, went to his wife's bureau and took a purse—against her remonstrance and threats that she would enter a complaint against him in the Police Court. He took fifty cents of the contents of the purse and left the house; but he returned soon after, and told her that he came from California for the avowed purpose of selling her effects and then killing her. Becoming alarmed, she, after declaring that she would not live with him, on Friday went to reside with her sister, a Mrs. Clifford, on Summer street. On Saturday, however, she returned to her house, and found him lying in her bed asleep, and left to return to her sister's house again.

On Monday morning, about 9 o'clock, Mrs. Merrill went to her house a second time. The moment she entered, he locked the door, knocked her down with his fist. He then drew a dirk-knife and exclaimed, "I bought this knife on purpose to kill you with. I came from California on purpose to kill you." He then stabbed her on the head, in the side of the heart, on the hands and arms. The struggle was fearful; the woman screamed and begged him to spare her life. Her outcries attracted the neighbors. They forced the door open, and thereupon Merrill stabbed himself in the side several times, and is supposed to be mortally wounded. The police officers arrived at length. After a long contest, Merrill was secured and disarmed. He was conveyed to the hospital, and his wife was attended at her residence.

Upon examination, it was found that Merrill had inflicted five severe wounds upon his own body, and that his wife sustained thirteen knife cuts and many bruises. It is not expected that either of the unfortunate couple will survive their injuries.

LIQUOR LAW CASES.—On Friday last the Supreme Court, sitting at East Cambridge, Ms., delivered opinions in twenty-one cases under the liquor law, sustaining the exceptions in nine of them, and ordering new trials; in the remaining twelve the exceptions were overruled, and cases remitted to the Court of Common Pleas now in session at Lowell, for sentence. Of those last named, three were against Z. B. Porter, of Cambridge; two against Abel Hunt, of Watertown; two against Barney McSherry, of Newton; three against Owen Mahan. The other defendants were James M. Harmon, Timothy Crowley, David Bryant, Hugh Donahoe, Wm. B. Dudley, Samuel Batchelder and Michael Welsh. These cases are all under the old law, and the sentences do not effect the question of the constitutionality of the new statute.—Boston Chronicle.

TO obtain a PARLOR OVEN STOVE, that would combine the two qualities of a truly good and ornamental Stove, and at the same time could be relied upon to bake and boil when required,—from the demand for and the convenience of such a desideratum,—has been the cause of much and continued effort among manufacturers. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1855.

JUDGE KANE AND PASSMORE WILLIAMSON.

The decision of Judge Kane, says the Boston Journal, in the case of Passmore Williamson, is one which may well excite the most earnest solicitude. It is a decision which, if sustained, will effectually reverse the policy of our government—which will make slavery a national institution, protecting it by a law which, though unwritten, will over-ride the civil code, and even the bill of rights of every free State. It is a decision which establishes and protects slavery in Pennsylvania, in Massachusetts, and in every State where it has been supposed that freedom was the natural and inalienable right of every human being. It is a decision which makes the laws of the Southern States paramount the constitution of the free States.

We have no desire to indulge in invectives against Judge Kane. Although, in view of his whole course in connection with this and other slave cases which have been brought before him, we may believe him to be another Jeffreys, we have too much respect for the judicial ermine to denounce him as such. But if ever there was a cause for impeachment, that cause has been furnished by Judge Kane in his persecution and imprisonment of Passmore Williamson. His every step in connection with the Wheeler slave case has been a stretch of power as arbitrary as unjustifiable.

In the first place, there are grave doubts in the minds of men of eminent legal talent whether he had any right to meddle with the case of Wheeler and his slaves, which was one that properly came within the jurisdiction of the State courts.

Again, the issuing of a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of securing possession of human beings and reducing them to slavery—for, disguise his object under whatever subterfuges he may, this was the purpose of Judge Kane—was a monstrous perversion of one of the dearest rights of freemen.

Again, the imprisonment, for, life, perchance, of a respected citizen of Philadelphia, without the form of a trial and without appeal, is a strech of power which requires a rigid examination.

Finally, the startling decision of Judge Kane that a slaveholder voluntarily bringing his slave into a free State is not divested of his right of property, which is contrary to all precedent, which tramples upon the bill of rights of every free State and abrogates a principle of common law that had been universally accepted in all parts of the Union, further contributes to make this whole affair a most unwarrantable and dangerous perversion of the judicial functions, and one which demands a searching investigation.

The recent opinion of Judge Kane is so vulnerable a document—so weak and inconclusive in its reasoning—and so inconsistent with itself as well as with previous judicial decisions, that to expose all its fallacies would require more space than we can well devote to this subject. Judge Kane had issued a writ of habeas corpus directing Passmore Williamson to bring into court Jane Johnson, and her two children, who it was alleged he had unlawfully detained. Mr. Williamson denies that the said Jane Johnson and her children were then, or at any time, in his custody, power, possession or control. The court adjudges this return a contempt of court and commits him to prison. To relieve him from this unjust confinement, Jane Johnson, in whose behalf and for whose benefit the writ purports to have been issued, comes forward and appears in court by petition, denying under oath that she was restrained of her liberty by Williamson, and asserting that the writ of habeas corpus was issued without her knowledge or consent. Such a return would, under ordinary circumstances, be sufficient to quash any further proceedings under the writ, but Judge Kane was not disposed to allow his victim to escape so easily. He had evidence before him in the affidavit of Jane Johnson which would be valid in any court of law, that Passmore Williamson was imprisoned without the shadow of reason or justice. Yet he evades this evidence of his own unjustifiable and arbitrary conduct, by assuming that the person whose affidavit was brought to his notice has no status in his court. "Our records," he says haughtily, "cannot be opened to every stranger who volunteers to us a suggestion as to what may have been our errors, and how we may repair them." In other words, the testimony of the very person in whose behalf the writ is issued out, made voluntarily, under oath, before a commissioner who is competent to decide whether the party is under restraint, cannot be received! Her very denial that she is under restraint, says Judge Kane, with a refinement of subtlety which is disgraceful to the bench of which he is a member, "may be only a proof that the constraint is effectual."

Judge Kane knows, as well as every man, woman and child who has read the accounts of the Williamson slave case, that the party in whose alleged behalf he has issued a writ of habeas corpus, is not under constraint. He knows that she has appeared in a Philadelphia Court since her escape, and testified in behalf of those who have been accused of kidnapping her, that she left her master voluntarily. He knows that Passmore Williamson is a man of probity, whose simple word would be taken by every one who enjoys his acquaintance. And with these facts staring him in the face, he has imprisoned Passmore Williamson for a constructive contempt of his court, with an intimation that he shall not be released until he acknowledges himself guilty of perjury! We say that such a monstrous perversion of the judicial functions demands an impeachment, and we shall heartily sympathise with any movement which will lead to a thorough inquiry into the legality and propriety of the official conduct of Judge Kane.

We reserve for a future occasion some remarks upon the most momentous part of the decision of Judge Kane—that in which he reverses the well known principle of common law, that slaves voluntarily brought into a free State by their masters become free.

MASONIC.—St. John's Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, at Newburyport, have leased, fitted, and for the first time this week, occupied Washington Hall, for the purpose of their organization. The hall has been divided into three separate rooms, the largest of which, the lodge room, will seat some three hundred persons; and all of them are furnished with taste and propriety. The arrangements have cost them something like $1000. Among other good things, is an Organ. The Herald improves the occasion to land the Order in general, and this Lodge in particular. It says:

For some time the fraternity have been quietly and rapidly acquiring numbers, and power; and since they have always exerted their influence here for the most beneficent purposes, we are glad of their prosperity. As an institution for real charity and brotherly kindness, they are without a rival, though others of a later origin, but combining more of the insurance policy, have filled a good place.

How many kingdoms and powers and cities and great men—how many institutions of State and Church and social life, do we read of in history, that have passed away without leaving a vestige—scarcely a foot-print, since masonry began? and yet that grows and flourishes, and looks as young and green as it did thousands of years ago.

☞ We perceive by the Nemasket Gazette, that "an Ecclesiastical Council convened at North Middleboro', on the 17th inst., to instal over the Congregational Church and Society, the Rev. C. Packard, formerly of Cambridgeport. Rev. I. W. Putnam, D. D., was chosen Moderator, and gave the fellowship of the churches. Eight churches were represented."

It was unanimously voted, that, "In the opinion of the Council, the condition of dissolving the pastoral relation, by giving three months notice, on either side, of a wish to that effect, is deeply injurious in its tendency to the interests of Zion at large, and unhappy in its bearings on the peace and prosperity of individual churches and pastors. Its introduction in the case before them, they therefore regret."

A SPARK OF THE ANGEL LEFT.—It is said that a number of abandoned women in Norfolk, Va., have, since the breaking out of the fever in that city, been most unceasing in their attention to the sick, and have proved most valuable nurses. They have been the means of saving a number of lives, and in such angelic labors—for the deeds are heavenly things performed by the former daughters of sin—several of them have died—died at the post of mercy and duty, administering to the victims of the plague.

It is pleasant to record this redeeming trait—and we may add that it is by no means a solitary or uncommon case. Chastity and charity are both noble virtues—but one often exists where the other is wanting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The whig convention organized by electing Thomas H. Bond of Oswego, President, with numerous Vice Presidents and secretaries. An address and series of resolutions were reported and adopted.—They reiterated their attachment to the old whig principles, but recommend that no nominations be made for the coming contest, and that a central committee of twenty-one be appointed. Several speeches were made in which Preston King and Abijah Mann, the nominees of the fusionists, were severely handled for their past course, both on the slavery question, and the internal improvement policy of the State.

When we see the resolutions, we may possibly find out what principles they mean—but they are to make up an eclectic ticket. Well: fusion and confusion are the orders of the day, in New York as well as elsewhere.

THE MUTINY ON BOARD THE WANDERING JEW.—A few weeks ago the American ship Wandering Jew was towed into Cork, the crew being in a state of mutiny. All but two of the crew were discharged by the examining magistrate. The American Consul at that port was absent, and his deputy could not be found. The Consul at Dublin declined to act in the matter, and the captain does not know to whom he ought legally to apply for advice and assistance. The London Gazette thinks the men should not have been discharged.

Perhaps not; but the consuls ought to be discharged forthwith; and men put into their offices who will stay in their places, and attend to their business.

Victor Hugo set out to write an engrossing play. And he wrote it. He fulfilled the great axiom of the Master of War. If a general sets out to take Vienna, said Napoleon, let him take Vienna. Let nothing tempt him to the right or left. Let no other prize seduce him to change his plan of campaign.

It is vain to say of this modern French drama that there is no poetry in it, that there is nothing to remember in it, that there is no moral to it, that there is no philosophy to it. No one ever pretended there was. It does not attempt poetry, wisdom, wit, moral or philosophy. It does attempt to win attention and to hold it. And it succeeds. It "takes Vienna."

☞ It is believed that the censusses of the several towns in Massachusetts, will show a population of 1,200,000, being an increase of about twenty per cent. over the population of 1850.

LOCAL.

MAD'LLE PARODI'S CONCERT.—By the advertisment it will be seen that Mad'lle Parodi, assisted by Madame Strakosch, Signor Leonardi, and Maurice Strakosch, are to give one Concert in Portsmouth at the Temple, this (Thursday) evening. It is not necessary that this troupe be introduced to our musical public. Parodi's fame is world-wide and was not dimmed, even in direct contrast with Jenny Lind; and her aids are all performers of known merit. Respecting their concert in Philadelphia, recently, the Times of that city says:

This was everything which we anticipated. Few such brilliant and crowded assemblages of the fashionable population of Philadelphia have ever been gathered together.

Mad'lle Parodi is in superb voice and spirits; and she has never in her life sung so well, so splendidly, as now. Her "Ah, mon fils," and the andante of "Casta Diva," have never been so perfectly rendered, as to voice, execution, and dramatic power. She actually made one's heart beat again with the old art-magnetism.

Madame Strakosch (Amalia Patti,) has greatly improved since we heard her last. Her English ballads are really quite wonderful, considering that she sings them in a language foreign to her. Signor Leonardi is now the best baritone we have among us—and as to Strakosch's piano playing, it is what it ever was—the very bird-warbling of music.

The house was crowded, and would have been uncomfortably so, but that the managers judiciously stopped the sale of tickets long before the doors closed.

THE CONCERT, TO-NIGHT, will be a treat rarely to be enjoyed in our city. The Boston Advertiser says, "The intense satisfaction of all who heard M'lle Parodi last evening, was expressed by the spontaneous bursts of applause which followed her rendition of the sweet and brilliant gems of song which were assigned her. Although Parodi is the chief attraction, her assistants are truly deserving of praise. Madame Strakosch renders the choice old English ballads in a very effective and touching manner."

The Boston Herald says, "We have no doubt that her friends will turn out in large numbers, and those who have never listened to her will take this opportunity to judge whether the universal admiration and praise that have greeted her are judiciously bestowed."

The Boston Chronicle says, "This was an admirable concert, and the evening will be remembered among the pleasant things of life."

☞ We are desired to state that the second lesson of Mr. Pearson's Singing School, will be given at Exchange Hall, this (Thursday) evening at half past seven o'clock. The class commenced well; and all cannot but be pleased with "Baker's Church Music," the new book to be used—which is an excellent collection of music, and in its rudimental parts we think rather ahead of any other we know of.

MECHANICS' LYCEUM.—No more popular speaker than the Hon. Joshua R. Giddings could be announced to open the course of Lectures before that Institution. No puff is needed to induce the sale of tickets to those who know the lecturers already announced. The member from Ohio is one of the most ready speakers of the House of Representatives. He will not fail to draw a full house, and we think the sale of tickets will equal any previous season.

REV. LYMAN WHITING, the gentleman who is chaplain of the Senate of Mass., has accepted the call of the Congregationalist church of Portsmouth to become their pastor. Mr. Whiting is one of the most active and thorough going Maine law men in New England, always ready for the good work, and by the way one of the best speakers on this subject. We congratulate our friends in Portsmouth on such an accession to their ranks.—N. H. Phenix.

AFFLICTING.—A terrible instance of the suffering, caused by Post Office mismanagement or robbery, happened recently at St. Louis. A man who went thence to Texas, to return immediately, found some profitable business which would detain him several months, and therefore wrote to his wife, inclosing one hundred and fifty dollars for her present wants. The letter never reached her, and being, with her five children, turned out of her home for non-payment of rent, and driven to despair by the idea that her husband had deserted her, she drowned herself and youngest child in the Mississippi. The unhappy husband and father, receiving no answer to his letter, returned to St. Louis to find himself a widower, and his children supported by public charity. The Postmaster who stole that one hundred and fifty dollars will have a fearful account to settle with a department, the Head of which it is impossible to cheat or deceive.

COALITION.—There are signs prominently manifesting themselves that the Democrats and Liberals are to be joined by the Massachusetts Whigs in the support of the Senators nominated by the former parties.—N. H. Patriot.

Hon. John Appleton of Portland, is to be acting Minister, pro tem, in the place of Mr. Buchanan, at the British Court.

BOY WANTED—to learn the PRINTING business. A good opportunity is offered to a Boy residing in or out of the city. Apply at the Chronicle office.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Mr. Ezra Holmes, sofa manufacturer, in the rear of the Middlesex House, Charlestown, Mass., lost his right eye Monday, it being knocked out by a piece of wood which flew from a circular saw.—About a fortnight ago Mr. Holmes had a finger cut off by the same saw.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the Lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the dangerous and distressing affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all attacks of disease upon the Lungs or throat, are arrested and thus are saved many thousands every year, from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of diseases will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the surprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people—they have living proofs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose whole health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac, which the Agents below named have to furnish gratis for every one.

ARRIVAL OF THE AFRICA.

HALIFAX, Oct. 24.

Cotton market was dull, and considerably lower. Breadstuffs slightly advanced. Provisions without material change. Money continues tight.

MARBLEHEAD, Oct. 22.—We are at a loss to understand the reasons, if there are any, why people, reasonable, careful, and cautious people, particularly on every subject regarding the welfare and happiness of their children and domestics, and after being so often admonished, will continue the use of burning fluid in their families, where their children cannot know or understand its dangerous properties. A serious, and, we fear, a fatal accident, occurred in this town on Tuesday evening last, from the use of this destructive article, by which a small boy, named Knowland, in the family of Mr. William Roundy, was horribly burnt by the explosion of one of those lamps, while in his hand, as he was passing from one room to another. It is thought, by his attending physician, that he cannot recover. When, I would ask, Mr. Editor, when will parents and others abandon the use of this cruel experiment, which endangers the lives of not only themselves, but their children. It has been an instrument of death to hundreds, and if its use is continued will prove so to hundreds of others.—Salem Gazette.

DELAWARE, Oct. 22.—A serious riot occurred on Thursday at an Irish funeral in Warwick, Cecil county, Md. The funeral procession stopped at the store of Mr. Sump, and called for liquor, which he declined selling, when they made an attack upon the building, breaking the windows and destroying the goods. The neighbors soon collected to the assistance of Mr. Sump, and drove the assaulters from the village, killing five of their party. The Irishmen are laborers on the Delaware Railroad.

THE EAST BOSTON TRAGEDY.—Mrs. Merrill, who was so terribly stabbed by her husband, in East Boston, Sunday morning, died at her home about two o'clock Tuesday morning. The husband, who is at the Hospital, will probably recover, and as soon as his bodily state will admit, will be committed to jail to answer for his crime, making three in confinement there on a charge of killing their wives.

We regret to learn that the Hon. C. C. Washbourne, Representative in Congress from the Mineral Point district, Wisconsin, is now lying dangerously ill in this city, of congestion of the liver. He had just recovered from an attack of billious fever, when on Saturday last he was suddenly and violently stricken down by a congestive chill, which threatened the speedy termination of his life. His present situation is such as to inspire the most serious apprehensions of his recovery.—Galena, Illinois, Advertiser.

A WILD GOOSE CHASE.—A conductor on the Hudson River Railroad, started out from Albany one day last week on a hunting excursion. A long way from any house, he saw in a pond several (as he supposed) wild geese, and before he left the spot he bagged five of them. The joke of the matter is, that shortly after the conductor brought his game home, he found out that he had shot into a flock of choice imported geese belonging to one of the officers of the Hudson River Railroad. He had to pay $5 apiece for the five geese, and had goose dinners till he was sick of the sight of them.

COURT AT DOVER.—The Times' correspondent "Doctor," says:

The October term of the Supreme Judicial Court commenced Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, Judge Fowler of Concord, presiding.

Many of our solid men received polite invitation in behalf of the State from officer Warren, to appear forthwith before the grand inquest to testify to buying liquor illegally, which caused great commotion throughout the city. What took place in that snug little jury room we are at a loss to know, but we can attest to a general feeling of relief in the community when they arose from their labors. Thursday noon they returned to court with a goodly batch of indictments and the wheels of the Hon. Court were speedily put in motion.

Timothy Davis, of Milton, (a weak, talking old man,) was arraigned for rum selling—plead solo contendere—fined $20 and costs.—State v. Daniel McKone, (Dover Landing,) for selling rum without a license, was next in order. He was "elected" to the tune of $20 and costs. State v. Artemas Pratt, for selling bad liquor—plea guilty—fined $50 and costs. State v. Joseph H. Clements, for assault and battery on William Plumer, of Rollinsford—plea nol. con.—fined $25 and costs, and 30 days' imprisonment in jail. William Hord plead guilty to an assault on Wm. B. Lyman, —fined $25 and costs. Richard Cass of Rochester, plead guilty on two indictments for selling rum—not yet sentenced.

Try it! Try it! Try it!

G. W. STONE'S

—AND—

Family Physic,

The most important discovery ever made in Medical Science, being a compound of Barks and Roots, which forms the most powerful, safe and agreeable Physic ever offered to the public.

THE necessity of such a Medicine has long been felt both by the heads of families and Physicians. Its advantages over cathartics given in the form of Pills or Powders, must be obvious to every intelligent person. It operates more immediately and effectually upon the system, and at the same time is infinitely less difficult to administer, being quite agreeable to the taste. Not only produces all the effects where physic is required, but completely removes habitual Costiveness, leaving the bowels perfectly free. It expels all humors from the blood, is a certain cure for the Piles, regulates the action of the Liver, frees the Stomach from Bile, invigorates the whole Nervous System, and removes the cause of all local pains, such as

It may also be relied upon in all diseases of the Bowels: Dysentery, Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus yield at once to its magic influence. Again we repeat, TRY IT—it needs no other recommendation. No family will be without it after they have properly tested its merits. Reader, if you have tried other remedies, without success, despair not—relief is now at hand.
